POLICE GET CLUES TO TRACK DOWN VICIOUS BAND

St. Paul, Feb. 9. (AP)—Three weeks of pain and hunger, punctuated by threats of being chained to the bed in a darkened room by his kidnapers, left Edward G. Bremer still in a state of semi-collapse today.

Pinched by the memory of vicious blows rained upon his head with pistol butts, the 37 year old banker interrupted the recital of his experiences today by sobbing once, and almost swooning.

Saw Two Men

Simultaneously, federal, state, and city peace officers were working feverishly to track down the band that Bremer believes numbered 10 or 12, which collected $200,000 ransom before his release Wednesday night at Rochester, Minn.

The clews they had to work on: Bremer's ability to identify two of the gang; the two who beat him 15 or 20 times about the head and face until blood blinded his eyes when they stopped his automobile Jan. 17.

His memory of the wallpaper design of the room in which he was held prisoner 22 days.

Walked in Circles

Meager details of the ransom payment trip made through Faribault, Minn., on a lonely road on Tuesday night by Walter Magee, wealthy contractor friend and intermediary, and the strange car the gang placed at his disposal for the trip.

Magee's trip and payment of the ransom ended Bremer's 22 day imprisonment; ultimately it left him blindfolded and weak on a dark Rochester street where he walked in circles for a while to accustom himself once more to locomotion so he would not stagger.

Barely had he commenced a recital of his experiences with Dr. H. T. Nippert, personal friend and physician at his side, than his voice trembled; tears welled into his eyes, and he raised a hand to his head. He had just told how, after leaving his eight year old daughter, Betty, at the exclusive Summit girls school, his car was blocked when he stopped for an arterial highway.

Badly Wounded

Regaining his composure and drying hi seyes with a handkerchief, Bremer told how two men rained blows upon him, causing blood to run into his eyes when they invaded his automobile at the point of pistols, warning him: "Don't move or I'll kill you."

When one thug opened one door of the car and Bremer stuck out his leg to prevent the closing of it, the gangster slammed the door on his leg above the knee. It was still bruised and during his captivity stiffened.

After being slugged, Bremer was taken for a ride of 15 minutes, then blindfolded with goggles and transferred to another car. Later, the gang stopped and the banker "signed some notes."

"I was awfully cold so I asked if I could walk up and down. They walked up and down with me then so I could warm up."

The journey was resumed, Bremer recounted, and he finally was taken to a house where his head wounds were washed and he was blindfolded with bandages.

Didn't Eat

The next day "I sat on a chair until I imagine it was time to go to bed and I was put to bed," Bremer said ,adding that all conver-

Sankey Suicide, Alcorn Gets Life For Kidnaping

Sioux Falls, S. D, Feb. 9. (AP) A life sentence for Gordon Alcorn today following the suicide of Verne Sankey in his prison cell last night wrote an end to the criminal careers of the principals in the $60,000 ransom kidnaping of Charles Boettcher 2nd, wealthy Denver broker.

While Sankey, leader in the sensational abduction a year ago, lay dead by his own hand, Alcorn, his lieutenant, pleaded guilty to conspiracy to kidnap for ransom and was immediately sentenced to life imprisonment.

Brought into federal court at 12:30 p. m. still visibly shaken by Sankey's suicide in a state prison cell only one removed from his own, Alcorn was on his way to Leavenworth prison by late afternoon. His train was due to reach the federal penitentiary at 6:30 a. m. tomorrow.

His wife and a brother from Canada, were granted permission to bid him goodbye after his brief appearance in the federal court room.

Mrs. Fern Sankey is held in jail under $25,000 bond pending trial at the may term of federal court at Pierre.

Her attorneys have declared they will fight the charges of conspiracy against her, and have been making plans to this end since she was brought to jail after the arrest of her husband in Chicago last week.

WIFE GUARDED FROM HUSBAND

Mrs. Cox Fears Threats Made by Chicago Shipbuilder

New Orleans, Feb 9 (AP) Extensive litigation pending between Mrs. Thelma Agnes Cox and her husband, George M. Cox, shipbuilder of New Orleans and Chicago, today resulted in Civil District Judge H. C. Cage ordering a special squad of ten deputies to guard Mrs. Cox, day and night.

The deputies were ordered to work in two shifts of twelve hours each, five men to a shift. The guards were ordered after Mrs. Cox's attorney, Hugh M. Wilkinson, told the court that Mrs. Cox was afraid to make a public appearance because of reputed threats made by her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox, the latter formerly Cox' private secretary, have a divorce action scheduled for hearing next Friday. In addition, Mrs. Cox has brought contempt proceedings against her husband, charging failure to pay $1,000 a month alimony and Cox has brought contempt proceedings against his wife, charging refusal to permit him to see their two year old son.

There are several other pending actions involving property.

Last fall Mrs. Cox disappeared from their home with her baby son and Cox told police he thought they were kidnaped and offered $25,000 for their return.

Subsequently Mrs. Cox appeared in Chicago and said she was preparing a divorce action, which was subsequently filed here. She charged misconduct.

Killed Companion In Detroit Holdup

Detroit, Feb. 9 (AP) Albert Viggers was convicted of murder today by a recorder's court jury, for the slaying of Andrew Sable who, witnesses said, was his involuntary companion on a holdup expedition.

Viggers will be sentenced next Friday.

Testimony was intended to show that Viggers, on a round of beer gardens, met Sable, father of three children, in one of the places and forced him, at the point of a pistol to accompany him. Finally, the jury was told, Viggers robbed a grocery store of $8.

Schooner Capsizes; Four Lost, 3 Saved

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 9 (AP) Four members of the crew of the schooner Purnell T. White, including Captain Charles Nichols, her skipper, lost their lives when that craft capsized 80 miles south by east of Norfolk tonight.

The schooner was in tow of the coast guard cutter Mendota at the time and the crew of the government craft under the most trying circumstances rescued three men.

Buried Treasure Near Eau Claire All Counterfeit

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP) The hopes and dreams of an aged farm hand who found buried treasure—862 round, heavy dollars—were blasted today by Frank Holliday, United States secret service agent. He pronounced the entire amount counterfeit and confiscated it.

Ed Goldner, 73, the farm hand, uncovered the "treasure" last week on the farm of his employer, Lyle Michael, near Eau Claire, Mich. Disillusioned and disconsolate, Goldner told Holliday of how, while digging in Michael's orchard, he found the coins enmeshed in the roots of an old apple tree.

Goldner, believing that treasure is the property of the one who finds it, took the money to a bank in Benton Harbor, but the bankers were suspicious of it and called in Holliday. Together they identified it as counterfeit.

The old dates on the coins recalled to Michael that generations ago the farm was reputed to be the headquarters of a gang of counterfeiters.

MACCRACKEN DEFIES COMMITTEE, CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP) Cancellation of all domestic air mail contracts and the mobilization of the army air service into a mail hauling agency late today marked the first fruits from the long cultivated airmail inquiry.

No word was said at the White House or the postoffice department about ocean mail contracts, about which there has been much testimony, but there was an intimation in senatorial circles that the fire from the inquiry had not yet been drawn.

Files Missing

Another angle of the airmail committee's work had the senate sergeant at arms seeking William P. MacCracken with a warrant for the arrest of the former assistant secretary of commerce. MacCracken was not at any of the places to which the sergeant at arms went.

Three other witnesses were before the senate in connection with this incident. One of them, L. H. Brittin, vice president of Northwest Airways, questioned the authority of the senate to punish him for contempt, but answered its questions.

MacCracken not only questioned its authority but refused to appear to answer questions.

Correspondence in connection with airmail contracts caused the trouble. The senate committee had demanded that the files in MacCracken's office be brought. They contained letters belonging to Brittin, Harris M. Hanshue, president of Western Air Express, and Gilbert Givvin, Washington representative of the same agency. Before agreeing to turn the files over to the senate, MacCracken permitted some of the correspondence to be removed. All four were ordered to appear before the senate to explain the incident.

Givvin and Hanshue voiced no objection and replied readily to questions. They said they had returned to the committee the letters they took.

Millions Involved

In the other investigative phase that occupied Washington today, a grand jury continued to mobilize information upon which officials expected it to base formal charges against alleged contract lobbyists, and a house committee was told that aviation companies had averaged almost 20 per cent profit over the last seven years on army contracts.

Army contracts running high into the millions of dollars are involved in both there inquiries.

Other developments:

Bills to regulate the stock exchange and commodity markets, as well as all forms of communications, were prepared for action at this session of congress. All have White House support.

The senate passed the Johnson bill to prevent utilities companies from blocking state regulatory orders by federal court actions.

Civil works came to the end of its $40,000,000 rope; an extension of more than that much more is near.

A case to test the presidential order forbidding private citizens from owning gold was filed in the supreme court.

Gangster Is Sent To Jackson Prison

Detroit, Feb. 9 (AP) Leo Micciche, 33, described by police as a Detroit gangster, was sentenced to a term of five to 20 years in the Michigan state prison at Jackson on a charge of having participated in a jewelry store robbery here in which a customer was slain.

Joseph Martinico is serving a life term at the Jackson prison following his conviction on a similar charge. Police are searching for two other men suspected of having taken part in the robbery.

Micciche was acquitted last May 16 after trial on a murder charge growing out of the holdup.

Seaway Pact Vote Delayed Once More

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP) Friends of the St. Lawrence treaty again passed up today a chance to agree on a date for a vote on the pact.

Senator Lewis (D-Ill), treaty opponent, asked Chairman Pittman of the foreign relations committee to agree on a vote next Wednesday or Thursday.

Pittman replied that he could not because many senators would not be in town. He would not give any assurance of time for a vote, but said he hoped it could be worked out in a few days.

Savage Riots Again Break Out In Paris

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

(Copyright 1934, By The Associated Press)

Paris, Feb. 9. Gunfire spurted anew tonight in the working quarter of Paris where Communists battled police, set fire to two churches and besieged public buildings.

One policeman was gravely injured and thirty-six other police were hurt. Upward of 1,000 rioters were injured, 22 of them seriously, some of whom were struck by bullets. Eight hundred were arrested as bands of shouting men ran through the district, smashing windows and looting stores.

By midnight, calm seemed to have been restored.

Up to the outbreak of tonight's rioting the death list for the disorders of Tuesday and Wednesday nights had reached 14, two of the wounded dying today.

A column of 500 Communists trying to stage a forbidden "anti-Fascist" demonstration near the Place de la Republique started tonight's disorders. Police and mounted guardsmen charged the mob and furious fighting ensued. The mob, estimated at 10,000 persons, started to burn automobiles. Communisits barricaded themselves in the narrow streets.

There were 30,000 troops and police in Paris tonight under orders to avert violence such as that which broke out Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

After presenting his 19 ministers to President Albert Lebrun, the new premier faced the immediate tasks of coping with threats of a nation-wide "anti-Fascist" general strike Monday.

The new cabinet contains four senators Barthou, Sarraut, Cheron, and Laval two soldiers, Petain and Denain, and two other non-members of parliament, Doumergue and Rivollet. The others are deputies.

There are six former premiers: Doumergue, Barthou, Sarraut, Laval, Herriot, and Tardieu; and four who have never been ministers Petain, Denain, Marquet, and Rivollet.

This ministry is the 96th in the history of the 64-year-old third republic, and the seventh during the period of the present legislature. The others have existed an average of three months each.

Former Premier Camille Chautemps was elected president of the radical Socialist group in parliament to succeed M. Herriot.

RECORD COLD SPELL TAKES DEATH TOLLS

MICHIGAN SUB-ZERO WAVE WORST IN YEARS

(By The Associated Press)

Michigan, in common with much of the Atlantic seaboard, suffered in the grip of sub-zero temperatures of startling magnitude Friday and forecasters offered little in the way of relief.

At least two deaths resulted from the Michigan cold wave while from the east came reports of more than a score of fatalities.

Ann Arbor 20 Below

Some of the temperatures recorded Friday included an unofficial reading of 48 below at Boyne City, Mich., an official reading of 50 below in the New England area, an official 58-year record of 16 below in Detroit; 14.3 below in New York, 40 below in the mountainous districts of Pennsylvania, 32 below at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 20 below at Ann Arbor, Mich., 22 below at Ludington, Mich., and so on.

Pennsylvania reported eight deaths. Four died in upstate New York with unofficial temperatures reaching 60 below. Three deaths were recorded in New York City, with a similar number in Boston and Buffalo and one in Schenectady.

Ships Delayed

An ice-coated schooner was abandoned during a stiff northwest blow off Eastham, Mass., and the crew took off in a small boat in a hazardous effort to reach land.

Incoming liners were delayed. Lake Erie was frozen from shore to shore at one point and the Hudson river was in a similar condition at Upper Manhattan.

From all over Michigan came reports of fires, caused for the most part by overheated furnaces. In Traverse City, 37 below zero cold froze the fire hydrants and a residence burned because firemen

MICHIGAN CWA IS CRITICIZED

National Chief Engineer Charges Inefficiency; "Not Pork Barrel"

Detroit, Feb. 9 (AP) John M. Carmody, national chief engineer for the civil work administration in conference here today with local CWA authorities, sharply criticized what he termed "inefficiency and lack of supervision" in CWA projects here and in other parts of Michigan.

Carmody ordered the Detroit CWA board to appoint a chief engineer at once to "get efficient engineering control of work projects."

"This is not a pork barrel," Carmody said, "efficiency is demanded. CWA is not a Christmas tree. Every man must be required to give full value for his pay.

"Michigan projects have furnished the federal CWA with the least information of any," the national head said. "Wayne county and the rest of Michigan have failed to give us specific information on undertakings. We need the same information that a contractor would need if he were called in."

He warned the Detroit board that unless a better setup is obtained soon Wayne county would "strike many entanglements."

Fireman Drowned Under Locomotive In C&NW Wreck

Rhinelander, Wis., Feb. 9 (AP) Dan Jones, fireman, was drowned under a North Western railroad locomotive which was knocked from the rails in a collision of passenger trains last night.

Jones sprang from the cab but the locomotive toppled over him. It roleld to swampy ground and sank through a floor of frozen muck, Jones under it. The locomotive, upside down, sank until only the trucks were visible.

Derricks raised it. Jones' body was crushed but physicians said death was due to drowning.

It was the only fatality. Fifteen persons, six of them passengers, were injured. The condition of George Steber of Antigo, Wis., engineer of the branch line train running between Watersmeet, Mich., and Monico, was regarded as critical.

The crash awakened villagers half a mile away. They summoned physicians and cared for the wounded at the Monico station and in homes. Rescuers worked in a temperature of 30 degrees below zero. Several were frost bitten.

Night Club Liquor License Revoked; Open After 2 a. m.

Lansing, Feb. 9 (AP) The state liquor control commission today revoked the license of the well known Luigi's night club in Detroit for violation of the 2 o'clock closing regulation.

Chairman Frank A. Picard, of the commission, said police had difficulty entering the night club last night after 2 o'clock. All liquor in the place was ordered confiscated by Picard. "There isn't any night club in this state big enough to buck the liquor commission," Picard said.

Picard announced that additional glass sales licenses have been approved for Grand Rapids. The application of the Harrington Hotel, Port Huron, has been approved subject to submission of the bond, he said.

The chairman pointed out that glass sales of wine can be started in Michigan. Application blanks are available here.

MAY BE DEPORTED

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Feb. 9. (AP) Having pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering into several Lake St. Clair cottages, Rene Leveque has been sentenced to serve from 5 to 15 years at Michigan state prison with the recommendation he be paroled for immediate deportation. He is the son of the late Charles Leveque, inventor of automobile appliances.

VIOLATED NRA CODE

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP) Herman Mitz, proprietor of a cleaning establishment, Friday was sentenced to pay a fine of $60 or serve 60 days in the house of correction for violation of the NRA code by falsely advertising larger discounts than are permitted for the industry. Judge Christopher E. Stein passed sentence.

BITTEN BY PETS

Four dogs convicted, with all the solemnity of a murder trial, of mangling Leta Joyce Hammond, 6, shown here on her Cortland, N. Y., hospital bed, will die Feb. 15 for their crime. The child was bitten on both legs, right side, and one the right arm so badly that amputation may be necessary.

LANSING OUSTER HAS KICK-BACKS

Clardy and Fitzgerald Promise Fireworks for Comstock

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, Feb. 9 (AP)—Charges of "politics" and insufficiency of evidence were fired at Governor Comstock today by two members of the Michigan public utilities commission involved in removal proceedings.

Kit F. Clardy, chairman of the commission, served a formal petition on the governor demanding the removal charges be dismissed or an impartial judge be designated to take testimony. Commissioner Edward T. Fitzgerald, of Detroit, issued a statement declaring the charges accuse him of the very things he had been fighting publicly against. Fitzgerald alleged the governor "placed a premium on weak spines" when he accepted the resignations of two members of the commission and left them out of the removal proceedings.

"I refuse a bribe of immunity in return for my resignation. I am not going to run when the shooting starts and at the hearing before the governor (February 14) I will be prepared to speak in some detail concerning the grip the powerful utilities have on official Lansing," Fitzgerald declared.

With Clardy and Fitzgerald, Commissioner Harry C. McClure, of Flint, is facing ouster proceedings. Two other members of the commission, Robert H. Dunn, of Muskegon, and Harold J. Waples, of Ironwood, resigned after being cleared by an investigating committee. Their records as public servants were praised by the governor.

Dillinger Denied Freedom; Murder Trial March 12th

Crown Point, Ind., Feb. 9. (AP) Denied freedom on a writ of habeas corpus, John Dillinger today heard his trial for murder of a policeman set for March 12.

The notorious desperado, freed of manacles during his court appearance, stood mute when asked if he wished to plead guilty or not guilty, and Judge William J. Murray, at the suggestion of defense counsel, entered a plea of not guilty.

Dillinger will be tried before Judge Murray for the death of William P. O'Malley, a policeman, in the $23,000 robbery a month ago of a bank in East Chicago, Ind. Several witnesses have identified Dillinger as the man who killed the policeman with a machine gun.

Some of his outlaw band of fugitives from the Indiana state penitentiary, whose escape he allegedly engineered, were said to have accompanied him on the robbery. The gang conducted a reign of terror against mid-west banks for weeks after their escape.

Fishing Schooners Freed At Kenosha

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 9 (AP) Four fishing schooners trapped in the ice last night a few miles off the Kenosha harbor were at dock today with none of the 11 members of the crews any the worse for their experience.

The Kenosha coast guard assisted by the U. S. coast guard cutter Escanaba, dispatched from its port at Grand Haven, Mich., worked for four hours to bring the vessels, the Busch, the Search, the Chambers Brothers and the H. N. Pugh, to the dock.

POSTAL INQUIRIES UNCOVER FRAUD, COLLUSION

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—The government today took the business of flying mail from all the twelve concerns with which it held domestic contracts and ordered the agency which first flew it, the Army, to again take up the work.

The blanket abrogation of contracts, effective February 19, followed presentation to Mr. Roosevelt of evidence gathered by a senate committee in a long drawn study of the circumstances surrounding the letting of the contracts during previous Republican administrations.

Given Careful Study

Mr. Roosevelt instructed Postmaster General Farley to end the contracts and immediately issued an executive order placing the Army air service at the disposition of the postoffice department. He also arranged with Secretary Roper to make available to the Army-mail ships all landing fields under the regulation of the commerce department.

"This order annuling the existing domestic air mail contracts," said Farley in a formal statement that accompanied the order, "has been issued after careful and deliberate study of the entire situation, which study included conferences between myself and other officials of the postoffice department with the president and with the attorney general and other representatives of the department of justice."

34 Routes Involved

President Roosevelt in his executive order said that "public interest requires that the air mail service continue to be afforded and the cancellation of federal contracts has created an emergency in this respect." He thereupon ordered the Army into action to carry the mail.

The president made the disclosure of the cancellation at his regular press conference, indicating the basis of the action was the evidence of fraud and colusion produced by the senate inquiry and by a parallel inquiry by the postoffice department.

The cancellation order issued by Farley did not include the Pan-American Airways which carries mail to Caribbean Islands, and to South and Central America.

Thirty-four routes, many of them extensions to the lines originally established under contracts, are involved in the order. The extensions were granted under authority of the former postmasters general.

Change Temporary

American Airways—Boston to New York; Chicago to Memphis; New York to Fort Worth; Fort Worth to Galveston; Dallas to Brownsville; Atlanta to New Or-

Postmaster General Farley cancelled all domestic air mail contracts as the result of alleged collusion in bidding.

President Roosevelt directed the Army air corps to fly the mail until new contracts were let to private companies.

Legislation to regulate stock exchanges was introduced in immediate response to a special presidential message to congress.

The NRA fixed the 32-hour week as the major goal it hopes to reach through conferences of code authorities March 5.

Original civil works funds were exhausted.

The senate approved an appropriation of $284,000,000 for the Navy.

In addition, Mrs. Cox has brought contempt proceedings against her husband, charging failure to pay $1,000 a month alimony and Cox has brought contempt proceedings against his wife, charging refusal to permit him to see their two year old son.

There are several other pending actions involving property.

Last fall Mrs. Cox disappeared from their home with her baby son and Cox told police he thought they were kidnaped and offered $25,000 for their return.

Subsequently Mrs. Cox appeared in Chicago and said she was preparing a divorce action, which was subsequently filed here. She charged misconduct.

Killed Companion In Detroit Holdup

Detroit, Feb. 9 (AP)—Albert Viggers was convicted of murder today by a recorder's court jury, for the slaying of Andrew Sable who, witnesses said, was his involuntary companion on a holdup expedition.

Viggers will be sentenced next Friday.

Testimony was intended to show that Viggers, on a round of beer gardens, met Sable, father of three children, in one of the places and forced him, at the point of a pistol to accompany him. Finally, the jury was told, Viggers robbed a grocery store of $8.

Schooner Capsizes; Four Lost, 3 Saved

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 9 (AP)—Four members of the crew of the schooner Purnell T. White, including Captain Charles Nichols, her skipper, lost their lives when that craft capsized 80 miles south by east of Norfolk tonight.

The schooner was in tow of the coast guard cutter Mendota at the time and the crew of the government craft under the most trying circumstances rescued three men.

JEWELER KILLED

Buried Treasure Near Eau Claire All Counterfeit

Grand Aapids, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—The hopes and dreams of an aged farm hand who found buried treasure—862 round, heavy dollars—were blasted today by Frank Holliday, United States secret service agent. He pronounced the entire amount counterfeit and confiscated it.

Ed Goldner, 73, the farm hand, uncovered the "treasure" last week on the farm of his employer, Lyle Michael, near Eau Claire, Mich. Disillusioned and disconsolate, Goldner told Holliday of how, while digging in Michael's orchard, he found the coins enmeshed in the roots of an old apple tree.

Goldner, believing that treasure is the property of the one who finds it, took the money to a bank in Benton Harbor, but the bankers were suspicious of it and called in Holliday. Together they identified it as counterfeit.

The old dates on the coins recalled to Michael that generations ago the farm was reputed to be the headquarters of a gang of counterfeiters.

MACCRACKEN DEFIES COMMITTEE, CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Cancellation of all domestic air mail contracts and the mobilization of the army air service into a mail hauling agency late today marked the first fruits from the long cultivated airmail inquiry.

No word was said at the White House or the postoffice department about ocean mail contracts, about which there has been much testimony, but there was an intimation in senatorial circles that the fire from the inquiry had not yet been drawn.

Files Missing

Another angle of the airmail committee's work had the senate sergeant at arms seeking William P. MacCracken with a warrant for the arrest of the former assistant secretary of commerce. MacCracken was not at any of the places to which the sergeant at arms went.

Three other witnesses were before the senate in connection with this incident. One of them, L. H. Brittin, vice president of Northwest Airways, questioned the authority of the senate to punish him for contempt, but answered its questions.

MacCracken not only questioned its authority but refused to appear to answer questions.

Correspondence in connection with airmail contracts caused the trouble. The senate committee had demanded that the files in MacCracken's office be brought. They contained letters belonging to Brittin, Harris M. Hanshue, president of Western Air Express, and Gilbert Givvin, Washington representative of the same agency. Before agreeing to turn the files over to the senate, MacCracken permitted some of the correspondence to be removed. All four were ordered to appear before the senate to explain the incident.

Givvin and Hanshue voiced no objection and replied readily to questions. They said they had returned to the committee the letters they took.

Millions Involved

In the other investigative phase that occupied Washington today, a grand jury continued to mobilize information upon which officials expected it to base formal charges against alleged contract lobbyists, and a house committee was told that aviation companies had averaged almost 20 per cent profit over the last seven years on army contracts.

Army contracts running high into the millions of dollars are involved in both these inquiries.

Other developments:

Bills to regulate the stock exchange and commodity markets, as well as all forms of communications, were prepared for action at this session of congress. All have White House support.

The senate passed the Johnson bill to prevent utilities companies from blocking state regulatory orders by federal court actions.

Civil works came to the end of its $40,000,000 rope; an extension of more than that much more is near.

A case to test the presidential order forbidding private citizens from owning gold was filed in the supreme court.

Gangster Is Sent To Jackson Prison

Detroit, Feb. 9 (AP)—Leo Miccichi, 33, described by police as a Detroit gangster, was sentenced to a term of five to 20 years in the Michigan state prison at Jackson on a charge of having participated in a jewelry store robbery here in which a customer was slain.

Joseph Martinico is serving a life term at the Jackson prison following his conviction on a similar charge. Police are searching for two other men suspected of having taken part in the robbery.

Miccichi was acquitted last May 16 after trial on a murder charge growing out of the holdup.

Seaway Pact Vote Delayed Once More

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Friends of the St. Lawrence treaty again passed up today a chance to agree on a date for a vote on the pact.

Senator Lewis (D-Ill), treaty opponent, asked Chairman Pittman of the foreign relations committee to agree on a vote next Wednesday or Thursday.

Pittman replied that he could not because many senators would not be in town. He would not give any assurance of time for a vote, but said he hoped it could be worked out in a few days.

Savage Riots Again Break Out In Paris

BY RICHARD MASSOCK
(Copyright 1934, By The Associated Press)

Paris, Feb. 9.—Gunfire spurted anew tonight in the working quarter of Paris where Communists battled police, set fire to two churches and besieged public buildings.

One policeman was gravely injured and thirty-six other police were hurt. Upward of 1,000 rioters were injured, 22 of them seriously, some of whom were struck by bullets. Eight hundred were arrested as bands of shouting men ran through the district, smashing windows and looting stores.

By midnight, calm seemed to have been restored.

Up to the outbreak of tonight's rioting the death list for the disorders of Tuesday and Wednesday nights had reached 14, two of the wounded dying today.

A column of 500 Communists trying to stage a forbidden "anti-Fascist" demonstration near the Place de la Republique started tonight's disorders. Police and mounted guardsmen charged the mob and furious fighting ensued. The mob, estimated at 10,000 persons, started to burn automobiles. Communisits barricaded themselves in the narrow streets.

There were 30,000 troops and police in Paris tonight under orders to avert violence such as that which broke out Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

After presenting his 19 ministers to President Albert Lebrun, the new premier faced the immediate tasks of coping with threats of a nation-wide "anti-Fascist" general strike Monday.

The new cabinet contains four senators—Barthou, Sarraut, Cheron, and Laval—two soldiers, Petain and Denain, and two other non-members of parliament, Doumergue and Rivollet. The others are deputies.

There are six former premiers: Doumergue, Barthou, Sarraut, Laval, Herriot, and Tardieu; and four who have never been ministers—Petain, Denain, Marquet, and Rivollet.

This ministry is the 96th in the history of the 64-year-old third republic, and the seventh during the period of the present legislature. The others have existed an average of three months each.

Former Premier Camille Chautemps was elected president of the radical Socialist group in parliament to succeed M. Herriot.

MICHIGAN SUB-ZERO WAVE WORST IN YEARS

(By The Associated Press)

Michigan, in common with much of the Atlantic seaboard, suffered in the grip of sub-zero temperatures of startling magnitude Friday and forecasters offered little in the way of relief.

At least two deaths resulted from the Michigan cold wave while from the east came reports of more than a score of fatalities.

Ann Arbor 20 Below

Some of the temperatures recorded Friday included an unofficial reading of 48 below at Boyne City, Mich., an official reading of 50 below in the New England area, an official 58-year record of 16 below in Detroit; 14.3 below in New York, 40 below in the mountainous districts of Pennsylvania, 32 below at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 20 below at Ann Arbor, Mich., 22 below at Ludington, Mich., and so on.

Pennsylvania reported eight deaths. Four died in upstate New York with unofficial temperatures reaching 60 below. Three deaths were recorded in New York City, with a similar number in Boston and Buffalo and one in Schenectady.

Ships Delayed

An ice-coated schooner was abandoned during a stiff northwest blow off Eastham, Mass., and the crew took off in a small boat in a hazardous effort to reach land.

Incoming liners were delayed. Lake Erie was frozen from shore to shore at one point and the Hudson river was in a similar condition at Upper Manhattan.

From all over Michigan came reports of fires, caused for the most part by overheated furnaces. In Traverse City, 37 below zero cold froze the fire hydrants and a residence burned because firemen

MICHIGAN CWA IS CRITICIZED

Detroit, Feb. 9 (AP)—John M. Carmody, national chief engineer for the civil work administration in conference here today with local CWA authorities, sharply criticized what he termed "inefficiency and lack of supervision" in CWA projects here and in other parts of Michigan.

Carmody ordered the Detroit CWA board to appoint a chief engineer at once to "get efficient engineering control of work projects."

"This is not a pork barrel," Carmody said, "efficiency is demanded. CWA is not a Christmas tree. Every man must be required to give full value for his pay.

"Michigan projects have furnished the federal CWA with the least information of any," the national head said. "Wayne county and the rest of Michigan have faied to give us specific information on undertakings. We need the same information that a contractor would need if he were called in."

Fireman Drowned Under Locomotive In C&NW Wreck

Rhinelander, Wis., Feb. 9 (AP)—Dan Jones, fireman, was drowned under a North Western railroad locomotive which was knocked from the rails in a collision of passenger trains last night.

Jones sprang from the cab but the locomotive toppled over him. It roleld to swampy ground and sank through a floor of frozen muck, Jones under it. The locomotive, upside down, sank until only the trucks were visible.

Derricks raised it. Jones' body was crushed but physicians said death was due to drowning.

It was the only fatality. Fifteen persons, six of them passengers, were injured. The condition of George Steber of Antigo, Wis., engineer of the branch line train running between Watersmeet, Mich., and Monico, was regarded as critical.

The crash awakened villagers half a mile away. They summoned physicians and cared for the wounded at the Monico station and in homes. Rescuers worked in a temperature of 30 degrees below zero. Several were frost bitten.

Night Club Liquor License Revoked; Open After 2 a. m.

Lansing, Feb. 9 (AP)—The state liquor control commission today revoked the license of the well-known Luigi's night club in Detroit for violation of the 2 o'clock closing regulation.

Chairman Frank A. Picard, of the commission, said police had difficulty entering the night club last night after 2 o'clock. All liquor in the place was ordered confiscated by Picard. "There isn't any night club in this state big enough to buck the liquor commission," Picard said.

Picard announced that additional glass sales licenses have been approved for Grand Rapids. The application of the Harrington Hotel, Port Huron, has been approved subject to submission of the bond, he said.

The chairman pointed out that glass sales of wine can be started in Michigan. Application blanks are available here.

MAY BE DEPORTED

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Feb. 9. (AP)—Having pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering into several Lake St. Clair cottages, Rene Leveque has been sentenced to serve from 5 to 15 years at Michigan state prison with the recommendation he be paroled for immediate deportation. He is the son of the late Charles Leveque, inventor of automobile appliances.

VIOLATED NRA CODE

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 9. (AP)—Herman Mitz, proprietor of a cleaning establishment, Friday was sentenced to pay a fine of $60 or serve 60 days in the house of correction for violation of the NRA code by falsely advertising larger discounts than are permitted for the industry. Judge Christopher E. Stein passed sentence.

BITTEN BY PETS

Four dogs convicted, with all the solemnity of a murder trial, of mangling Leta Joyce Hammond, 6, shown here on her Cortland, N. Y., hospital bed, will die Feb. 15 for their crime. The child was bitten on both legs, right side, and one the right arm so badly that amputation may be necessary.

LANSING OUSTER HAS KICK-BACKS

Clardy and Fitzgerald Promise Fireworks for Comstock

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, Feb. 9 (AP)—Charges of "politics" and insufficiency of evidence were fired at Governor Comstock today by two members of the Michigan public utilities commission involved in removal proceedings.

Kit F. Clardy, chairman of the commission, served a formal petition on the governor demanding the removal charges be dismissed or an impartial judge be designated to take testimony. Commissioner Edward T. Fitzgerald, of Detroit, issued a statement declaring the charges accuse him of the very things he had been fighting publicly against. Fitzgerald alleged the governor "placed a premium on weak spines" when he accepted the resignations of two members of the commission and left them ouf of the removal proceedings.

"I refuse a bribe of immunity in return for my resignation. I am not going to run when the shooting starts and at the hearing before the governor (February 14) I will be prepared to speak in some detail concerning the grip the powerful utilities have on official Lansing," Fitzgerald declared.

With Clardy and Fitzgerald, Commissioner Harry C. McClure, of Flint, is facing ouster proceedings. Two other members of the commission, Robert H. Dunn, of Muskegon, and Harold J. Waples, of Ironwood, resigned after being cleared by an investigating committee. Their records as public servants were praised by the governor.

Dillinger Denied Freedom; Murder Trial March 12th

Crown Point, Ind., Feb. 9. (AP)—Denied freedom on a writ of habeas corpus, John Dillinger today heard his trial for murder of a policeman set for March 12.

The notorious desperado, freed of manacles during his court appearance, stood mute when asked if he wished to plead guilty or not guilty, and Judge William J. Murray, at the suggestion of defense counsel, entered a plea of not guilty.

Dillinger will be tried before Judge Murray for the death of William P. O'Malley, a policeman, in the $23,000 robbery a month ago of a bank in East Chicago, Ind. Several witnesses have identified Dillinger as the man who killed the policeman with a machine gun.

Some of his outlaw band of fugitives from the Indiana state penitentiary, whose escape he allegedly engineered, were said to have accompanied him on the robbery. The gang conducted a reign of terror against mid-west banks for weeks after their escape.

Fishing Schooners Freed At Kenosha

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 9 (AP)—Four fishing schooners trapped in the ice last night a few miles off the Kenosha harbor were at dock today with none of the 14 members of the crews any the worse for their experience.

The Kenosha coast guard, assisted by the U. S. coast guard cutter Escanaba, dispatched from its port at Grand Haven, Mich., worked for four hours to bring the vessels, the Busch, the Search, the Chambers Brothers and the H. N. Pugh, to the dock.

POSTAL INQUIRIES UNCOVER FRAUD, COLLUSION

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—The government today took the business of flying mail from all the twelve concerns with which it held domestic contracts and ordered the agency which first flew it, the Army, to again take up the work.

The blanket abrogation of contracts, effective February 19, followed presentation to Mr. Roosevelt of evidence gathered by a senate committee in a long drawn study of the circumstances surrounding the letting of the contracts during previous Republican administrations.

Given Careful Study

Mr. Roosevelt instructed Postmaster General Farley to end the contracts and immediately issued an executive order placing the Army air service at the disposition of the postoffice department. He also arranged with Secretary Roper to make available to the Army-mail ships all landing fields under the regulation of the commerce department.

"This order annuling the existing domestic air mail contracts," said Farley in a formal statement that accompanied the order, "has been issued after careful and deliberate study of the entire situation, which study included conferences between myself and other officials of the postoffice department with the president and with the attorney general and other representatives of the department of justice."

34 Routes Involved

President Roosevelt in his executive order said that "public interest requires that the air mail service continue to be afforded and the cancellation of federal contracts has created an emergency in this respect." He thereupon ordered the Army into action to carry the mail.

The president made the disclosure of the cancellation at his regular press conference, indicating the basis of the action was the evidence of fraud and colusion produced by the senate inquiry and by a parallel inquiry by the postoffice department.

The cancellation order issued by Farley did not include the Pan-American Airways which carries mail to Caribbean Islands, and to South and Central America.

Thirty-four routes, many of them extensions to the lines originally established under contracts, are involved in the order. The extensions were granted under authority of the former postmasters general.

Change Temporary

American Airways—Boston to New York; Chicago to Memphis; New York to Fort Worth; Fort Worth to Galveston; Dallas to Brownsville; Atlanta to New Or-

Postmaster General Farley cancelled all domestic air mail contracts as the result of alleged collusion in bidding.

President Roosevelt directed the Army air corps to fly the mail until new contracts were let to private companies.

Legislation to regulate stock exchanges was introduced in immediate response to a special presidential message to congress.

The NRA fixed the 32-hour week as the major goal it hopes to reach through conference of code authorities March 5.

Original civil works funds were exhausted.

The senate approved an appropriation of $284,000,000 for the Navy.

LIVES OF FIVE SEAMEN SAVED

Coast Guardsmen Battle Roaring Breakers in Sub-Zero Weather

Eastham, Mass., Feb. 9 (AP)—Seven coast guardsmen waged a thrilling battle against the sea today in saving the lives of five men who had abandoned their disabled coasting schooner, the Anna Sophia of New York.

Dawn showed the schooner at anchor a mile and a half off shore. She was deep in the water with the burden of coal she was carrying to Lubec, Me., and seas rolled over her. Her poles were bare, stripped of canvas last night by a squall as she was doubling Cape Cod. Her skipper, Captain John Peabody of Beals, Me., considered her position so dangerous that a dory was lowered and all hands went over the side.

Many eyes ashore watched the distressed mariners as they cautiously approached the breakers roaring over the outer bar, three quarters of a mile off shore. Boatswain George Nickerson, 60-year-old skipper of the Nauset coast guard station, fearing the dory could not survive the surf gave the word to launch the station's surf boat, an open boat propelled only with oars.

For two miles he and his men were forced to carry the boat down the beach before they came to an opening in the piled up ice, an opening through which the shore surf pounded. Every man of the seven who made up the crew was drenched before the lifeboat was well afloat. Sub-zero temperature almost instantly froze their clothing.

Once clear of the shore the life boat had only floe ice to contend with until it reached the outer bar. The transfer of the schooner's crew was quickly accomplished and a hard pull through the ice and into the surf again got all hands ashore.

Poison Pork Case In Federal Court; $140,000 Demanded

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 9. (AP)—Eight cases asking damages totaling $140,000, as the result of a party held in February, 1931, at the home of Alfonso Celli in Iron Mountain at which, it is alleged, poisonous pork was eaten, have been transferred from the Dickinson county circuit court to the United States district court here which will open April 3. The cases were filed here today.

The cases filed include: Alfonso Celli, who asks $25,000 on two counts; Anna Celli, aged 10, the daughter of Alfonso, $10,000; John Colovecchio, $15,000; Joseph Taglienti, $15,000; Minno Occhietti, $15,000; Theresa Famiani, $15,000; Natale Occhietti, $10,000, and Parisso Famiani, $10,000.

Celli asks damages for illness he claims to have suffered and for alleged loss of the services of his wife and daughter, Annie. Mrs. Celli died in the Iron Mountain hospital from an illness diagnosed as trichina poisoning, it is alleged, and Celli claims his daughter is permanently affected by the same poisoning. The others contend they were made ill by the meat and their health affected.

Milk does not lose any of its nutritive value when it becomes sour.

Young Japanese Envoy Scoffs at War Rumors

BY MORRIS WATSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

New York, Feb. 9 (AP) Hiroshi Saito, youngest ambassador ever sent to America by the Nipponese emperor, arrived on the Berengaria today, avowed that Japan had no wish to take over the Philippines and laughed over any and all suggestions of a possible second Russo-Japanese war.

"We are not going to fight," he said in perfect English. "Russia doesn't want to fight us. We don't want to fight Russia.

"If we go to war with Russia, it means we go to war with all other countries, and that includes the United States. We don't want to commit suicide."

Before consenting to be interviewed he insisted that drinks be ordered for all "you prohibitionists."

"There is nothing about the Russian-Japanese situation that cannot be smoothed out peacefully," he said. "It is simply a matter of price for the Chinese Eastern railroad. The price is too high."

"The price of war?" a reporter asked.

He contended with good nature, but firmly, that he could not discuss political matters before presenting his credentials to President Roosevelt. He said it would be against diplomatic decorum.

His prime diplomatic object, he confessed:

"To drink good whisky with good Americans."

The new ambassador demonstrated that he knew his America. He was Japanese consul in New York for five years and long-time attache at the Washington embassy.

He knew President Roosevelt when the latter was assistant secretary of the navy.

"He is a wonderful gentleman with a lot of pluck," he said.

He was "much heartened" because of the movement "even in California" for a Japanese immigration quota. He said his countrymen considered their exclusion as "a stigma in a way" since the question involved not more than a hundred people, and he said that solution of the question would go far toward good understanding between the two nations.

As to our day to day relations:

"Sometimes they appear ameliorated, and the next day the opposite."

He was shown a news dispatch about General William Mitchell's charge that Japan was developing air forces with an eye to Alaska.

"Poppycock," he exploded.

"What for?" he demanded. "Why that frozen country; who do we want there? Moose?"

He thought his job a great responsibility, but labeled it, nevertheless, "a cinch." Later he admitted a possibility that he might "have a heck of a time."

He believed that Europe would remain at peace "despite the League of Nations" and he branded a reported Japanese-German alliance as no less than "another poppycock."

Informed that he was arriving on the coldest day in the history of New York's weather bureau, he said:

"I'm glad of that. It showed people's hearts are warm. Otherwise they couldn't stand it."

The interview ended on the ambassador's proudest note.

"I am the father of an American citizen," he announced. His eldest daughter, Sakiko, was born in New York. Another daughter is named Masako.

In Detroit, residents of three houses on Brooklyn avenue were driven into sub-zero weather by fire which destroyed two of the dwellings.

Snow in Carolina

The school at Leonard, Mich., in Oakland county, was destroyed during the early morning hours yesterday, with a loss of $15,000. The village's fire fighting equipment, stored in the basement, was destroyed with the building.

In Manhattan, city relief agencies were taxed to capacity aiding the ohmeless. Subway doors froze fast. Ice drifted in the East river and the bay. At one Brooklyn high school 166 students suffered from frostbite.

The cold wave swept south as far as the nation's capital where it was 6 below, a 13-year record. There was snow in North Carolina.

Pinned Under Car

At Hubbartston, near Lansing, Mich., an automobile plunged over a 30-foot embankment and church bells and fire alarms were sounded to call out rescuers. Earl M. Bernard, 27, of Lansing, who was pinned beneath the car for more than an hour in 21 below zero weather, died seven hours after the accident. His wife, Dorothy, 26, and Frederick Bennett, 23, of Hubbardston, were in a serious condition today, principally from exposure. An ambulance, rushing to the accident, froze enroute.

Seven persons in Philadelphia were overcome by illuminating gas and five were burned or overcome by smoke in fires in that city.

Fire in Paulsboro, N. J., destroyed factory buildings, two apartment houses and three bungalows with an estimated loss of $1,000,000.

The cold wave and storms covered two continents.

Conservation Code Sent To President

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP) Rules long sought by conservationists to preserve the nation's lumber supply were adopted today by the lumber code authority and sent to President Roosevelt for his approval.

"Foresters and lumbermen alike pointed out today," the authorities said, "that, as with so many other projects under President Roosevelt, what has been for generations a subject of harmless conversation or academic dissertation has become a reality enforceable by the authority of the government."

The basic rules for the country as a whole:

Protection of standing timber and young timber from fire and other destructive forces.

Provision for replanting the cleared land after logging, if sufficient advanced growth is not present already.

To leave, where feasible, some portion of the merchantable timber as a basis for growth and the next timber crop.

Partial cutting or selective logging shall be the general standard of forest practice.

POSTMASTERS NAMED

Austria Expected To Ban Socialists After Bomb Expose

Vienna, Feb. 9 (AP) The belief that the Austrian government will follow the sensational expose of an alleged Marxist plot with the dissolution of the Socialist party was expressed today in Socialist circles, where it was said a general strike would thereby be precipitated.

Government spokesmen, on the other hand, pointed out that "all evidence" collected in police raids on Socialist centers yesterday "will be carefully examined before a further move is to be expected."

Meanwhile, the Agrarian party which still has one minister and one secretary in the government published an appeal addressed to Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss "in this earnest and decisive hour" to reorganize the government.

The chancellor returned from Budapest this afternoon after two days of conferences with Premier Julius Goemboes of Hungary.

During his absence the vice chancellor, Emil Fey, an avowed opponent of Socialists, directed steel-helmeted police to occupy Socialist strongholds and announced the raids uncovered "an unprecedented criminal plot of Bolshevist and Marxist elements" together with several thousand powerful bombs and machine guns.

Daily Newspapers Holding Up Strong

Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP) The annual edition of N. W. Ayer & Son's directory of newspapers and periodicals, issued today, shows there was a decrease of only seven in the number of daily newspapers published in the United States and Canada in 1933.

The number of newspapers of all classes decreased 212 from a total of 14,174 at the beginning of the year to 13,962 at the beginning of this year.

The largest drop was 189 in the number of weekly newspapers while there was a decrease of 16 among the bi-weeklies, tri-weeklies and fortnightlies.

There are now 2,096 dailies including foreign language newspapers and 11,557 weeklies in the two countries.

Trade and business publications increased 220 to 4,15[illegible].

Counting all known publications in the United States and Canada, there now are 20,83[illegible] as compared with 21,109 in 1933. The highest point in newspaper and periodical history was reached in 1917 with a total of 24,8[illegible].

AIRPLANE BIDS EYED CLOSELY

Army Officer Says All May Be Thrown Out Eventually

BY CLARENCE M. WRIGHT
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—A possibility that the army would throw out competitive bids on $7,500,000 worth of airplanes and award contracts by "negotiation" was conceded by an army officer before the house military affairs committee today after its members expressed fears that inferior planes might be bought.

Chairman McSwain (D-SC) and Representative James (R-Mich) questioned Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war, closely about changes made in specifications for airplanes to be bought with a $7,500,000 public works allotment.

Brigadier General H. Conger Pratt said that although bids had been called for on the changed specifications, all bids could be rejected and the secretary of war could grant contracts by negotiation with individual companies.

"I am not at all sure in my own mind that that is not going to be the actual result," Pratt asserted.

During the questioning, Woodring said that no attempt was made to have the army planes inferior to those called for in the original specifications.

James said that when Major General Benjamin D. Foulois heard of the allocation, he immediately drew specifications he thought the new ships should meet. These called for pursuit planes capable of a speed of 230 miles, a cruising range of 500 miles and a maximum altitude of 27,800 feet.

When bids finally were called for, James continued, the specifications required contractors to bid only on ships able to make 176 miles an hour, cruise 386 miles and reach an altitude of 18,700 feet.

Other changes, James asserted, reduced the specified speed of attack planes from 207 to 175 miles, cruising range from 600 to 394 miles, and altitude from 21,750 to 19,000 feet.

Woodring said the changes were made after a conference in his office with General Foulois and the army chief of staff "in an effort to see if we could get these planes by advertising for bids on a competitive basis."

LIVES OF FIVE SEAMEN SAVED

Eastham, Mass., Feb. 9 (AP)—Seven coast guardsmen waged a thrilling battle against the sea today in saving the lives of five men who had abandoned their disabled coasting schooner, the Anna Sophia of New York.

Dawn showed the schooner at anchor a mile and a half off shore. She was deep in the water with the burden of coal she was carrying to Lubec, Me., and seas rolled over her. Her poles were bare, stripped of canvas last night by a squall as she was doubling Cape Cod. Her skipper, Captain John Peabody of Beals, Me., considered her position so dangerous that a dory was lowered and all hands went over the side.

Many eyes ashore watched the distressed mariners as they cautiously approached the breakers roaring over the outer bar, three quarters of a mile off shore. Boatswain George Nickerson, 60-year-old skipper of the Nauset coast guard station, fearing the dory could not survive the surf gave the word to launch the station's surf boat, an open boat propelled only with oars.

For two miles he and his men were forced to carry the boat down the beach before they came to an opening in the piled up ice, an opening through which the shore surf pounded. Every man of the seven who made up the crew was drenched before the lifeboat was well afloat. Sub-zero temperature almost instantly froze their clothing.

Once clear of the shore the life boat had only floe ice to contend with until it reached the outer bar. The transfer of the schooner's crew was quickly accomplished and a hard pull through the ice and into the surf again got all hands ashore.

Poison Pork Case In Federal Court; $140,000 Demanded

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 9. (AP)—Eight cases asking damages totaling $140,000, as the result of a party held in February, 1931, at the home of Alfonso Celli in Iron Mountain in which, it is alleged, poisonous pork was eaten, have been transferred from the Dickinson county circuit court to the United States district court here which will open April 3. The cases were filed here today.

The cases filed include: Alfonso Celli, who asks $25,000 on two counts; Anni Celli, aged 10, the daughter of Alfonso, $10,000; John Colovecchio, $15,000; Joseph Tagliente, $15,000; Minne Occhietti, $15,000; Theresa Famiani, $15,000; Natale Occhietti, $10,000, and Parisso Famiani, $10,000.

Celli asks damages for illness he claims to have suffered and for alleged loss of the services of his wife and daughter, Annie. Mrs. Celli died in the Iron Mountain hospital from an illness diagnosed as trichina poisoning, it is alleged, and Celli claims his daughter is permanently affected by the same poisoning. The others contend they were made ill by the meat and their health affected.

Young Japanese Envoy Scoffs at War Rumors

BY MORRIS WATSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Hiroshi Saito, youngest ambassador ever sent to America by the Nipponese emperor, arrived on the Berengaria today, avowed that Japan had no wish to take over the Philippines and laughed over any and all suggestions of a possible second Russo-Japanese war.

"We are not going to fight," he said in perfect English. "Russia doesn't want to fight us. We don't want to fight Russia.

"If we go to war with Russia, it means we go to war with all other countries, and that includes the United States. We don't want to commit suicide."

Before consenting to be interviewed he insisted that drinks be ordered for all "you prohibitionists."

"There is nothing about the Russian-Japanese situation that cannot be smoothed out peacefully," he said. "It is simply a matter of price for the Chinese Eastern railroad. The price is too high."

"The price of war?" a reporter asked.

He contended with good nature, but firmly, that he could not discuss political matters before presenting his credentials to President Roosevelt. He said it would be against diplomatic decorum.

His prime diplomatic object, he confessed:

"To drink good whisky with good Americans."

The new ambassador demonstrated that he knew his America. He was Japanese consul in New York for five years and long-time attache at the Washington embassy.

He knew President Roosevelt when the latter was assistant secretary of the navy.

"He is a wonderful gentleman with a lot of pluck," he said.

He was "much heartened" because of the movement "even in California" for a Japanese immigration quota. He said his countrymen considered their exclusion as "a stigma in a way" since the question involved not more than a hundred people, and he said that solution of the question would go far toward good understanding between the two nations.

As to our day to day relations:

"Sometimes they appear ameliorated, and the next day the opposite."

He was shown a news dispatch about General William Mitchell's charge that Japan was developing air forces with an eye to Alaska.

"Poppycock," he exploded.

"What for?" he demanded. "Why that frozen country; who do we want there? Moose?"

He thought his job a great responsibility, but labeled it, nevertheless, "a cinch." Later he admitted a possibility that he might "have a heck of a time."

He believed that Europe would remain at peace "despite the League of Nations" and he branded a reported Japanese-German alliance as no less than "another poppycock."

Informed that he was arriving on the coldest day in the history of New York's weather bureau, he said:

"I'm glad of that. It showed people's hearts are warm. Otherwise they couldn't stand it."

The interview ended on the ambassador's proudest note.

"I am the father of an American citizen," he announced. His eldest daughter, Sakiko, was born in New York. Another daughter is named Masako.

RECORD COLD SPELL TAKES DEATH TOLLS

could not get water.

In Detroit, residents of three houses on Brooklyn avenue were driven into sub-zero weather by fire which destroyed two of the dwellings.

Snow in Carolina

The school at Leonard, Mich., in Oakland county, was destroyed during the early morning hours yesterday, with a loss of $15,000. The village's fire fighting equipment, stored in the basement, was destroyed with the building.

In Manhattan, city relief agencies were taxed to capacity aiding the ohmeless. Subway doors froze fast. Ice drifted in the East river and the bay. At one Brooklyn high school 166 students suffered from frostbite.

The cold wave swept south as far as the nation's capital where it was 6 below, a 13-year record. There was snow in North Carolina.

Pinned Under Car

At Hubbartston, near Lansing, Mich., an automobile plunged over a 30-foot embankment and church bells and fire alarms were sounded to call out rescuers. Earl M. Bernard, 27, of Lansing, who was pinned beneath the car for more than an hour in 21 below zero weather, died seven hours after the accident. His wife, Dorothy, 26, and Frederick Bennett, 23, of Hubbardston, were in a serious condition today, principally from exposure. An ambulance, rushing to the accident, froze enroute.

Seven persons in Philadelphia were overcome by illuminating gas and five were burned or overcome by smoke in fires in that city.

Fire in Paulsboro, N. J., destroyed factory buildings, two apartment houses and three bungalows with an estimated loss of $1,000,000.

The cold wave and storms covered two continents.

Conservation Code Sent To President

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Rules long sought by conservationists to preserve the nation's lumber supply were adopted today by the lumber code authority and sent to President Roosevelt for his approval.

"Foresters and lumbermen alike pointed out today," the authorities said, "that, as with so many other projects under President Roosevelt, what has been for generations a subject of harmless conversation or academic dissertation has become a reality enforcable by the authority of the government."

The basic rules for the country as a whole:

Protection of standing timber and young timber from fire and other destructive forces.

Provision for replanting the cleared land after logging, if sufficient advanced growth is not present already.

To leave, where feasible, some portion of the merchantile timber as a bisis for growth and the next timber crop.

Partial cutting or selective logging shall be the general standard of forest practice.

POSTMASTERS NAMED

Austria Expected To Ban Socialists After Bomb Expose

Vienna, Feb. 9 (AP)—The belief that the Austrian government will follow the sensational expose of an alleged Marxist plot with the dissolution of the Socialist party was expressed today in Socialist circles, where it was said a general strike would thereby be precipitated.

Government spokesmen, on the other hand, pointed out that "all evidence" collected in police raids on Socialist centers yesterday "will be carefully examined before a further move is to be expected."

Meanwhile, the Agrarian party—which still has one minister and one secretary in the government—published an appeal addressed to Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss "in this earnest and decisive hour" to reorganize the government.

The chancellor returned from Budapest this afternoon after two days of conferences with Premier Julius Goemboes of Hungary.

During his absence the vice chancellor, Emil Fey, an avowed opponent of Socialists, directed steel-helmeted police to occupy Socialist strongholds and announced the raids uncovered "an unprecedented criminal plot of Bolshevist and Marxist elements" together with several thousand powerful bombs and machine guns.

Daily Newspapers Holding Up Strong

Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—The annual edition of N. W. Ayer & Son's directory of newspapers and periodicals, issued today, shows there was a decrease of only seven in the number of daily newspapers published in the United States and Canada in 1933.

The number of newspapers of all classes decreased 212 from a total of 14,174 at the beginning of the year to 13,962 at the beginning of this year.

The largest drop was 189 in the number of weekly newspapers, while there was a decrease of 16 among the bi-weeklies, tri-weeklies and fort-nightlies.

There are now 2,005 dailies, including foreign language newspapers, and 11,357 weeklies in the two countries.

Counting all known publications in the United States and Canada, there now are 20,835, as compared with 21,109 in 1933. The highest point in newspaper and periodical history was reached in 1917 with a total of 24,868.

AIRPLANE BIDS EYED CLOSELY

Army Officer Says All May Be Thrown Out Eventually

BY CLARENCE M. WRIGHT
(Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—A possibility that the army would throw out competitive bids on $7,500,000 worth of airplanes and award contracts by "negotiation" was conceded by an army officer before the house military affairs committee today after its members expressed fears that inferior planes might be bought.

Chairman McSwain (D-SC) and Representative James (R-Mich) questioned Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war, closely about changes made in specifications for airplanes to be bought with a $7,500,000 public works allotment.

Brigadier General H. Conger Pratt said that although bids had been called for on the changed specifications, all bids could be rejected and the secretary of war could grant contracts by negotiation with individual companies.

"I am not at all sure in my own mind that that is not going to be the actual result," Pratt asserted.

During the questioning, Woodring said that no attempt was made to have the army planes inferior to those called for in the original specifications.

James said that when Major General Benjamin D. Foulois heard of the allocation, he immediately drew specifications he thought the new ships should meet. These called for pursuit planes capable of a speed of 230 miles, a cruising range of 500 miles and a maximum altitude of 27,800 feet.

When bids finally were called for, James continued, the specifications required contractors to bid only on ships able to make 176 miles an hour, cruise 386 miles and reach an altitude of 18,700 feet.

Other changes, James asserted, reduced the specified speed of attack planes from 207 to 175 miles, cruising range from 600 to 394 miles, and altitude from 21,750 to 19,000 feet.

Woodring said the changes were made after a conference in his office with General Foulois and the army chief of staff "in an effort to see if we could get these planes by advertising for bids on a competitive basis."

Lansing, Feb. 9 (AP)—Feminine leaders of the state appeared before the legislative council today to urge submission of a minimum wage bill for women and minors at the next special session of the legislature. Governor Comstock has already stated that no such measure will be offered.

The women advocated a statute similar to the Wisconsin law which sets up a board fixing a flexible wage rate. Included among the women who were here was Mrs. Thomas F. McAllister, of Grand Rapids; Mrs. Helen Graves, of Flint, and Mrs. James Starr, of Grand Rapids.

CONSERVATION GROUP CHOSEN

Henry Wylie Appointed Chairman of C-C Committee

Appointment of a conservation committee as another organization unit of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce was announced yesterday by A. J. Young, president of the C. of C.

Henry Wylie was appointed chairman of the committee. Other members are: C. Arthur Anderson, A. W. Biendarra, John P. Norton, Derlin Remington, C. B. Smith, C. W. Stoll and O. Sundquist.

Study activities and policies of Wolverine Conservation association and consider ways of coordinating activities of the association and the work program of the Chamber of Commerce.

Study land problems of Delta county and consider ways and means of furthering the future development of agricultural, recreational and resort opportunities.

Study activities of state conservation department in Delta county and consider future developments of that work.

Study activities of federal forest service in Delta county as planned for the Hiawatha National Forest and consider future possibilities and developments of that work.

School Orators Now Engaged In Tryouts Contests

Elimination contests are now being held at the Escanaba senior high school to determine who will represent the school in the subdistrict oratorical competition to be held in April.

Four orators remain in the competition for the local honor. They are: Robert Hutte, whose subject is "Peace and Disarmament"; Robert Luery, "The Other Side"; Harold Snyder, "The Lesson of the Ages"; and Abraham Stein, "Roosevelt, the Man." Joseph H. Shipman is coaching the orators.

Preliminaries in the declamatory event will be started next week, with Miss Roma B. Irons in charge.

Father Drengacz And Atty. Strom Address K. of C.

Rev. Fr. Tom Drengacz, pastor of St. Michael's parish of Perronville, and Torval E. Strom, attorney for the Home Owners Loan corporation, were the principal speakers at the meeting of Escanaba Council No. 640, Knights of Columbus, Thursday evening.

Father Drengacz, who is chaplain of the Escanaba council, read a paper dealing with the encyclical by Pope Pius XI, on "Constructing the Social Order and Perfecting It in Conformity with the Precepts of the Gospel."

Father Drengacz first reviewed the effects of the encyclical by Leo XIII on "Capital and Labor," citing its application to present day problems. He then dwelled on the reconstruction of the social order, concluding his remarks by pointing to the need for the reform of morals in this present day.

Attorney Strom explained the operation of the Home Owners Loan corporation. He told of the vast amount of social good that is accompanied in the saving of the homes of American citizens, and he added that the efforts of the government in this field are greatly appreciated by the many who are being benefited.

ANCIENT COINS FOUND

Ann Arbor (AP) President Alexander G. Ruthven announced Thursday that the University of Michigan archaeological expedition at Karanis, Egyp, had discovered 15,000 coins, one of the largest finds on record. President Ruthven returned from Egypt two days ago. Karanis was occupied from 200 B. C. to 750 A. D. and the coins, found under the floor of a dwelling of the ancient city, were of bronze.

Coldest Weather Since 1875; Expect Let-down Today

Escanaba experienced yesterday morning the coldest weather since 1875.

Milder temperature and probably snow are forecast for today.

Despite the cold wave, no serious fires were reported yesterday. The fire department responded to three fire calls. One was a fire in an automobile seat cushion on South Tenth street, a chimney blaze at 1825 Ludington street, and a roof blaze at the James Gaynor home, Old State Road.

AMUSEMENTS

"Dark Hazard" and "The Last Round-Up" will be shown again in the double feature program at the Delft today.

It was just about three years ago that Edward G. Robinson skyrocketed to screen fame as "Little Caesar," a character created by W. R. Burnett. Since that time the First National star has turned in one great picture performance after another. Last night, he returned to the Delft Theatre screen to score another notable triumph in another W. R. Burnett story, "Dark Hazard."

For years Robinson has been giving pleasure to theatregoers with incisive portrayals that range from the gangland monarch of "Little Caesar" to the industrial giant of "I Loved A Woman." In between have been such sharply differing figures as the idealistic, slow-witted steel riveter of "Two Seconds," and the colossal child of fortune who was the hero of "Silver Dollar."

In Paramount's picturization of Zane Grey's novel, "The Border Legion," entitled "The Last Round-Up," fans will see Monte Blue, an old favorite, and Barbara Fritchie, a newcomer to Hollywood in her first motion picture role, heading the imposing cast.

In addition to the above named players, "The Last Round-Up" has Randolph Scott for its romantic lead, Fred Kohler for the ultra-heavy menace and Fuzzy Knight as the comedy element.

Cities Out of the Red

Efficiency Rules Los Angeles; Debts Rapidly Paid, 93 Per Cent of Taxes Collected

This is the last of three stories on cities that have achieved outstanding success in economical government, as contrasted with hundreds of others that are in financial distress, due to waste and mismanagement.

* * *

By NEA Service

Los Angeles—You expect miracles in the City of the Angels. People out here just take it for granted that Los Angeles is wonderful.

But you might expect money troubles in a city that has grown from 576,673 in 1920 to far above a million today, which has had to build its own harbor, vastly expand its limits, and carry its water 250 miles.

Throughout the depression, this city has maintained a balanced budget, kept almost intact a $5,000,000 reserve fund, slashed its public debt, and—laugh this off!—reduced municipal taxes!

Taxpayer Gets Chance

More than 93 per cent of the tax levy for the last year has been collected to date. Here, too, many taxpayers have had a hard time to meet their assessments.

So a temporary measure recently was passed eliminating all penalties for delinquent taxes except 7 per cent interest on the amount due, and permitting payment in 10 equal installments.

This "break" for the taxpayer was made possible because the city has no unpaid tax warrants and is not in default to bondholders. And it's bringing in considerable money.

This tax levy for the last year is $9,000,000 less than in the fiscal year 1929-30, and means a reduction of 10 cents, down to $1.53, on each $100 of assessed valuation.

Bonds Readily Paid Off

The vast programs of improvement in harbor and water systems have given Los Angeles a municipal debt of $169,778,062 in serial bonds, which are being paid off at the rate of $12,000,000 a year, and their interest readily carried.

Part of the reduction in this annual tax burden is due to the fact that the water and power department assumed payment of interest and maturities on its own bonds, thus taking them off the taxpayer's back.

Additional savings came from assumption by the state of part of the annual school cost. The Department of Water and Power, in addition to taking care of its own bonds, has shown a further surplus at the end of each of the last five years.

The $22,800,000 RFC loan for building a power line to Boulder Dam is not a taxpayer liability, but is secured by notes of the Department of Power and Light itself.

Reserve Fund Kept

Instead of the usual dodge of issuing tax anticipation warrants to pay bills at times when the city is short of cash, Los Angeles keeps intact a reserve fund of $5,000,000 to meet emergencies which arise prior to receipt of taxes.

Here again, as in Baltimore, there is no trick, nothing up the sleeve in the way of new governmental forms. The city has the old-fashioned form of mayor-council government, with many of the city's activities under commissions.

WELL GOVERNED

Minneapolis Cost of running the city government here in 1934 probably will be less than it was in 1932, though there are 50,000 more people in the city.

City departments are required to live within the income from taxes, despite a probable delinquency of about 15 per cent in payments.

Organization and good work of a board of estimate and taxation to hold expenditures in check, spike unnecessary bond issues. As a result, the per capita tax rate has risen only 8 per cent in the last 12 years, while in the six years preceding formation of the board, it had jumped 112 per cent.

There are more than 17,000 city employes, in addition to the 17,000 school teachers who are paid jointly out of county and city funds.

A Simple Matter

To Mayor Frank L. Shaw and his staff, there is nothing phenomenal about running a city successfully. To them it is simply a matter of operating the public business with something approximately private-enterprise interest and effectiveness.

Of the city's balanced budget for the last fiscal year of $19,300,000, more than $15,000,000 went directly for salaries. Not quite $21,000,000 came direct from taxes, $4,000,000 from the water and power department, and $36,000,000 from the other departmental activities, licenses, and the like.

Together these receipts came to more than enough to clear the budgeted expenses and interest on the debt.

Los Angeles is a living proof that a great city can go through a period of boom expansion, then four years of depression, and yet be a going concern, with little fear for the future.

Jack Dansky, 12, Says President Is a Swell Guy

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Daily Press Washington Correspondent

Washington—Scores of government workers do nothing but answer hundreds of thousands of letters addressed to President Roosevelt. They're scattered through federal agencies, to which the White House refers mail in bales.

When 12-year-old Jack Dansky of Denver wrote to "Dear Beloved President of all the American People," his letter was shunted to Public Works. This was a boy who had been ill six years, had had three operations and needed another, and had been taken to Denver by his mother because his illness required it.

His father had to stay in Pittsburgh with a $22 a week job, which was what made Jack miserable. Couldn't Mr. Roosevelt help him get a job in Denver?

The White House rubber-stamped the letter: "Respectfully referred for acknowledgment and consideration."

Jack was answered in the name of Executive Officer Philip B. Fleming, who suggested consultation with the Colorado federal reemployment director. The boy's next letter said he had been told his father must have lived in Colorado a year, to be helped.

Wouldn't Fleming write personally to Director Craig Vincent in which case Jack promised to "get entirely well."

"Please read this correspondence carefully and give me a report on the possibility of finding a place for this boy's father," Fleming wrote.

Meanwhile, the elder Dansky had gone to Denver for a promised job, which lasted only a week, because the boss folded up and left town.

The correspondence file closes with a joyous note from Jack Dansky which says his "daddy" has a CWA job which will do nicely and keep him from a forced return to Pittsburgh until something better appears.

Cake for Fillmore Now 54 Years Old

It belongs to Silas Ridley and was baked in 1879 for the late Cyrus F. Fillmore brother of Millard Fillmore, thirteenth president in honor of Cyrus' seventy-seventh birthday. Mr. Fillmore was the great-grandfather of Mrs. Ridley.

The cake has a fruit-cake base, seven inches in diameter and two and a half inches high. A model of the old Fillmore home is made in icing which has turned to a soft cream color from age.

The model is complete, with four chimneys, doors, windows, shades, lattice work and windmill. The cake is kept in a large glass container.

DELTA HOTEL BUILDING SOLD

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Burns Acquire Control of Property

Announcement was made yesterday of the sale of the stock of the Delta Hotel company, owners of the Delta hotel building, to a new group, headed by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Burns, who have been operating the well known Escanaba hotel for the last three years.

The officers of the new Delta Hotel company are: President, Clyde J. Burns; vice president, Josephine Walch; treasurer, Mrs. Katherine Walch Burns; and secretary, W. J. Schmit.

The Delta hotel, situated at the corner of Ludington and Seventh street, was opened to the public June 14, 1914, with A. N. Merritt as the operator. L. E. Heinly took charge July 3, 1919 and remained until June 1, 1922, when Lawrence J. Cleary and C. J. Burns assumed the management. They disposed of their business to J. P. Oberlin in 1928, but Mr. Burns reassumed charge in June, 1930.

More than a score of Escanaba business men invested in the Delta Hotel company twenty years ago, but the number had been reduced to only a few stockholders when the deal was completed this week, Mr. and Mrs. Burns acquiring the bulk of the stock from William Finnegan, M. K. Bissell, the Cleary Estate, Mrs. J. C. Kirkpatrick, the J. B. Moran estate, and M. N. Smith. The officers of the old Delta Hotel company were: President, William Finnegan; vice president, M. K. Bissell, and secretary, L. J. Cleary.

The Delta hotel is a modern, fireproof five-story structure, with 75 rooms. The new owners plan to make some improvements in the spring. About thirty persons are employed at the establishment.

Father Drengacz And Atty. Strom Address K. of C.

Rev. Fr. Tom Drengacz, pastor of St. Michael's parish of Perronville, and Torval E. Strom, attorney for the Home Owners Loan corporation, were the principal speakers at the meeting of Escanaba Council No. 640, Knights of Columbus, Thursday evening.

Father Drengacz, who is chaplain of the Escanaba council, read a paper dealing with the encyclical by Pope Pius XI, on "Constructing the Social Order and Perfecting It in Conformity with the Precepts of the Gospel."

Father Drengacz first reviewed the effects of the encyclical by Leo XIII on "Capital and Labor," citing its application to present day problems. He then dwelled on the reconstruction of the social order, concluding his remarks by pointing to the need for the reform of morals in this present day.

Attorney Strom explained the operation of the Home Owners Loan corporation. He told of the vast amount of social good that is accompanied in the saving of the homes of American citizens, and he added that the efforts of the government in this field are greatly appreciated by the many who are being benefited.

Coldest Weather Since 1875; Expect Letdown Today

Escanaba experienced yesterday morning the coldest weather since 1875.

Milder temperature and probably snow are forecast for today.

Despite the cold wave, no serious fires were reported yesterday. The fire department responded to three fire calls. One was a fire in an automobile seat cushion on South Tenth street, a chimney blaze at 1825 Ludington street, and a roof blaze at the James Gaynor home, Old State Road.

AMUSEMENTS

"Dark Hazard" and "The Last Round-Up" will be shown again in the double feature program at the Delft today.

It was just about three years ago that Edward G. Robinson skyrocketed to screen fame as "Little Caesar," a character created by W. R. Burnett. Since that time the First National star has turned in one great picture performance after another. Last night, he returned to the Delft Theatre screen to score another notable triumph in another W. R. Burnett story, "Dark Hazard."

For years Robinson has been giving pleasure to theatregoers with incisive portrayals that range from the gangland monarch of "Little Caesar" to the industrial giant of "I Loved A Woman." In between have been such sharply differing figures as the idealistic, slow-witted steel riveter of "Two Seconds," and the colossal child of fortune who was the hero of "Silver Dollar."

In Paramount's picturization of Zane Grey's novel, "The Border Legion," entitled "The Last Round-Up," fans will see Monte Blue, an old favorite, and Barbara Fritchie, a newcomer to Hollywood in her first motion picture role, heading the imposing cast.

In addition to the above named players, "The Last Round-Up" has Randolph Scott for its romantic lead, Fred Kohler for the ultra-heavy menace and Fuzzy Knight as the comedy element.

Cities Out of the Red

Efficiency Rules Los Angeles; Debts Rapidly Paid, 93 Per Cent of Taxes Collected

This is the last of three stories on cities that have achieved outstanding success in economical government, as contrasted with hundreds of others that are in financial distress, due to waste and mismanagement.

* * *

By NEA Service

Los Angeles—You expect miracles in the City of the Angels. People out here just take it for granted that Los Angeles is wonderful.

But you might expect money troubles in a city that has grown from 576,673 in 1920 to far above a million today, which has had to build its own harbor, vastly expand its limits, and carry its water 250 miles.

Throughout the depression, this city has maintained a balanced budget, kept almost intact a $5,000,000 reserve fund, slashed its public debt, and—laugh this off! — reduced municipal taxes!

Taxpayer Gets Chance

More than 93 per cent of the tax levy for the last year has been collected to date. Here, too, many taxpayers have had a hard time to meet their assessments.

So a temporary measure recently was passed eliminating all penalties for delinquent taxes except 7 per cent interest on the amount due, and permitting payment in 10 equal installments.

This "break" for the taxpayer was made possible because the city has no unpaid tax warrants and is not in default to bondholders. And it's bringing in considerable money.

This tax levy for the last year is $9,000,000 less than in the fiscal year 1929-30, and means a reduction of 10 cents, down to $1.53, on each $100 of assessed valuation.

Bonds Readily Paid Off

The vast programs of improvement in harbor and water systems have given Los Angeles a municipal debt of $169,778,062 in serial bonds, which are being paid off at the rate of $12,000,000 a year, and their interest readily carried.

Part of the reduction in this annual tax burden is due to the fact that the water and power department assumed payment of interest and maturities on its own bonds, thus taking them off the taxpayer's back.

Additional savings came from assumption by the state of part of the annual school cost. The Department of Water and Power, in addition to taking care of its own bonds, has shown a further surplus at the end of each of the last five years.

The $22,800,000 RFC loan for building a power line to Boulder Dam is not a taxpayer liability, but is secured by notes of the Department of Power and Light itself.

Reserve Fund Kept

Instead of the usual dodge of issuing tax anticipation warrants to pay bills at times when the city is short of cash, Los Angeles keeps intact a reserve fund of $5,000,000 to meet emergencies which arise prior to receipt of taxes.

Here again, as in Baltimore, there is no trick, nothing up the sleeve in the way of new governmental forms. The city has the old - fashioned form of mayor-council government, with many of the city's activities under commissions.

WELL GOVERNED

Minneapolis—Cost of running the city government here in 1934 probably will be less than it was in 1932, though there are 50,000 more people in the city.

A MATTER OF TIME

THE kidnapers who abducted Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker and held him prisoner for 22 days, may have been the rawest novices or the most expert gangsters, but they certainly knew how to get the money. The extreme length of time the St. Paul banker was held by his kidnapers drew the attention of the world to the case, for few expected him to be returned alive.

On the face of things the abductors did a faultless job, but the danger point for the men who perpetrated this crime has just begun to develop. Federal and state operatives were hampered during the time Bremer was held prisoner, by the fear he would be killed by his abductors if they pressed too closely. Now that restraint is entirely removed.

According to meagre details made public the gang was made up of ten or twelve men. They will scatter immediately but, eventually, the very number involved makes it certain that some one of them will talk too much and the net of justice will then begin to drag them in.

Verne Sankey, kidnaper and gangster, escaped from the net for many months but he finally committed the error for which those looking for him were waiting and he was captured. And on the night after the St. Paul banker was released by another gang of kidnapers, Sankey paid the penalty for his crime by taking his own life in a South Dakota jail cell.

That or a similarly gruesome fate awaits the abductors of Edward Bremer some time, some place.

A HANDSOME REWARD

THERE was an amusing bit of news, for the initiated, tucked down in the corner of a minor paragraph out of Lansing on Thursday. It announced the appointment of Atty. Francis T. McDonald, of Sault Ste. Marie, as member of a state commission to determine "who in Michigan made the most outstanding contribution to law enforcement" in this state in 1933.

Francis T. McDonald, the outstanding old line Democrat of the peninsula for three or four decades; the man who carried the banner of his party in season and out of season, as candidate for congress or any other office for which a candidate was needed, in the days when a Democrat had about as much chance of being elected as a snowball would have to maintain its entity in the nether regions, is rewarded in the days of his party's affluence, by the payless, honorless job of naming the individual who is to be awarded a medal for law enforcement, during a period when there was admittedly little law enforcement being done.

Mr. McDonald and his hosts of friends in the peninsula will appreciate the rather grim humor that is carried in the party reward that has been so magnificently and so magnanimously bestowed upon him.

TO STEP OUT

NOW it develops, according to word from Lansing, that three members of the state public utilities commission are to walk the plank immediately, to be replaced by deserving Democrats. Harold L. Waples of Ironwood and Robert H. Dunn of Muskegon, have walked up to Michigan's Democratic governor and like good Republicans have tendered their resignations to become effective with the pleasure of the chief executive.

Kit Klardy, of Ionia, Harry C. McClure, of Flint and Edward T. Fitzgerald, of Detroit, who compose the remainder of the commission, have not displayed the same spirit and because they remain sulking in their tents, tenaciously clinging to jobs that are wanted by deserving Democrats, they are to be cast out on their several and individual ears, on the ground of neglect of duty. Any other charge would have been just as effective, as Gov. Comstock months ago determined to change the political complexion of the utilities commission and he's the boss of the administration down at Lansing.

So Michigan's public utilities commission will shortly be made up, temporarily, of three Democrats and two Republicans and then later, it will become all Democratic. All of which is politically fair, as previously its membership had been all Republican. There isn't the slightest ground for valid complaint.

STILL WITH US

IT WAS only a couple of weeks ago a lot of old timers were wondering what had become of the old fashioned peninsula winters. And then, as if in answer to the query, the peninsula is visited by close to the lowest temperatures recorded in history. When the mercury in the official thermometer at the weather bureau dropped to 31 degrees below zero yesterday morning there were but mighty few old timers remaining who can remember that February day, back in 1875, when an Escanaba thermometer, then classed as official, recorded a reading of 32 below, which stands as the all time, low record for this point.

So the tune of the old timers, complaining of the disappearance of "old fashioned" winters, will have to be revised, for "old timers" of 50 years hence will be dating their plaints on the winter of the "big cold," back in 1934.

WHAT PRICE REPEAL?

IT IS a little bit surprising to read that construction of seven new cutters for the coast guard, at a cost of $11,520,000, just has been authorized by the Treasury Department. In applying for funds from the PWA, the department announced that these cutters will be used to suppress rum running.

It is easy to understand of course, that the laying of stiff import duties on liquor shipments will provide an incentive for smugglers; and it is only proper to recall that the coast guard was on duty against smuglers long before anyone ever dreamed of a federal prohibition law.

Nevertheless, this business of seven new cutters to stop rum runners is a little disturbing. Most of us, probably, had expected that repeal of the 18th amendment would put the rum runner out of business almost automatically. Aren't the fruits of repeal to be quite as rich as we had supposed?

SAVE THE WILD LIFE

ARTHUR NEWTON PACK, president of the American Nature Association, urges American friends of wild life to protest vigorously against proposed cuts in the Congressional appropriation for the U. S. Biological Survey.

These cuts, if put into effect, he points out, would eliminate the division of food habits research, and the investigation of waterfowl, and greatly reduce the [illegible] of bird [illegible] and the protection of migratory birds.

The result, he predicts, would be greatly to lessen the chances of survival of many species of birds. And yet the total sum of money saved by the government as a consequence of the cuts would be insignificant in comparison with the enormous total being spent for other projects.

Preservation of wild life has been a [illegible] to the hearts of many [illegible] of Americans for years. It would be highly regrettable if the program should collapse because of the government's financial [illegible].

We [illegible] do we recognize Russia that President Roosevelt gets the idea of a [illegible] to 50-year plan for public works.

John D. Rockefeller [illegible] to Florida anyway, having decided he can afford to spend a few more dimes, now that recovery is on the way.

Married Flirts

(By NEA Service) BY MABEL McELLIOTT

CHAPTER XXXII

Lila said patiently, "I've told you over and over again. I want to be free."

Derek, tall and handsome in tweeds, his stormy dark eyes puzzled, asked, "What's gone wrong? I don't know. I've tried. Oh, Sweets, there must be something we can do . . ."

Lila rose from her place by the fire and stared out of the window at the lights which spangled the city below her. Kong came in noiselessly and carried away the coffee tray. The big room with its rich rugs and dark, subdued furniture was very quiet.

"It was a mistake from the start, I think," she said evenly. It was being harder than she had expected and in spite of her outward appearance of calm her heart was beating thickly. If Derek should find out that, after all this, she meant to marry Marko, his little boy attitude of puzzled hurt would be changed. But he must not find out!

"I'm not your sort," she continued, holding out her long, supple ringed hands to the blaze. "We don't think the same way. Confess your idea of life is not mine."

"No, no. Frankly, it isn't," Derek said. "But, after all, marriage means concessions. I've made some. I suppose you have, although in the main our life has been as you wanted it. But it was forever. You and I both said that . . . we pledged it, not two years ago."

"I know. I know." She stirred impatiently. How could she make him see?

"It's just that—well, I don't feel the same any more I don't—don't love you any more."

The man in the deep chair moved as though to ward off a blow. His dark face paled suddenly.

"I'm sorry," Lila said quickly. "I didn't mean to hurt you. But you just wouldn't see . . ."

Derek rose. How tall he was, she thought idly. How good-looking, too, in an unconventional way. But although he was a dear he could never give her what she wanted. Marko could and, besides, Marko was terrifically attractive.

"I didn't understand." His tone was extremely formal. No casual onlooker would have known he had just received a mortal blow.

"I'll go to Reno, of course," Lila said quickly. "It will be easy. There needn't be any publicity until it's all over."

"Oh, you have planned it all out," Derek said with dreadful politeness.

She threw out her hands in a posture of despair. "You're being so difficult," she told him.

"Sorry." He had his hands plunged deep into the pockets of his coat. His face was a white mask. The worst had happened. He had been expecting this, dreading it, for weeks. If you made a failure of marriage, thought Derek bleakly, it meant you were a failure in everything else. He did not share the light sentiments of most of Lila's crowd, who changed life partners as casually as they changed their clothes.

That there was another man he did not for a moment doubt. But who? He reviewed all the young gallants who swarmed to Lila's cocktail parties. She treated them all very much alike. But had something escaped him in her attitude toward any special one?

He groaned. This was all so ugly—so unspeakably sordid!

"I'm sorry, Derek," Lila said prettily, gracefully. Whatever this slim, fair-haired, clear-skinned young woman did would always be pretty and graceful. Even when she was a small girl mothers had said, "Why aren't you like Lila Hotaling? She has such charming manners. . . ." Now that she had got her way, she could afford to be generous with Derek. And, after all, they were civilized people. Why couldn't they be friends? There wasn't the least reason in the world.

* * *

She told Marko about it over a tea table in a shaded corner of a hotel lounge. Lila was all in beige today—little close beige hat like the plumage of a soft-feathered bird, silky beige frock with creamy frills at the throat. There were gloves of the same delicate color thrown on the couch behind her with a full, soft silver fox scarf.

"You handled it well—superbly in fact," Marko approved. He leaned over to pat her hand and for the barest instant Lila winced. Marko's hand was plump, well cushioned; the nails were meticulously manicured. It was the sight of it that recalled, by contrast, Derek's slim, long fingers clenching and unclenching themselves as they had the night before.

"Do you think so?" Lila was not entirely sure she liked this.

"Certain to," Marko nodded. "He's attractive."

"Oh, he is that!" Lila almost tossed her head. Of course Derek was attractive. Hadn't she married him?

"It will all have to be done very smoothly, very quietly, of course," Marko murmured. Lila nodded her agreement. They had been all over this ground before. A year must elapse before their engagement was announced. No one would suspect then that Lila had meant to marry Marko all the time. A year was such a decent interval. Why, pouted Lila prettily, most people rushed straight from the Reno courtroom to the minister. But she would be more discreet.

It was a pity, she reflected, that Derek had to be hurt by all this. Marko would have to transfer him to the western office—to San Francisco, perhaps, when everything was settled. Naturally Derek wouldn't want to stay in New York, to go on working for Marko after she had married the latter. Well, no use worrying about all that now. The French had a good phrase for such problems, "It will arrange itself." Lila never bothered much about life's problems. They had a way of solving themselves.

She put one lump into Marko's tea and poured in just the merest trifle of milk. He had to watch his waistline. Now Derek's waistline was . . . but she frowned again, remembering. Derek had already moved his things to the club; she would not see him again. He was being, really, very decent about it all. You could always trust Derek for that. In a week she would leave for Nevada, would establish residence. It would be tiresome. She was not looking forward to that part of it but at the end of all this tiresomeness and dullness would be her goal—a luxury marriage which would put her forever beyond the pettiness of small desires.

"Do you ever see Gypsy Morell any more?" Marko startled her by asking, breaking in on her reverie.

Lila was glad to be distracted. "No, she's gone completely domestic," she told the man opposite. "Gypsy's turned maternal and middle class and all that."

She didn't want to sound spiteful; after all, Marko had admired Gypsy. So she amended hastily, "Such a pity she married that young nobody. Of course he's all right—well born and so forth, but he'll never get anywhere."

* * *

She sipped her tea with the superior air she reserved for people who hadn't much of the worlds goods. "Funny—I always thought Gypsy would do something wonderful," she went on, wanting to seem gracious in her lover's eyes. "Become a singer or an actress or something. She had talent and looks but marriage simple squelched her."

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

TIME TO LAUGH

"This is no time for laughter when
So many troubles trouble men."
The solemn say
When dark the day,
And yet the need is greatest then.

What fools to say, when dark the night
This is no time to burn a light,
For nursing long
Some hurt or wrong
Will never set the old world right.

No, when the way is dark indeed,
Leave tears behind, let laughter lead
The eyes that frown
Look always down,
So smile, and smile the more the need.

There is no life but has its woes,
And yet no life but laughter knows.
To laughter turn
And you will learn

20 Years Ago

By a deal closed yesterday the Jerry Madden Lumber company, of Rapid River, has purchased from the Garth Lumber company 4,000 acres of timber lands in Delta and Alger counties. A portion of the lands will be turned over to the Nels Westling company of Rapid River, which is composed of Mr. Westling, Jerry Madden and Adam Schaible.

Escanaba high school will not be represented at the annual Upper Peninsula Basketball Tournament to be held at Ishpeming on Friday and Saturday.

With a temperature of 12 degrees below zero on two successive mornings this week, Observer V. E. Jaky of the Escanaba weather station yesterday held out little hope of an early break in the cold spell being visited upon this district.

According to instructions received by county officials, no more insane patients can be sent to the Newberry hospital until after April 1, when a new cottage will be completed.

On account of the increased cost of provisions restaurants and cafes in the city have raised their dinner prices from 25 cents to 35 cents. Those signing the agreement are: Hines' Cafe, Porter's Cafe, Tilly's Q. P. Cafe, and the National Cafe.

Tomorrow will mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of the arrival of Brother Joseph at St. Joseph's church in this city and in honor of his long residence and faithful service to the congregation, a number of the parishioners are arranging a party in his honor tonight.

For the first time in many years the city of Manistique is to have a Democratic ticket in the coming spring election. Joseph Pattinson has been nominated for mayor and the following have been nominated for ward offices: First ward, supervisor, D. Ward; alderman, Thomas Helmka; Second, supervisor, Charles Beal; alderman, Perry Hannas; Third, supervisor, C. N. Dewey; alderman, Z. Bays; and Fourth, supervisor, Clyde McArdle, and alderman, Joseph Rice.

The CWA has done a lot to bring things back in a hurry.

"Oh, he is that!" Lila almost tossed her head. Of course Derek was attractive. Hadn't she married him?

"It will all have to be done very smoothly, very quietly, of course," Marko murmured. Lila nodded her agreement. They had been all over this ground before. A year must elapse before their engagement was announced. No one would suspect then that Lila had meant to marry Marko all the time. A year was such a decent interval. Why, pouted Lila prettily, most people rushed straight from the Reno courtroom to the minister. But she would be more discreet.

It was a pity, she reflected, that Derek had to be hurt by all this. Marko would have to transfer him to the western office—to San Francisco, perhaps, when everything was settled. Naturally Derek wouldn't want to stay in New York, to go on working for Marko after she had married the latter. Well, no use worrying about all that now. The French had a good phrase for such problems, "It will arrange itself." Lila never bothered much about life's problems. They had a way of solving themselves.

She put one lump into Marko's tea and poured in just the merest trifle of milk. He had to watch his waistline. Now Derek's waistline was . . . but she frowned again, remembering. Derek had already moved his things to the club; she would not see him again. He was being, really, very decent about it all. You could always trust Derek for that. In a week she would leave for Nevada, would establish residence. It would be tiresome. She was not looking forward to that part of it but at the end of all this tiresomeness and dullness would be her goal — a luxury marriage which would put her forever beyond the pettiness of small desires.

"Do you ever see Gypsy Morell any more?" Marko startled her by asking, breaking in on her reverie.

Lila was glad to be distracted. "No, she's gone completely domestic," she told the man opposite. "Gypsy's turned maternal and middle class and all that."

She didn't want to sound spiteful; after all, Marko had admired Gypsy. So she amended hastily, "Such a pity she married that young nobody. Of course he's all right—well born and so forth, but he'll never get anywhere."

* * *

She sipped her tea with the superior air she reserved for people who hadn't much of the worlds goods. "Funny--I always thought Gypsy would do something wonderful," she went on, wanting to seem gracious in her lover's eyes. "Become a singer or an actress or something. She had talent and looks but marriage simple squelched her."

TIME TO LAUGH

"This is no time for laughter when
So many troubles trouble men,"
The solemn say
When dark the day,
And yet the need is greatest then.

What fools to say, when dark the night,
This is no time to burn a light,
For nursing long
Some hurt or wrong
Will never set the old world right.

No, when the way is dark indeed,
Leave tears behind, let laughter lead.
The eyes that frown
Look always down,
So smile, and smile the more the need.

There is no life but has its woes,
And yet no life but laughter knows.
To laughter turn
And you will learn

20 Years Ago

By a deal closed yesterday the Jerry Madden Lumber company, of Rapid River, has purchased from the Garth Lumber company 4,000 acres of timber lands in Delta and Alger counties. A portion of the lands will be turned over to the Neis Westling company of Rapid River, which is composed of Mr. Westling, Jerry Madden and Adam Schaible.

Escanaba high school will not be represented at the annual Upper Peninsula Basketball Tournament to be held at Ishpeming on Friday and Saturday.

With a temperature of 12 degrees below zero on two successive mornings this week, Observer V. E. Jaky of the Escanaba weather station yesterday held out little hope of an early break in the cold spell being visited upon this district.

According to instructions received by county officials, no more insane patients can be sent to the Newberry hospital until after April 1, when a new cottage will be completed.

On account of the increased cost of provisions restaurants and cafes in the city have raised their dinner prices from 25 cents to 35 cents. Those signing the agreement are: Hines' Cafe, Porter's Cafe, Tilly's Q. P. Cafe, and the National Cafe.

Tomorrow will mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of the arrival of Brother Joseph at St. Joseph's church in this city and in honor of his long residence and faithful service to the congregation, a number of the parishioners are arranging a party in his honor tonight.

For the first time in many years the city of Manistique is to have a Democratic ticket in the coming spring election. Joseph Pattinson has been nominated for mayor and the following have been nominated for ward offices: First ward, supervisor, D. Ward; alderman, Thomas Helmka; Second, supervisor, Charles Beal; alderman, Perry Hannas; Third, supervisor, C. N. Dewey; alderman, Z. Bays; and Fourth, supervisor, Clyde McArdle, and alderman, Joseph Rice.

The CWA has done a lot to bring things back in a hurry.

FOUR PERSONS MEET INJURY

Several Traffic Mishaps Occur; Ewald Leisner Badly Hurt

Four persons were injured in a series of traffic accidents in Escanaba and vicinity Thursday evening and yesterday morning.

Ewald Leisner, of Ford River Switch, suffered a fractured skull when the automobile, which he was driving, was struck by a coupe, operated by Al Benard, 814 North Eighteenth street, on US-41 near Pine Ridge at 2:15 o'clock yesterday morning. He was operated upon at St. Francis hospital, and is reported to be in serious condition. Benard received a scalp wound, and his companion, Herbert Carlson, Escanaba, was uninjured. Both automobiles were badly damaged. William Herbst, Pine Ridge, took the accident victims to the hospital.

Leon Fletcher, 17, Hermansville, suffered a fractured right leg when he was struck by an automobile near his home. He was taken to St. Francis hospital.

J. E. Byrns, well known Escanaba insurance agent, was badly shaken up when the new sedan, which he was driving, figured in a peculiar accident early Thursday evening. Mr. Byrns had just driven his car into the Delta Taxi company garage to store it for the night. Intending to brake the car, he accidentally put his foot on the gas accellerator and the automobile lurched forward, crashing through a lightly-constructed partition and hurtling down into the basement, a drop of about twelve feet. The car was badly damaged.

FEED EXEMPTIONS

Bark River, Mich., February 9, 1934.

Dear Editor:

It is hard to understand how the tax board can exempt feed used for fattening purposes, before such feeds used actually to sustain life.

Through this area, hay is now, and has been for some time, purchased by car-lot and truck from the Rudyard district, and by necessity, fed in only such quantities as to actually keep the cattle from starving.

Yours truly,
Helmer Bruce.

Boy Scouts Pass First Aid Tests

D. B. McIntyre, Delta County Red Cross First Aid chairman, has announced the completion of first aid instruction to a class of eight Boy Scouts, who received their certificates yesterday.

The class was taught by H. Geo. Nelson, who has also received a certificate renewing his authority as an instructor until 1935. Those who successfully passed the examinations were Donald E. Campbell, Marvin R. Coon, Kenneth A. Buckland, Robert O. Olson, Austin Pouliot, James A. Olson, Edward Reynolds, and Normand P. Seymour.

Mr. McIntyre also stated that a first aid class of adults is being taught by Joel Olson at the junior high school.

NEW SALES TAX RULES ISSUED

Complete Set of Extra Regulations Is Announced

If you buy a mouth wash, bottled, corked and wrapped with corrugated paper board and paper, nobody has to pay a sales tax on the bottle, cork or wrappings.

But if a beer firm or milk wholesaler sells beer or milk in cases and bottles which the retailer uses over and over again and wears out in deliveries, these containers are taxable.

On the other hand, if the seller requires a deposit from the retailer on the cases or bottles, to be repaid on return, there is no sales tax on the deposit charge.

These are some of the new 1934 model regulations for sales tax collection now being enforced by local field representatives. Others have to do with sales of building materials, distinguishing between sales to property owners or lump sum contractors or build-for-self contractors, on all of which a sales tax must be paid by the seller, and resale or time-and-material contractors, who must pay it instead of the wholesaler.

To keep from paying a tax on their services as well as on coffins, flowers, etc., undertakers must keep their books to reflect the tangible property sold as a separate item. Similarly repair shops, garages, upholsterers, shoe repairers, etc., must either keep separate books on materials sold or pay a tax on their gross charge.

It appears that dentists, however, don't have to keep separate books; if any plates, gold and silver, cement, inlays, etc., are sold to them, the manufacturers must pay the tax. And if a dental laboratory makes a plate for a dentist, both the material and service are taxed.

College fraternities and sororities are treated as final consumers of food, etc., like a private family; they do not collect sales taxes for the state from their members, but the retailers from whom they buy must pay the tax.

Sign painters pay no tax from their receipts on painting jobs but the persons who sell them paint or brushes must pay a tax as if the sign painter were the ultimate consumer.

These and other changes are contained in a complete set of regulations which Escanaba retailers and manufacturers in many cases do not understand and should be following. Further information can be obtained from W. A. Thompson, field representative of the state board of tax administration in this district.

MAE'S BANKRUPT

Mae Murray, film actress and former wife of Prince David Mdivani, has declared herself bankrupt. She filed a petition in federal court at Los Angeles listing her liabilities at $228,196, and assets at $324,500, most of it in real estate. (Associated Press Photo)

Says Prison Workers Need Not Contribute To Hold Their Jobs

In answer to rumors and charges that employes of the Marquette branch prison had been asked to contribute to a so-called Democratic campaign fund if they wanted to keep their jobs, Warden W. R. Doell yesterday said that no persons working at the prison had ever been asked to contribute to any such fund.

Doell said that he, himself, recently joined the Michigan Democratic league at the request of Don Canfield, of Lansing, state central Democratic committeeman, because he had been a Democrat all his life and he felt that the money would be spent for a good cause.

He said that he had paid the initiation fee of $5 and forwarded $6 as monthly dues of $1 to pay him up to July 1. He said that the money is to be spent in furthering the interest of the Democratic party in the state and nation.

"Free Will" Organization

But no one else employed in the prison has joined the organization or has been asked to join, Doell declared. It is up to any Democrat to join on his own free will, if he wishes, the warden stated.

Reports had been current in the upper peninsula recently that every employe at the prison and other state institutions was told he must "kick-in" with the $5 initiation fee and $1 monthly dues if he hoped to hold on to his job. Some men now working at the prison are alleged to have remarked that they were told they had to "pay up," but Warden Doell said yesterday he knows of no such case.

PRODUCTION INCREASED

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce reported today that January automobile production in the United States and Canada totaled approximately 155,000 cars and trucks, an increase of 78 per cent over December and 16 per cent over January, 1933.

4 APPLICANTS ARE APPROVED

Other Applications for Liquor Licenses to Come Up Later

Four applications for hotel liquor licenses were approved by the Escanaba city council at its special meeting last evening, subject to the final endorsement of the Michigan liquor control commission.

These were: Delta hotel, Ludington street; Sherman hotel, Ludington street; Mirko Skradski, 1431 Sheridan Road; and St. Clair hotel, operated by Frank Gauthier, 1837 Third avenue north.

No action was taken by the council with regard to a city liquor ordinance or closing hours of these establishments.

A total of 25 applications for licenses to sell liquor by the glass have been received to date. Before approving other applications, the council will make further study of such matters as the character and other qualifications of the applicants, nature of the building in which they plan to operate, and also the question of zoning.

No word has been received yet from the state liuor control commission as to whether the five beer garden operators, whose licenses were temporarily suspended for infractions of the state regulations, will regain their permits. Definite notice is expected to be received next week.

CWA Workers Must Feed Families Or Lose Their Jobs

A warning was issued yesterday by members of the CWA commission that any men working on civil works projects who persistently refuse to provide for their families from the money paid by the government will be discharged immediately.

Several abuses have been reported and investigated by the commission, and in several instances the workmen have been laid off while in others the cases have been adjusted.

It was pointed out that many of the men working for the CWA have families that were able to get welfare aid when the men were not employed, but now, they are off the welfare list and suffer accordingly. Some men, whose checks cannot be attached, because they are government property, ignore needs of their families and in such cases they are warned and if they refuse to help their families they are discharged.

Complaints Received

Complaints also have been received from landlords who are unable to collect rent from their tenants, though the CWA checks will more than cover the rent. These landlords are worse off than when the families were on the welfare since the CWA worker is assumed to be able to take care of himself.

CWA workers are warned not to use their pay for unnecessary expenses, such as radios, automobiles, pool playing, gambling, intoxicating liquors or unnecessary luxuries. The workers are urged to keep current bills paid for necessary expenses of life, such as rent, fuel and groceries. Any misuse of the money received by a CWA worker while on the job will be sufficient cause for immediate discharge, the CWA commission warns.

Michigan School Statistics Issued

Interesting statistics concerning the schools of Michigan were obtained in a survey recently conducted by the Michigan Education Journal, official publication of the Michigan Education association. The results of the survey are contained in the following summary, a copy of which was received here yesterday by C. U. Woolpert, Delta county school commissioner:

1930-1931 to 1933-1934

Valuation in 29 counties decreased 22.2 per cent.

School taxes levied in 24 counties decreased 30.4 per cent.

Number of teachers in 36 counties decreased 6.9 per cent.

Number of schools in 34 counties decreased 1.6 per cent.

School taxes received in 30 counties decreased 38.6 per cent.

Salaries of school board members in 19 counties decreased 16.2 per cent.

Salaries of teachers in 30 counties decreased 27 per cent.

Other Data

Fourteen counties reported 38 schools closed. Reasons given were: Lack of funds, burned down, no pupils, transporting pupils, buildings unfit. Most of the schools reported they were transporting pupils.

Thirty countries reported a total of 242 children barred from high school for non-payment of tuition.

Twenty-eight counties reported 1,096 children on half-day sessions. These were mainly kindergarten pupils.

Thirty-three counties reported $1,984,714 of school money in closed banks.

The average salary for 1,382 teachers was $62.20 per month. The median salary for this same group was $59 per month.

Clever Style Gives Slender Lines to Figure

BY MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9920

It is so much easier to look slender than to get that way if you will wear frocks especially designed with length-giving lines. This charming afternoon model has been planned with just that problem in mind. Its revers flare gracefully to conceal a full bust, and the skirt pleats make the hips appear remarkably slender. The sleeves, too, are becoming and modish with their carefully discreet fullness placed just below the elbow. Make your frock of a carefully chosen print either in crepe, silk or a sheer.

Pattern 9920 may be ordered only in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 3 3-4 yards 39 inch fabric and ½ yard contrasting.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

ORDER YOUR COPY OF THE NEW MARIAN MARTIN SPRING PATTERN BOOK a practical Spring sewing guide, offering stunning models for all occasions for grown-ups, juniors and youngsters and for the woman who needs slenderizing lines. PRICE OF NEW BOOK, FIFTEEN CENTS. Washington Birthday Cake

Here's a new deal in chocolate spice cake that will give a patriotic flavor to your Washington's Birthday celebration. It is delectable for afternoon tea; an ideal accompaniment of repeal wines and can stand on its own merits as a dessert to be served alone.

To make this recipe, break a nine-ounce package of dry mince meat into pieces. Add one-half cup of cold water and stir until all the lumps are thoroughly broken up. Bring to a brisk boil and continue for three minutes or until the mixture is practically dry. Allow to cool.

Cream one-half cup of butter with one cup of sugar. Add one egg yolk, well beaten. Sift one and three-quarters cups of flour, three teaspoons of baking powder, one-eighth teaspoon of cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon of cloves and one-half teaspoon of nutmeg. Add alternately of milk (two tablespoons of milk in all) to the egg mixture. Put in two squares of unsweetened chocolate which have been melted. Blend thoroughly. Then fold in one stiffly beaten egg white and the cooled mince meat. Bake in a buttered loaf or angel cake pan in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) about forty-five minutes.

The flag which provides the patriotic motif in the picture can be made easily by squeezing confectioners' sugar frosting through a pastry tube. Stars, the NRA emblem or even the dome of the White House can be outlined in frosting for New Deal celebrations. Just cut out a cardboard replica and follow the outline with the pastry tube.

Today's Recipe

Oyster Cocktail, Serving 4

- ½ pint oysters
- 4 tablespoons chili sauce
- 2 tablespoons catsup
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon horseradish
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon paprika
- 4 lemon slices

Chill oysters, carefully inspect them and remove shells. Line small glass cups with lettuce and add oysters. Top with lemon slices. Mix and chill remaining ingredients and serve with oysters.

Annual J-Hop Attended By 1,050 Couples

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP) Ten hundred and fifty couples danced tonight at the annual University of Michigan J-Hop in the intramural sports building.

The huge gymnasium was made over for the occasion in a maize and blue and silver motif. Over the heads of the dancers was a canopied ceiling which hung down in folds of several shades of pastel blue. Down the sides of the ballroom hung blue and silver curtains which extended to the openings of booths lining all four walls.

The entire decorative design provided a modernistic setting. The dome effect of the ceiling and walls was set off with touches of yellow over the dark blues. The two platforms for the dance orchestras were elevated about six feet.

Novel lighting effects were produced. The lights were suspended from the ceiling with long silver cords and hung so their rays reflected from huge silver discs to all parts of the ballroom. The booths were lighted by floor lamps and identified by large silver letters giving the Greek symbols of each fraternity. Carl B. Marr of Detroit designed the decorations.

Philip Singleton, of Detroit, and his guest, Miss Ann Timmons, also of Detroit, led the grand march which formed shortly before midnight while the massed orchestras played "The Victors" and a medley of other college marches.

The co-ed members of the hop committee, Miss Ann Dunbar of Gallipolis, Ohio, and Ruth Kaser of Aurora, Ill., were escorted by Harold Beecher, Jr., of Pottsville, Pa., and Richard Schumo of Hamburg, Pa., respectively.

Other committee members and their guests included Robert Kraft and Jane Ann Stabler, both of Lansing; Carl Marr, Detroit, and Doris Otter, Bloomfield Hills; Lawrence Wines, Detroit, and Marjorie Hennigar, East Tawas; John C. Garrels, Jr., Grosse Isle, and Valerie Smith, Detroit; Charles Hewitt, Muskegon, and Marian McDougal, Harvey, Ill.; Donald Cook, Escanaba, and Gertrude Jean, Grand Rapids, and James Eberly, Three Rivers, and Jane Brucker, Mansfield, Ohio.

"Pinafore" Matinee Is Enjoyed by Students, Presentation Monday

"H. M. S. Pinafore," Gilbert and Sullivan's light opera, which has delighted audiences the world over since its merry melodies were first produced, was greatly to the liking of a student audience which attended its matinee performance Friday.

The opera, the presentation of the Escanaba high school music department, will be given Monday evening at the W. W. Oliver Memorial auditorium, and judging from the matinee, the audience Monday evening, which undoubtedly will be a capacity one, will enjoy an evening of the best of entertainment.

The present Escanaba high school production of "Pinafore," and it will be recalled the opera was given some years ago at the old Peterson Opera House, is well staged, and its cast, including both principals and choruses, is excellent.

The principals, from the attractive, pensive Josephine, whose love has been given to a "common sailor," charming "Buttercup," the proud Captain, the imposing Sir Joseph, his lovely first cousin, the hero, Ralph, and his mates, down to the misshapen "Dead Eye Dick," give good characterizations and sing beautifully.

Their solos, and group numbers are enjoyable, and the support of the choruses and of the opera orchestra is unusually fine.

Add to this pretty dances and attractive costuming which are also features of the production.

The presentation Monday evening will begin promptly at 8 o'clock, and reservation of tickets which opened earlier in the week, is being handled by the junior high school office.

The opera is under the direction of R. P. Bowers, Miss Genevieve Sedlock and Frank Karas of the music department, and these three are being assisted by a group of teachers and of students in charge of special features.

Conference On Bible Teachings Opens On Monday

Announcement was made on Friday of completed plans for the Bible Conference which will be conducted jointly by the Calvary and First Baptist churches, beginning Monday evening and continuing through Friday.

Rev. John A. Ross of Petoskey, an able speaker, who has conducted Bible conferences in various cities, will deliver the sermons, using a large chart to illustrate various points of his subject. The Calvary String band will play at the meetings and there will be special singing.

The afternoon meetings will be held at the First Baptist church building, at 2:30 o'clock, the first one on Tuesday.

The evening meetings, beginning with the opening of the conference Monday night, will be at Calvary Baptist church and will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

The conference will follow the theme: "The Claims Jesus Made for Himself." An open forum with discussion and questions will follow each meeting.

Everyone, regardless of religious beliefs, is cordially invited to attend the conference meetings. There is no admission or registration charge, but free-will offerings will be taken.

Rev. John A. Ross of Petoskey, an able speaker, who has conducted Bible conferences in various cities, will deliver the sermons, using a large chart to illustrate various points of his subject. The Calvary String band will play at the meetings and there will be special singing.

The afternoon meetings will be held at the First Baptist church building, at 2:30 o'clock, the first one on Tuesday.

The evening meetings, beginning with the opening of the conference Monday night, will be at Calvary Baptist church and will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

The conference will follow the theme: "The Claims Jesus Made for Himself." An open forum with discussion and questions will follow each meeting.

Everyone, regardless of religious beliefs, is cordially invited to attend the conference meetings. There is no admission or registration charge, but free-will offerings will be taken.

Browns Toppled by Inlands; Two-Game Lead to Flivvers

The Fords took a two-game hold on first place in the city basketball league race as a result of Thursday evening's games which saw them administering a 56-26 beating to the Nortons while the Inlands scored an upset by defeating the Browns, 30-27. The Inlands, by virtue of their victory went into a second place tie with the Browns.

In the opening game the Nortons grabbed the lead from the start, but the Fords came back with a rush in the second period to leave the final issue without doubt. By sinking 27 field goals, the Fords established a record for the season. Wassberg, Dugan and Oak, the first two named with 12 points and the latter with 11, lead the attack for the winners. Eldon Norton, however, with seven field goals, was the outstanding scorer of the game.

Starting with an attack that couldn't be denied the Inlands piled up an eight point lead in the first quarter and added another point in the second. The third quarter was played on even terms. A desperate Brown rally in the final stanza was just short of tying the count. Bergman proved to be the star on offense for the Browns while the Inland scoring was fairly well divided.

Remell Collects 265 At Brault's

Vic Remell displaced Malcolm Nelson on the Brault alley honor roll this week when he smashed the maples for a 262 count. Nelson, who held the last position on the roll, had chalked up a 262 game.

Remell started his record breaking game with three spares and then started his ball working into the pocket for eight consecutive strikes. He collected nine pins on his first ball in the final frame.

Miss Maxine LaPonsie, who has been spending several weeks here with relatives, has returned to her home in Iron Mountain. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur La Ponsie and son, James, motored here to accompany her home and remained over the week-end as guests at the home of Mrs. Ida Hollenbeck.

NAHMA NEWS

Nahma—Mrs. Ann Fleming spent the week-end at Marquette where she attended a meeting of school superintendents held in that city.

Charles E. Good returned Monday morning from Chicago where he spent the week-end.

The Nahma Girl Scouts will sell valentines at the clubhouse Friday evening. There will also be a fish ing pond and a home-made candy booth. Everyone is invited to attend. The proceeds will be used in the 1934 camp fund.

Miss Nora Fleming spent last week-end as the guest of Mrs. George A. McGeeghan at Marquette.

Miss Georgia Zanke was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Jesse Bryson at Escanaba last week-end.

Mrs. John Sommers is seriously ill at her home here.

H. J. Pettigrew of Oconto, Wis., is spending a few days at Nahma.

Finds Whereabouts Of Brother Thought Dead Since '26 Flood

A silence of eight years was broken this week when John I. Bellaire, local merchant, received word from his brother, Harold Bellaire, who was believed to have met with a fatal accident during the Miami flood of 1926. Harold, an employee of the White Motor Car company, is now residing in Arcadia Park, Dallas, Texas.

Harold's whereabouts became known when he wrote a letter to Levi Miller, president of a bank in Shipsewana, Indiana, where the Bellaires formerly resided, asking for a recommendation in order that he might procure a surety bond necessary for his advancement in the firm's employ.

Mr. Miller, knowing that his family had believed him to be dead, wrote a letter to Harold's sister, Mrs. Mary Fetch, of White Pigeon, Michigan, informing her of the disclosure. John Bellaire was informed of the incident through his sister and immediately wrote to the White company asking for his brother's address. Mr. Bellaire received a short note from his brother this week, but which did not explain his failure for making contact with his family.

Harold Bellaire was believed to have met with misfortune when the body of his companion, identified by a United States army tag, was found at the site of the flood, and no further word was heard from Harold.

The missing man was an instructor in aviation at the Great Lakes training station during the World War and had also been employed as an engineer for an automobile manufacturing firm.

New Ruling Makes All Hog Producers Open to Payments

Regardless of the size of their past hog production average, all hog producers now may qualify for hog reduction payments by reducing their hog litter average and production of hogs for market by not less than 25 per cent, according to a new ruling by Dr. A. G. Black, chief of the corn-hog section.

In cases where the litter average is less than four, this will mean that the contracting producer will reduce by one litter even though this will constitute more than a 25 per cent reduction from the litter base. In cases where the contracting producer's corn acreage is less than the minimum requirement of 10 acres, he will reduce hog production only and will receive hog reduction payments, but must agree not to increase his corn acreage over his average and he is not eligible to receive corn reduction payments.

A previous ruling specified that if the 1932-33 litter average was less than three, the party signing the contract was not required to reduce hog production in 1934, and in any event was not eligible to receive any hog reduction payment under the contract.

Farmers Interested

The change in ruling was made in consideration of an unexpected interest in the program among farmers producing an average of less than three litters of pigs per year, and to give these farmers an opportunity to share in the proceeds of the processing tax which is to be collected on the slaughtering of all hogs for market, regardless of by whom sold.

At the same time, Dr. Black announced a new regulation exempting farmers from payment of the processing tax on hogs to the extent to which they sell or exchange (per marketing year) 300 pounds of hog products derived from hogs of their own raising which they have butchered, providing that the total volume of hog products so sold or exchanged does not exceed 1,000 pounds per marketing year. When the volume of hog products so sold or exchanged exceeds 1,000 pounds, the producer loses his exemption.

M. H. S. Faculty to Provide Opposition For Varsity Cagers

In an attempt to put a stop to financial losses in recent high school basketball games, male members of the high school faculty, believing themselves to be an attraction worthy of more than ordinary note, will tackle the high school varsity in one of the games of a scheduled twin bill here next Friday evening. The Cooks high school team will provide the opposition for the green and white varsity in the other battle.

Local fans will have an opportunity to see such faculty celebrities as A. F. Hall, R. H. Wilson, Stan Carlyon, Carol Olson, Wayne Martin, John Kelly, and Oscar Wassberg, disport themselves on the floor in the regalia to be displayed by the tutors' squad.

Celebrate Birthdays

Rev. and Mrs. S. T. Bottrell were pleasantly surprised at their home Thursday evening by the official board members of the Methodist church, their husbands and wives, the party being arranged in observance of their birthday anniversaries.

A program of music and readings was presented and Judge W. G. Stephens brought felicitations for the group. An unidentified person called by telephone and sang "Happy Birthday to You."

The remainder of the evening was spent informally and a delightful lunch was served. The table center piece was formed with two birthday cakes.

Rev. and Mrs. Bottrell were the recipients of many useful gifts.

Scout Notice—All Boy Scouts in the city are urged to meet at the Legion cottage this morning at 11 o'clock to listen to the address of President Roosevelt to the Scouts of the nation.

MOST advertising reaches people. Whether it's always the right kind of people is another story. The Bibulous Bills and Logy Joes who fish through the junk piles may want the goods advertised in some "throw-away"—but their wants don't mean a thing to the cash register.

On the other hand take a newspaper. When a woman reads it she's news-hungry. In the mood to listen,to learn—and if sold then and there—to buy!

Finally, take the Daily Press. Pretty near 8,000 copies a day, full of news, features and advertising, go home—to be read, discussed and decided on at leisure—and acted upon by men and women with money to spend for merchandise that might just as well be yours.

The Fords took a two-game hold on first place in the city basketball league race as a result of Thursday evening's games which saw them administering a 56-26 beating to the Nortons while the Inlands scored an upset by defeating the Browns, 30-27. The Inlands, by virtue of their victory went into a second place tie with the Browns.

In the opening game the Nortons grabbed the lead from the start, but the Fords came back with a rush in the second period to leave the final issue without doubt. By sinking 27 field goals, the Fords established a record for the season. Wassberg, Dugan and Oak, the first two named with 12 points and the latter with 11, lead the attack for the winners. Eldon Norton, however, with seven field goals, was the outstanding scorer of the game.

Starting with an attack that couldn't be denied the Inlands piled up an eight point lead in the first quarter and added another point in the second. The third quarter was played on even terms. A desperate Brown rally in the final stanza was just short of tying the count. Bergman proved to be the star on offense for the Browns while the Inland scoring was fairly well divided.

New Ruling Makes All Hog Producers Open to Payments

Regardless of the size of their past hog production average, all hog producers, now may qualify for hog reduction payments by reducing their hog litter average and production of hogs for market by not less than 25 per cent, according to a new ruling by Dr. A. G. Black, chief of the corn-hog section.

In cases where the litter average is less than four, this will mean that the contracting producer will reduce by one litter even though this will constitute more than a 25 per cent reduction from the litter base. In cases where the contracting producer's corn acreage is less than the minimum requirement of 10 acres, he will reduce hog production only and will receive hog reduction payments, but must agree not to increase his corn acreage over his average and he is not eligible to receive corn reduction payments.

A previous ruling specified that if the 1932-33 litter average was less than three, the party signing the contract was not required to reduce hog production in 1934, and in any event was not eligible to receive any hog reduction payment under the contract.

Farmers Interested

The change in ruling was made in consideration of an unexpected interest in the program among farmers producing an average of less than three litters of pigs per year, and to give these farmers an opportunity to share in the proceeds of the processing tax which is to be collected on the slaughtering of all hogs for market, regardless of by whom sold.

At the same time, Dr. Black announced a new regulation exempting farmers from payment of the processing tax on hogs to the extent to which they sell or exchange (per marketing year) 300 pounds of hog products derived from hogs of their own raising which they have butchered, providing that the total volume of hog products so sold or exchanged does not exceed 1,000 pounds per marketing year. When the volume of hog products so sold or exchanged exceeds 1,000 pounds, the producer loses his exemption.

M. H. S. Faculty to Provide Opposition For Varsity Cagers

In an attempt to put a stop to financial losses in recent high school basketball games, male members of the high school faculty, believing themselves to be an attraction worthy of more than ordinary note, will tackle the high school varsity in one of the games of a scheduled twin bill here next Friday evening. The Cooks high school team will provide the opposition for the green and white varsity in the other battle.

Local fans will have an opportunity to see such faculty celebrities as A. F. Hall, R. H. Wilson, Stan Carlyon, Carol Olson, Wayne Martin, John Kelly, and Oscar Wassberg, disport themselves on the floor in the regalia to be displayed by the tutors' squad.

Celebrate Birthdays

Rev. and Mrs. S. T. Bottrell were pleasantly surprised at their home Thursday evening by the official board members of the Methodist church, their husbands and wives, the party being arranged in observance of their birthday anniversaries.

A program of music and readings was presented and Judge W. G. Stephens brought felicitations for the group. An unidentified person called by telephone and sang "Happy Birthday to You."

The remainder of the evening was spent informally and a delightful lunch was served. The table center piece was formed with two birthday cakes.

Rev. and Mrs. Bottrell were the recipients of many useful gifts.

Bridge Club

Mrs. Henry Nelson was hostess to the members of her bridge club Thursday afternoon entertaining five club members and three guests.

Prizes in the afternoon's contests were awarded to Mrs. George Matthews, high, and Mrs. Frank Lasich, low. Dainty refreshments were served at tables decorated in the Valentine motif.

Wedding

Word has been received here of the recent marriage of Miss Martha Cutler, of Dewitt, Mich., to Clarence Day, of East Lansing.

Mrs. Day is the daughter of Kenneth Cutler of this city, and a former resident of Thompson. She attended the local high school until moving to Dewitt two years ago.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Joint Party—The Legionnaires and Auxiliary members are entertaining at a joint party Monday, Feb. 12, in the Legion cottage. Features of the evening will include cards, dancing and refreshments. Each member is invited to ask husband, wife or a guest to the party and each couple is allowed to invite one other couple. Although the party hours begin at 8 o'clock, those who wish to attend the B. and P. W. show may attend the party after the close of the vaudeville.

Scout Notice—All Boy Scouts in the city are urged to meet at the Legion cottage this morning at 11 o'clock to listen to the address of President Roosevelt to the Scouts of the nation.

MOST advertising reaches people. Whether it's always the right kind of people is another story. The Bibulous Bills and Logy Joes who fish through the junk piles may want the goods advertised in some "throw-away"—but their wants don't mean a thing to the cash register.

On the other hand take a newspaper. When a woman reads it she's news-hungry. In the mood to listen, to learn—and if sold then and there—to buy!

Finally, take the Daily Press. Pretty near 8,000 copies a day, full of news, features and advertising, go home—to be read, discussed and decided on at leisure—and acted upon by men and women with money to spend for merchandise that might just as well be yours.

Work Suspended; Weather Too Cold

Work was suspended yesterday on outside CWA projects on account of the intense cold, and other outside workers suffered from the stinging weather. One fire was due to the cold when the department was called at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning to the home of Phillip Mercier of Brown's addition to extinguish a blaze that started when Mr. Mercier was attempting to thaw a water pipe with fire. Weather Observer Albert Oas reports temperatures of 14 below zero Thursday night at 8 o'clock and 23 below zero during the early part of yesterday morning and rising to 10 below zero at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

BASKETBALL GAME

The Munising Bonds are promising basketball fans a real battle when they clash with the Negaunee Legion at the Mather gymnasium Saturday evening at 7:30. Last week at Negaunee the Bonds were defeated 23-22 in a game which was undecided until the final whistle. With both teams determined to win Saturday night's encounter should be another sizzler. In Johnson, pivot man for the Legion, Negaunee has a real threat. He is big, fast and can toss baskets from any angle. The Bonds feel confident of winning if they can stop him. The game will be officiated by A. K. Jackson, former coach of Munising high school.

TALK OF PARTY REALINGMENTS

By KIRKE SIMPSON

Washington (AP)—The much talked of party realignment toward which President Roosevelt appeared to be driving in his election campaign in '32 remains a matter of political speculation as his first year in office nears its close.

It is still talked about. It shows itself in the make-up of the Roosevelt cabinet with its Roosevelt-republican members. It has its bearing on many Roosevelt appointments about which democratic regulars in congress fume at intervals.

No clue as to what may happen before the next presidential year to regroup the major political divisions in the country under more or less definite liberal and conservative banners is to be found from what any of the republican and democratic leaders have to say. With the 1934 congressional primaries only a few weeks away, there is little to indicate that the question will have any nation-wide application next November.

Republicans Active

Efforts to crystallize issues for that campaign are to be noted in republican activities like the Topeka speech of former Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills and the formation of various republican groups here and in New York to revivify party endeavors. To what extent these represent intra-party moves over presidential nomination rivalries for 1936 rather than an effort to write a party platform for the elections this year is still conjecture.

Wide difference of opinion among republican leaders as to what the party stand should be toward irregulars who deserted to the Roosevelt banner in 1932 is apparent. Mills' tariff plank, the big surprise of his Topeka speech, looms as a gesture toward the irregulars. Senator McNary's policy as party leader in that body reflects an effort to reunite republican factions. Minority Leader Snell in the house talks of the necessity of a more liberal party trend for the same purpose.

* * *

Against that stand the public utterances recently of such republican figures as former Senator Watson of Indiana, calling for uncompromising old-fashioned republican doctrines. The same thing has marked the handful of republican national committee pamphlets issued since the Roosevelt inauguration and containing sharp criticism of all of the Roosevelt recovery legislation.

Behind this is the 1936 enigma of former President Hoover, still titular head of his party.

Will Irregulars Turn?

Throughout the first Roosevelt year, the democratic President has had the continuous support of virtually the whole republican irregular bloc in Senate and House.

Democratic aid to Senator Johnson in California in his coming re-election campaign may portend a more definite development of the Roosevelt effort to build up a permanent majority behind his policies. It may exhibit itself in other states like Wisconsin and New Mexico.

The republican irregulars in the senate lost their balance-of-power position in the democratic sweep in '32. It is possible they may regain it at some future date. If they see any possible prospect of capturing their own party organization or of creating a third party movement, they do not say so.

The congressional elections this fall may determine the course most of them will take when the issues of the 1936 campaign become clear.

HAND BADLY MANGLED

James Fromm, employed on highway construction work between here and Sand Point, had his hand badly smashed Thursday afternoon. He was working on a truck with a hydraulic dump when he noticed that the power shaft had become obstructed and attempted to start it. He was wearing a pair of woolen mittens and when he touched the shaft the wool stuck to it and pulled his hand between the frame of the truck and shaft which drew his hand in where the obstruction was removed. Further injury was averted by Frank Waskawski, who shut off the motor in time to save his hand and arm.

MUNISING BRIEFS

The Jolly Thirteen was entertained by Mrs. Ira Weir Thursday evening at her home on Onota street. Three tables of five hundred were played, first prize being won by Mrs. Elson Carberry and second by Mrs. Isabelle Fulcher.

A shower was given Mrs. Charles Cook Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Arthur Lamouria on Hemlock street by Mrs. J. Tearnan, Mrs. J. LaCombe and Mrs. Lamouria. Ten tables of cards were played. First prize in five hundred was won by Mrs. George St. Martin and second prize by Mrs. Henry Graham. First prize in pedro was won by Mrs. Emil Seaglund, second by Mrs. Douglas Richards and draw prize by Mrs. George Davis. Mrs. Cook received many beautiful gifts.

Mrs. Ralph Sloss and Mrs. H. D. Switzer were hostesses to a group of women at the Gitche Gumme tavern Thursday evening for the purpose of organizing a club among the wives of men connected with the forestry department. The new club will be called the Forestry Wives Contract Bridge club, and will meet at the Gitche Gumme tavern every other Tuesday. The next meeting will be on Feb. 20 and Mrs. Marcel Clark and Mrs. Marion Eckrose will be the hostesses. The members of this new club are: Mesdames Vera Hoffman, Janice Gerard, Marjory Allen, Margaret Schall, Irma Peterson, Kathryn McKennen, June Wessen, Margaret Morley, Marion Eckrose, Hazel Switzer, Caroline Sloss, Marcel Clark and Austin Leiphart.

Mrs. Charles Everett entertained the Sorosis club at her home on Chocolay street Thursday evening. Contract bridge was played and prizes were won by Mrs. George Depew, Mrs. Mellen, Miss Mary Genry and guest prize to Mrs. George Everett.

GLADSTONE

TOM BOLGER MANAGER — PHONE 32 RIALTO BLDG.

Former Gladstone Soo Line Employe Given Promotion

D. W. Kelly, formerly of Gladstone, has been named as trainmaster of the Portland Electric Power company interurban lines in Oregon, it was learned here this week by M. J. Magoon, chief dispatcher for the Gladstone division of the Soo Line railroad. Kelly's appointment to this post came on Feb. 5.

Kelly was for a number of years at the train dispatcher's office of the Soo Line here under Mr. Magoon. Of recent years he has been in Oregon where he was chief dispatcher for the interurban lines. Last summer Kelly was prominently mentioned as being slated for the position of general manager of the Alaska railroad which is operated by the federal government.

Mr. Jacobs of Adrian, Mich., visited on Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Strickler, Lake Shore Drive.

THEATRES

Another double bill attraction will be shown at the Rialto theatre today. The first feature is a comedy, "Horse Play," while the second is the thriller, "Skyway."

The comedy co-stars Slim Summerville and Andy Devine, teamed together for the first time. The tale of "Horse Play" might well be called the "tale" of a horse, and now, through the mad maneuverings of Slim and Andy, two western cowboys, the animal is finally presented amid royal splendor—through a maze of roaring circumstances—to a girl who is secretly the apple of Slim's bashful eye.

A hot-tempered aviator is the hero of "Skyway," and while his fiery methods land him in one uncomfortable situation after another, he manages to crawl out again by indulging in another fit of temper. Even the girl he marries loves him because he's a born scrapper and doesn't see any reason to feel sorry about it. He takes no stock in "peace conferences" and doesn't care who knows it.

Thermometer Hits 42 Degrees Below

While there is no official thermometer in Gladstone, readings on instruments in different parts of the city varied from around 30 to 42 below zero. While the temperature rose slightly during the day there was no break in the sub zero weather which had been expected yesterday.

GARDEN NEWS

Garden—Members of the G. Y. M. club will long remember the party held at Deer Lodge, about seven miles north of Garden, last Sunday. After a delicious turkey dinner, snow games were played. Many athletic feats were performed by John Potvin, after which he was glorified with a crown of snow. Those present included: Erma Boudreau, Earl Ross, Bebe Mellon, Bud Winters, Leola Farley, Clayton Prokop, Dorothy Gray, Erwin Belfy, Merle Farley, Henry Jacobsen, Meta Winter, John Potvin, Rita Boudreau, Ulysses Maynard, Carrie Mellon and Don Farley.

Miss Ermalyne Boudreau entertained the Teachers' Club Tuesday evening at her home. Five hundred was the feature game of the evening. Prizes were awarded to Dick Schram, Merle Farley and Mildred Deloria. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess. Those present included the Misses Dorothy Gray, Meta Winter, Mildred Deloria, Merle Farley and Ermalyne Boudreau, and Messrs. Frank Tebo, Dick Schram and Russell Skellenger.

Milton Farley who has been confined to his home for the past few days on account of illness, is now able to attend school.

CWA men are now busy at work on the South River school, Fairbanks township.

The G. Y. M. club was entertained by Miss Dorothy Gray on Thursday evening. A prize was awarded to Bebe Mellon. The evening was spent in literary work. All members were present. The next meeting will be at the home of Meta Winter.

Milton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farley, was sick Monday and Tuesday but was able to return to school Wednesday.

Guild members and friends were entertained at the home of Mrs. Joseph Farley Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Ossie Hazen will be the hostess of the next meeting, which will be held Thursday afternoon, Feb. 22.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dotsch and Carlyle Hennessey motored to Escanaba Wednesday.

Attendance Drops At Night School

Attendance has dropped considerably since the organization of night classes here several weeks ago. The decreases have forced consolidation of several of the commercial classes, the ruling being that where attendance gets below a certain point the class must be discontinued.

Gladstone Firemen Called Out Twice

Gladstone firemen got another workout in sub-zero weather yesterday morning when they were called about 6:30 to the Buckmaster home in the Buckeye to extinguish a chimney fire, and several hours later to the John Wahowiak shoe shop where fire had started in paper and rags when attempts were made to thaw frozen water pipes.

W. E. Wright spent several days in Sault Ste. Marie this week visiting with friends.

Uniting East and West in Oriental Rites

Board Considers Routine Matters At Regular Meet

Various routine matters were taken up Wednesday evening during a regular meeting of the Gladstone board of education. It was brought to the attention of the board that sufficient seals have been sold in this city in past years to allow holding a tuberculosis clinic here in the school and the work was approved subject to all details in connection with the clinic being worked out satisfactorily.

A financial statement presented revealed that the problem is not a pressing one at this time as there is still sufficient funds to care for several months operation and additional funds are expected to be available before the present balance is exhausted.

A dental report submitted by Dr. H. I. Miller of the Couzens Fund showed that some 239 children received attention between Oct. 23 and Jan. 10. Of this number all the work necessary was completed for 203 children.

Work Suspended; Weather Too Cold

Work was suspended yesterday on outside CWA projects on account of the intense cold, and other outside workers suffered from the stinging weather. One fire was due to the cold when the department was called at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning to the home of Phillip Mercier of Brown's addition to extinguish a blaze that started when Mr. Mercier was attempting to thaw a water pipe with fire. Weather Observer Albert Oas reports temperatures of 14 below zero Thursday night at 8 o'clock and 23 below zero during the early part of yesterday morning and rising to 10 below zero at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

BASKETBALL GAME

The Munising Bonds are promising basketball fans a real battle when they clash with the Negaunee Legion at the Mather gymnasium Saturday evening at 7:30. Last week at Negaunee the Bonds were defeated 23-22 in a game which was undecided until the final whistle. With both teams determined to win Saturday night's encounter should be another sizzler. ...n Johnson, pivot man for the Legion, Negaunee has a real threat. He is big, fast and can toss baskets from any angle. The Bonds feel confident of winning if they can stop him. The game will be officiated by A. K. Jackson, former coach of Munising high school.

HAND BADLY MANGLED

James Fromm, employed on highway construction work between here and Sand Point, had his hand badly smashed Thursday afternoon. He was working on a truck with a hydraulic dump when he noticed that the power shaft had become obstructed and attempted to start it. He was wearing a pair of woolen mittens and when he touched the shaft the wool stuck to it and pulled his hand between the frame of the truck and shaft which drew his hand in where the obstruction was removed. Further injury was averted by Frank Waskawski, who shut off the motor in time to save his hand and arm.

MUNISING BRIEFS

The Jolly Thirteen was entertained by Mrs. Ira Weir Thursday evening at her home on Onota street. Three tables of five hundred were played, first prize being won by Mrs. Elson Carberry and second by Mrs. Isabelle Fulcher.

A shower was given Mrs. Charles Cook Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Arthur Lamouria on Hemlock street by Mrs. J. Tearnan, Mrs. J. LaCombe and Mrs. Lamouria. Ten tables of cards were played. First prize in five hundred was won by Mrs. George St. Martin and second prize by Mrs. Henry Graham. First prize in pedro was won by Mrs. Emil Seaglund, second by Mrs. Douglas Richards and draw prize by Mrs. George Davis. Mrs. Cook received many beautiful gifts.

Mrs. Ralph Sloss and Mrs. H. D. Switzer were hostesses to a group of women at the Gitche Gumme tavern Thursday evening for the purpose of organizing a club among the wives of men connected with the forestry department. The new club will be called the Forestry Wives Contract Bridge club, and will meet at the Gitche Gumme tavern every other Tuesday. The next meeting will be on Feb. 20 and Mrs. Marcel Clark and Mrs. Marion Eckrose will be the hostesses. The members of this new club are: Mesdames Vera Hoffman, Janice Gerard, Marjory Allen, Margaret Schall, Irma Peterson, Kathryn McKennen, June Wessen, Margaret Morley, Marion Eckrose, Hazel Switzer, Caroline Sloss, Marcel Clark and Austin Leiphart.

Mrs. Charles Everett entertained the Sorosis club at her home on Chocolay street Thursday evening. Contract bridge was played and prizes were won by Mrs. George Depew, Mrs. Mellen, Miss Mary Genry and guest prize to Mrs. George Everett.

TALK OF PARTY REALINGMENTS

By KIRKE SIMPSON

Washington (AP)—The much talked of party realignment toward which President Roosevelt appeared to be driving in his election campaign in '32 remains a matter of political speculation as his first year in office nears its close.

It is still talked about. It shows itself in the make-up of the Roosevelt cabinet with its Roosevelt-republican members. It has its bearing on many Roosevelt appointments about which democratic regulars in congress fume at intervals.

No clue as to what may happen before the next presidential year to regroup the major political divisions in the country under more or less definite liberal and conservative banners is to be found from what any of the republican and democratic leaders have to say. With the 1934 congressional primaries only a few weeks away, there is little to indicate that the question will have any nation-wide application next November.

Republicans Active

Efforts to crystallize issues for that campaign are to be noted in republican activities like the Topeka speech of former Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills and the formation of various republican groups here and in New York to revivify party endeavors. To what extent these represent intra-party moves over presidential nomination rivalries for 1936 rather than an effort to write a party platform for the elections this year is still conjecture.

Wide difference of opinion among republican leaders as to what the party stand should be toward irregulars who deserted to the Roosevelt banner in 1932 is apparent. Mills' tariff plank, the big surprise of his Topeka speech, looms as a gesture toward the irregulars. Senator McNary's policy as party leader in that body reflects an effort to reunite republican factions. Minority Leader Snell in the house talks of the necessity of a more liberal party trend for the same purpose.

* * *

Against that stand the public utterances recently of such republican figures as former Senator Watson of Indiana, calling for uncompromising old-fashioned republican doctrines. The same thing has marked the handful of republican national committee pamphlets issued since the Roosevelt inauguration and containing sharp criticism of all of the Roosevelt recovery legislation.

Behind this is the 1936 enigma of former President Hoover, still titular head of his party.

Will Irregulars Turn?

Throughout the first Roosevelt year, the democratic President has had the continuous support of virtually the whole republican irregular bloc in Senate and House.

Democratic aid to Senator Johnson in California in his coming re-election campaign may portend a more definite development of the Roosevelt effort to build up a permanent majority behind his policies. It may exhibit itself in other states like Wisconsin and New Mexico.

The republican irregulars in the senate lost their balance-of-power position in the democratic sweep in '32. It is possible they may regain it at some future date. If they see any possible prospect of capturing their own party organization or of creating a third party movement, they do not say so.

The congressional elections this fall may determine the course most of them will take when the issues of the 1936 campaign become clear.

GLADSTONE

TOM BOLGER, MANAGER — PHONE 32, RIALTO BLDG.

Former Gladstone Soo Line Employe Given Promotion

D. W. Kelly, formerly of Gladstone, has been named as trainmaster of the Portland Electric Power company interurban lines in Oregon, it was learned here this week by M. J. Magoon, chief dispatcher for the Gladstone division of the Soo Line railroad. Kelly's appointment to this post came on Feb. 5.

Kelly was for a number of years at the train dispatcher's office of the Soo Line here under Mr. Magoon. Of recent years he has been in Oregon where he was chief dispatcher for the interurban lines. Last summer Kelly was prominently mentioned as being slated for the position of general manager of the Alaska railroad which is operated by the federal government.

Mr. Jacobs of Adrian, Mich., visited on Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Strickler, Lake Shore Drive.

THEATRES

Another double bill attraction will be shown at the Rialto theatre today. The first feature is a comedy, "Horse Play," while the second is the thriller, "Skyway."

The comedy co-stars Slim Summerville and Andy Devine, teamed together for the first time. The tale of "Horse Play" might well be called the "tale" of a horse, and now, through the mad maneuverings of Slim and Andy, two western cowboys, the animal is finally presented amid royal splendor—through a maze of roaring circumstances—to a girl who is secretly the apple of Slim's bashful eye.

A hot-tempered aviator is the hero of "Skyway," and while his fiery methods land him in one uncomfortable situation after another, he manages to crawl out again by indulging in another fit of temper. Even the girl he marries loves him because he's a born scrapper and doesn't see any reason to feel sorry about it. He takes no stock in "peace conferences" and doesn't care who knows it.

Thermometer Hits 42 Degrees Below

While there is no official thermometer in Gladstone, readings on instruments in different parts of the city varied from around 30 to 42 below zero. While the temperature rose slightly during the day there was no break in the sub zero weather which had been expected yesterday.

GARDEN NEWS

Garden—Members of the G. Y. M. club will long remember the party held at Deer Lodge, about seven miles north of Garden, last Sunday. After a delicious turkey dinner, snow games were played. Many athletic feats were performed by John Potvin, after which he was glorified with a crown of snow. Those present included: Erma Boudreau, Earl Ross, Bebe Mellon, Bud Winters, Leola Farley, Clayton Prokop, Dorothy Gray, Erwin Belfy, Merle Farley, Henry Jacobsen, Meta Winter, John Potvin, Rita Boudreau, Ulysses Maynard, Carrie Mellon and Don Farley.

Miss Ermalyne Boudreau entertained the Teachers' Club Tuesday evening at her home. Five hundred was the feature game of the evening. Prizes were awarded to Dick Schram, Merle Farley and Mildred Deloria. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess. Those present included the Misses Dorothy Gray, Meta Winter, Mildred Deloria, Merle Farley and Ermalyne Boudreau, and Messrs. Frank Tebo, Dick Schram and Russell Skellenger.

Milton Farley who has been confined to his home for the past few days on account of illness, is now able to attend school.

CWA men are now busy at work on the South River school, Fairbanks township.

The G. Y. M. club was entertained by Miss Dorothy Gray on Thursday evening. A prize was awarded to Bebe Mellon. The evening was spent in literary work. All members were present. The next meeting will be at the home of Meta Winter.

Milton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farley, was sick Monday and Tuesday but was able to return to school Wednesday.

Guild members and friends were entertained at the home of Mrs. Joseph Farley Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Ossie Hazen will be the hostess of the next meeting, which will be held Thursday afternoon, Feb. 22.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dotsch and Carlyle Hennessey motored to Escanaba Wednesday.

Attendance Drops At Night School

Attendance has dropped considerably since the organization of night classes here several weeks ago. The decreases have forced consolidation of several of the commercial classes, the ruling being that where attendance gets below a certain point the class must be discontinued.

Gladstone Firemen Called Out Twice

Gladstone firemen got another workout in sub-zero weather yesterday morning when they were called about 6:30 to the Buckmaster home in the Buckeye to extinguish a chimney fire, and several hours later to the John Wahowiak shoe shop where fire had started in paper and rags when attempts were made to thaw frozen water pipes.

W. E. Wright spent several days in Sault Ste. Marie this week visiting with friends.

Uniting East and West in Oriental Rites

CITY BRIEFS

Mrs. A. Banks has returned to her home in Sault Ste. Marie following a week's stay here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Medill, 1117 Dakota Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Moore will leave for Minneapolis Sunday evening to spend several days with Mr. and Mrs. Roland Cottle.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Soderman are the parents of a son born on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Potvin, 11 South Second street. Mrs. Soderman is the former Miss Noreen Potvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Potvin.

Miss Amy Danielson, who has been spending the week at the August Goodman home as the guest of her sister, Miss Doris Danielson, plans to return to Norway Sunday.

J. W. Gress of Rhinelander and F. E. Zweifel of Iron Mountain, A. and P. superintendent and assistent superintendent, respectively, were in town on Wednesday.

Mrs. August Goodman will return home today following a week's visit in McMillan with Mr. and Mrs. Myron Goodman and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Goodman.

Miss Dorothea Sohlberg, teacher at Bark River, will arrive this morning to spend the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Sohlberg.

Mrs. H. W. Colenso left Wednesday evening for Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., where she will visit for two weeks with her sister, Mrs. R. J. Tuxford.

Board Considers Routine Matters At Regular Meet

Various routine matters were taken up Wednesday evening during a regular meeting of the Gladstone board of education. It was brought to the attention of the board that sufficient seals have been sold in this city in past years to allow holding a tuberculosis clinic here in the school and the work was approved subject to all details in connection with the clinic being worked out satisfactorily.

A financial statement presented revealed that the problem is not a pressing one at this time as there is still sufficient funds to care for several months operation and additional funds are expected to be available before the presnt balanc is exhausted.

A dental report submitted by Dr. H. I. Miller of the Couzens Fund showed that some 239 children received attention between Oct. 23 and Jan. 10. Of this number all the work necessary was completed for 203 children.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Stocks went down today as traders anticipated the regulatory legislation prepared for them at Washington.

Texts of the president's message and the first bill were not made public until market here had closed, but Wall Street had a good idea of what the congressional measures contained and apparently viewed the whole program as one restricting "naked speculation." Shares had extreme losses of 1 to 5 points; this range was reduced to about 1 to 3 net, although prices on Pacific coast exchanges went somewhat under those here, markets there having had opportunity to study the actual proposals.

Stocks showed general declines, though some of the larger losses were in shares which had enjoyed the strongest markets during the recent boom. U. S. Smelting, Case, Allied Chemical and Union Pacific were down 4 to 5 before finding new buyers. Aircrafts again found heavy weather, while rails and leading industrials finished with numerous losses of 1 to around 3. Chrysler, which earned $2.78 a share last year against a deficit in 1932, yielded more than a point. The 25 cents quarterly dividend declared by this company's directors after the close compared with two payments of 50 cents each in the last six months, neither of which, however, had been designated as a "regular."

For the past several weeks there has been little interruption to the flow of favorable evidence on the industrial recovery, and today brought additions to the record. Retail and wholesale trade, Dun & Bradstreet reported, maintains its "consistent uptrend" and prospects become "more encouraging as the spring season approaches with its normal concomitant of increased employment and broadened industrial activity." All reports to the agency indicate that retail buying exceeds that of a year ago while a majority reveal "some gain over the previous week's good level."

(Associated Press Financial Writer)

Trading enthuisasm slackened perceptibly, transfers totaling only $15,717,000, par value, against $19,291,000 yesterday. It was the smallest aggregate for a full session since January 29. The average for 60 doemstic corporate issues eased two-tenths of a point.

The New York stock exchange reported that all listed bonds, as of February 1, had a market value of $36,263,747,352 as compared with $34,861,038,409 on January 1.

The recent speculative rail favorites declined a point or more, but a number of prime investment carrier issues were slightly higher. Various secondary utilities were also somewhat lower, although such issues as those of American Telephone and Consolidated Gas were unchanged to fractionally higher. There was an exceptionally large turnover of American Waterworks 5s at a loss of 2½ points of their more than 6 point gain of yesterday. Some of the industrials sagged, but not too seriously.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN
Minneapolis, Feb. 9. Wheat, No. 1 northern, 87 3-4 to 90 3-4; No. 1 red durum, 84 to 86; May, 85 3-4; July, 85 3-4; September, 85½.
Corn, No. 3 yellow, 41½ to 43.
Oats, No. 3 white, 33¼ to 34¼.
Flax, No. 1, 1.86 3-4 to 1.89 3-4.
Flour unchanged. Shipments 27,968.
Bran, 16.50 to 17.00.

New York, Feb. 9 (AP) Aggregate sales of 22 chain store systems for January amount to $194,229,445, an increase of 15.3 percent over a year ago. The December gain for the same companies, in comparison with the previous year, was 12.7 percent.

Bond offerings by New Hampshire and Maryland account for more than half of the $10,117,730 total of all state and municipal financing scheduled for next week, says the "Daily Bond Buyer." Maryland is offering a $3,000,000 issue of unemployment relief bonds and $192,000 general bonds on Tuesday, while New Hampshire will be in the market with $2,400,000 on Thursday.

Interstate Department Stores January sales totaled $1,084,777, up 23.7 percent from 1933. The gain in December was 6 percent.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

U. P. Briefs

MALPRACTICE SUIT SETTLED
Menominee—The $10,000 suit of Leo Duffrin of Stephenson against Dr. Karm C. Kerwell of Stephenson, alleging malpractice in the treatment of an eye injury, the only case listed for jury trial in the current term of Menominee County Circuit court was settled yesterday afternoon for $2,250.

A judgment in that amount was entered in the court records. Atty. John J. O'Hara represented Mr. Duffrin. The law firm of Douglas, Barbour, Desenberg and Purdy of Detroit represented Dr. Kerwell. No representative of the law firm appeared in court here. A consent judgment was negotiated in a long distance telephone conversation.

Mr. Duffrin sought treatment of Dr. Kerwell when a piece of steel entered his eye in an accident. After several weeks of treatment he visited another oculist, who located the steel splinter and removed the eye.

JACOBS NAMED MANAGER
Iron Mountain Appointment of Sam Jacobs, former inspector, as manager of the Iron Mountain state liquor store, with James Laughlin as assistant manager and Henry Anderson as cashier was announced here yesterday by Marvin L. Coon, of Escanaba, manager in the upper peninsula for the liquor control commission.

CANNOT MAKE DEAL
Iron Mountain With receipt of word late this afternoon from the Oliver Iron Mining company that serious doubt exists as to the city's ability and right to purchase or lease the company's Quinnesec falls power plant, and rejection of the city's proposal to leave settlement of the legal issue to expert bond attorneys, city officials gathered to outline their next move in the strenuous effort being made to have operations resumed at the Chapin mine.

The attitude of the mining company was expressed in a letter received from its general counsel, Elmer F. Blu, of Duluth, and was regarded as virtually closing the door on further negotiations unless the city through a new maneuver already partly outlined is successful in carrying on.

INSPECTS MINE PROPERTIES
Iron River E. E. Hunner, of Duluth, general manager of the M. A. Hanna company, which operates several mines in the west side, returned to Duluth yesterday, after spending a few days here on his annual inspection tour. In company with G. M. Cannon, Michigan manager, he inspected all the properties.

The mine officials reported that negotiations for the acquisition of the Isabella Dober Duff property are progressing, but that time is necessary because the fee owners live in various parts of the United States.

The officials indicated that the Hanna company will not operate the Dober immediately, although pumping will be continued.

Land Loans Over Million In A Day

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 8 (AP) For the sixth time in the history of the Federal Land Bank here, loans made in one day have passed the million dollar mark.

In the largest day's business since January 11, loans aggregating $1,018,200 were made Wednesday to 171 farmers of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Michigan.

"Pretty little thing," Marko commented idly. "Lovely eyes. And the most graceful hands in the world."

Lila didn't like this. Marko would have to be taught (later, of course) that you didn't say things like that to one woman about an absent member of the sex.

"Really?" Her languor was distictly forbidding.

She glanced about her cautiously. "I'll go on without you," she whispered. "Won't do to be seen together just before news of the break leaks out. You never knew when one of those awful column writers is lurking about. They seem to be everywhere."

Lila went through the marble and gilt foyer alone, very slim and elegant in her pale costume, the fur making a dark background for her lovely face. Eyes were turned as she passed and admiring glances followed her. She enjoyed every bit of it. When she was Mrs. Marko Broughton she would have more of it. Admiration, adulation from all sides.

She went back to the apartment in a taxi, although the long greyhound car just beyond the awninged entrance was hers for a beckoning finger. Some day soon that car would be hers and the squarejawed Finn at the wheel would take her orders.

"To Tiffany's," she could imagine herself, speaking through the silver tube, command quietly.

She could even see the rings that would be laid out for her choice emeralds, rubies, star sapphires. There would be narrow bracelets fashioned of stones clearer than clear water . . .

Meantime she fumbled in the pale leather bag for change. The taxi man thanked her for the tip and she went swiftly into the foyer. It would be lonely tonight. Marko dared not call and she had made no arrangements to dine with anyone. She shivered at the prospect of a solitary dinner.

She rang up several people she knew, feverishly and in haste. Freddy, Chloe and Dick, Van Ness. One was engaged and the others were out of town.

On a sudden impulse she dialled Gypsy's number. It would be a lark, she reflected, to take pot luck with the Weavers this night, see how the other half lived.

But the bell rang dismally, rang and rang and rang. Gypsy's little nest was plainly deserted. There was trouble, real trouble that late April afternoon in the house of Weaver.

Prices Ease Off On Curb Market; Recover At Close

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—The curb market closed heavy today following the renewal of selling in virtually all departments of the list. Prices eased off quietly in the forenoon but pressure increased in the late dealings. A slight recovery occurred in the final minutes of trading.

Utilities and a number of industrial favorites were marked down sharply. Aluminum Company of America and General Tire & Rubber dropped 5 points each. Gulf Oil lost 3½ while other petroleum shares yielded fractionally. Aircraft shares were in further supply. Pan American Airways sagged more than 2 and Waco eased nearly a point.

Among the power group, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore and Columbia Gas & Electric preferred lost more than 2 each. Electric Bond and Share conceded nearly as much and American Gas & Electric and American Light & Power around a point each. Other stocks dipping about a point or more included Parker Rust Proof, Newmont, Hiram Walker and Lake Shore. Glen Alden Coal was an isolated steady spot.

Transfers approximated 498,000 shares, about the same as yesterday.

The playful antics of the porpoise prove that it is not a fish, but a mammal; fish do not play.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Stocks went down today as traders anticipated the regulatory legislation prepared for them at Washington.

Texts of the president's message and the first bill were not made public until market here had closed, but Wall Street had a good idea of what the congressional measures contained and apparently viewed the whole program as one restricting "naked speculation." Shares had extreme losses of 1 to 5 points; this range was reduced to about 1 to 3 net, although prices on Pacific coast exchanges went somewhat under those here, markets there having had opportunity to study the actual proposals.

Stocks showed general declines, though some of the larger losses were in shares which had enjoyed the strongest markets during the recent boom. U. S. Smelting, Case, Allied Chemical and Union Pacific were down 4 to 5 before finding new buyers. Aircrafts again found heavy weather, while rails and leading industrials finished with numerous losses of 1 to around 3. Chrysler, which earned $2.78 a share last year against a deficit in 1932, yielded more than a point. The 25 cents quarterly dividend declared by this company's directors after the close compared with two payments of 50 cents each in the last six months, neither of which, however, had been designated as a "regular."

For the past several weeks there has been little interruption to the flow of favorable evidence on the industrial recovery, and today brought additions to the record. Retail and wholesale trade, Dun & Bradstreet reported, maintains its "consistent uptrend" and prospects become "more encouraging as the spring season approaches with its normal concomitant of increased employment and broadened industrial activity." All reports to the agency indicate that retail buying exceeds that of a year ago while a majority reveal "some gain over the previous week's good level."

CHICAGO POTATOES
Chicago, Feb. 9—Potatoes 53, on track 266, total U. S. shipments 746; supplies moderate; no trading account of weather, operators not opening cars, market nominally unchanged.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK
Chicago, Feb. 9—Hogs 20,000, including 2,000 direct; weights below 250 lbs., 10 to 20 lower, others steady; most 170 to 200 lbs., 4.65 downward; early top 4.80; 210 to 300 lbs., and light lights, 4.00 to 4.60; packing sows, 3.25 to 3.40; shippers took 6,000; estimated holdover 2,000.

Cattle 3,000, calves 800; steady to strong on most killing classes, especially on lower grade light weight steers and cows, comparatively few better grade fed steers in run; best yearlings, 6.90; medium weights around 6.25; yearling heifers, 6.00; most lower grade light steers, 4.50 to 5.25; these 25 to 50 higher for the week.

Sheep 8,000; fat lambs closing active, strong to 15 higher; top 9.50 paid freely by all interests; ewes steady; top 5.00; slaughter sheep and lambs: Lambs, 90 lbs. down, good and choice, 8.75 to 9.50; common and medium, 7.00 to 8.75; 90 to 98 lbs., good and choice, 8.25 to 9.50; ewes, 90 to 150 lbs., good and choice, 3.75 to 5.00; all weights, common and medium, 2.75 to 4.25.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Feb. 9—Downswings of values predominated in grain markets today influenced by likelihood that drought districts would receive moisture relief tonight and because of stock market unsettlement.

Much selling of grains was associated with expected bearish results of a special message from President Roosevelt to congress relative to federal government control of stock exchanges. Wheat and other cereals gave evidence also of disturbing effects from proposed legislative measures which would tighten restrictions on grain exchange dealings.

Wheat closed nervous at almost the day's bottom prices, 3-4 to 1¼ cents under yesterday's finish, corn 5-8 to 1 1-8 down, oats at 3-4 to 1 cent decline, and provisions varying from 5 cents setback to a rise of 7 cents.

Corn and oats followed the downward trend of wheat. Shipping call here for corn was extremely light.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE
New York, Feb. 9—Foreign exchange steady. Great Britain in dollars, others in cents. Great Britain demand, 5.02, cables, 5.02; 60-day bills, 5.01; France demand, 6.44, cables, 6.44; Italy demand, 8.58, cables, 8.58.

Demands: Belgium, 22.80; Germany, 38.65; Holland, 65.75; Norway, 25.25; Sweden, 25.92; Denmark, 22.45; Switzerland, 31.65; Spain, 18.27; Portugal, 4.60n; Greece, .93n; Poland, 18.70n; Czechoslovakia, 4.86n; Jugoslavia, 2.28n; Austria, 18.55n; Rumania, 1.01n; Argentine, 33.45n; Brazil, 8.58n; Tokyo, 29.87½; Shanghai, 34.87½; Hongkong, 38.12½; Mexico City (silver peso), 28.00; Montreal in New York, 99.12½; New York in Montreal, 100.87½.

Trading enthuisasm slackened perceptibly, transfers totaling only $15,717,000, par value, against $19,291,000 yesterday. It was the smallest aggregate for a full session since January 29. The average for 60 doemstic corporate issues eased two-tenths of a point.

The New York stock exchange reported that all listed bonds, as of February 1, had a market value of $36,263,747,352 as compared with $34,861,038,409 on January 1.

The recent speculative rail favorites declined a point or more, but a number of prime investment carrier issues were slightly higher. Various secondary utilities were also somewhat lower, although such issues as those of American Telephone and Consolidated Gas were unchanged to fractionally higher. There was an exceptionally large turnover of American Waterworks 5s at a loss of 2½ points of their more than 6-point gain of yesterday. Some of the industrials sagged, but not too seriously.

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Aggregate sales of 22 chain store systems for January amount to $194,229,445, an increase of 15.3 percent over a year ago. The December gain for the same companies, in comparison with the previous year, was 12.7 percent.

Bond offerings by New Hampshire and Maryland account for more than half of the $10,117,730 total of all state and municipal financing scheduled for next week, says the "Daily Bond Buyer." Maryland is offering a $3,000,000 issue of unemployment relief bonds and $492,000 general bonds on Tuesday, while New Hampshire will be in the market with $2,400,000 on Thursday.

Interstate Department Stores January sales totaled $1,084,777, up 23.7 percent from 1933. The gain in December was 6 percent.

MALPRACTICE SUIT SETTLED
Menominee—The $10,000 suit of Leo Duffrin of Stephenson against Dr. Karm C. Kerwell of Stephenson, alleging malpractice in the treatment of an eye injury, the only case listed for jury trial in the current term of Menominee County Circuit court was settled yesterday afternoon for $2,250.

A judgment in that amount was entered in the court records. Atty. John J. O'Hara represented Mr. Duffrin. The law firm of Douglas, Barbour, Desenberg and Purdy of Detroit represented Dr. Kerwell. No representative of the law firm appeared in court here. A consent judgment was negotiated in a long distance telephone conversation.

Mr. Duffrin sought treatment of Dr. Kerwell when a piece of steel entered his eye in an accident. After several weeks of treatment he visited another oculist, who located the steel splinter and removed the eye.

JACOBS NAMED MANAGER
Iron Mountain—Appointment of Sam Jacobs, former inspector, as manager of the Iron Mountain state liquor store, with James Laughlin as assistant manager and Henry Anderson as cashier was announced here yesterday by Marvin L. Coon, of Escanaba, manager in the upper peninsula for the liquor control commission.

CANNOT MAKE DEAL
Iron Mountain—With receipt of word late this afternoon from the Oliver Iron Mining company that serious doubt exists as to the city's ability and right to purchase or lease the company's Quinnesec falls power plant, and rejection of the city's proposal to leave settlement of the legal issue to expert bond attorneys, city officials gathered to outline their next move in the strenuous effort being made to have operations resumed at the Chapin mine.

The attitude of the mining company was expressed in a letter received from its general counsel, Elmer F. Blu, of Duluth, and was regarded as virtually closing the door on further negotiations unless the city through a new maneuver already partly outlined is successful in carrying on.

INSPECTS MINE PROPERTIES
Iron River—E. E. Hunner, of Duluth, general manager of the M. A. Hanna company, which operates several mines in the west side, returned to Duluth yesterday, after spending a few days here on his annual inspection tour. In company with G. M. Cannon, Michigan manager, he inspected all the properties.

The mine officials reported that negotiations for the acquisition of the Isabella-Dober-Duff property are progressing, but that time is necessary because the fee owners live in various parts of the United States.

The officials indicated that the Hanna company will not operate the Dober immediately, although pumping will be continued.

Land Loans Over Million In A Day

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 8 (AP)—For the sixth time in the history of the Federal Land Bank here, loans made in one day have passed the million dollar mark.

In the largest day's business since January 11, loans aggregating $1,048,200 were made Wednesday to 474 farmers of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Michigan.

Married Flirts

Lila didn't like this. Marko would have to be taught (later, of course) that you didn't say things like that to one woman about an absent member of the sex.

"Really?" Her languor was distictly forbidding.

She glanced about her cautiously. "I'll go on without you," she whispered. "Won't do to be seen together just before news of the break leaks out. You never knew when one of those awful column writers is lurking about. They seem to be everywhere."

Lila went through the marble and gilt foyer alone, very slim and elegant in her pale costume, the fur making a dark background for her lovely face. Eyes were turned as she passed and admiring glances followed her. She enjoyed every bit of it. When she was Mrs. Marko Broughton she would have more of it. Admiration, adulation from all sides.

She went back to the apartment in a taxi, although the long greyhound car just beyond the awninged entrance was hers for a beckoning finger. Some day soon that car would be hers and the squarejawed Finn at the wheel would take her orders.

"To Tiffany's," she could imagine herself, speaking through the silver tube, command quietly.

She could even see the rings that would be laid out for her choice—emeralds, rubies, star sapphires. There would be narrow bracelets fashioned of stones clearer than clear water . . .

Meantime she fumbled in the pale leather bag for change. The taxi man thanked her for the tip and she went swiftly into the foyer. It would be lonely tonight. Marko dared not call and she had made no arrangements to dine with anyone. She shivered at the prospect of a solitary dinner.

She rang up several people she knew, feverishly and in haste. Freddy, Chloe and Dick, Van Ness One was engaged and the others were out of town.

On a sudden impulse she dialled Gypsy's number. It would be a lark, she reflected, to take pot luck with the Weavers this night—see how the other half lived.

But the bell rang dismally, rang and rang and rang. Gypsy's little nest was plainly deserted. There was trouble, real trouble that late April afternoon in the house of Weaver.

Prices Ease Off On Curb Market; Recover At Close

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—The curb market closed heavy today following the renewal of selling in virtually all departments of the list. Prices eased off quietly in the forenoon but pressure increased in the late dealings. A slight recovery occurred in the final minutes of trading.

Utilities and a number of industrial favorites were marked down sharply. Aluminum Company of America and General Tire & Rubber dropped 5 points each. Gulf Oil lost 3½ while other petroleum shares yielded fractionally. Aircraft shares were in further supply. Pan American Airways sagged more than 2 and Waco eased nearly a point.

Among the power group, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore and Columbia Gas & Electric preferred lost more than 2 each. Electric Bond and Share conceded nearly as much and American Gas & Electric and American Light & Power around a point each. Other stocks dipping about a point or more included Parker Rust Proof, Newmont, Hiram Walker and Lake Shore. Glen Alden Coal was an isolated steady spot.

Transfers approximated 498,000 shares, about the same as yesterday.

Eskymos Win, 21-10; Gladstone Beats Manistique

IRON MOUNTAIN IS OUTCLASSED

Nordmen Play Cautiously to Ring Up Easy Victory

The Eskymos easily took the measure of the Mountaineers last night in a Northern Nine conference basketball game, 21 to 10, at the junior high school gymnasium. In a preliminary game, however, the Iron Mountain reserves nipped the Eskymos reserves, 24 to 22.

Badly feeling the loss of three veterans who became ineligible after the close of the first semester of the school year, the visitors were unable to show much offensive strength and the Eskymos were out in front all of the way.

The Nordmen played a careful game, content to hold control of the ball most of the time, waiting for openings. Using this method of attack, the Eskymos broke out in front at the start of the game and held a sizeable advantage throughout.

The visitors were given few field scoring opportunities in the first half and they missed those. At half time the Eskymos were ahead by a 12 to 2 count. They slowed up in the third frame getting only two pointers while Iron Mountain was counting its first field goal of the evening. Both teams speeded up somewhat in the final frame but the Eskymos maintained the gap. The Nordmen outscored Iron Mountain by a one point margin in the final period due to a clever shot from the side by Christensen.

Beaudin led the scoring for the night with eight points, including four free tosses.

The total mileage for the mail flown last year by these lines was 25,909,811, over a route mileage of 27,062.

The government has paid to airmail companies $82,319,000 in the last five years. This cost to the government, however, was reduced by the $54,453,000 the postoffice department received from the public for airmail stamps.

Barred Five Years

Putting the Army fliers into the mail carrying field was described as a temporary expedient to serve until new companies bid and receive contracts for the work.

The present airmail companies can not under law bid for the contracts for five years.

Hardly had Mr. Roosevelt made the announcement of his order to Farley when the war department, through Secretary Dern and the Army chief of staff, General Douglas MacArthur, told newspapermen the Army was ready for the job.

MacArthur said "orders have already gone out giving the air service throughout the country notification of our new job."

"We will start flying the airmail a week from today and there will be no delay, no difficulties and no interruption of the service," he said.

Reserves Available

MacArthur said the Army had between 1,600 and 1,700 planes that could be used and that at the beginning the 900 observation and cargo carrying planes would be put into service to meet some fast schedules. He said it might be necessary to put some of the Army's 100 speedy bombing planes into service.

MacArthur said there would be no shortage of pilots because the air corps had between 1,200 and 1,300 officers, all of whom would be available, if required, for airmail flights. The air corps' 14,000 enlisted men will be used to service the planes.

He added that most of the pilots for airmail companies held commissions in the air corps reserve and if necessary could be called for active service.

"You're Telling Me?" Movie Holds Up Golf

Hollywood, Feb. 9 (AP)—When there's play-acting to be done the golf must wait in movieland.

So the motion picture championship didn't get under way at the Lakeside Country club course. A production company held sway on location there instead.

"Where are these actor-golfer fellows?" asked a casual observer as he elbowed his way through arc lamps and sun reflectors, sound equipment and cameras.

W. C. Fields, known to be a rabid golfer, was pointed out all decked out in grease paint and makeup.

"Why all the picture making paraphernalia, do they need it to make them feel at home?" was the next logical question. The comedian shook his head sadly, and spoke:

"You're telling me?"

The locker room was empty. The grill was a handy resting place next door. The observer would find out all about it there. The make-believe mob was there in complete control, eating and chatting through paint-smeared faces.

There was a vacant chair by Clarence (Buster) Crabbe, who stepped from Olympic games swimming fame to movie stardom.

"So you've given up swimming for golf?" he was accused.

"What handicap are you playing to now?"

Crabbe blushed through his paint.

"I'm not that good yet," Crabbe conceded. "You mean the actors' tournament? The boys are not playing today. You see we're on location here. They have until Feb. 18 anyway, for the completion of the first round matches. The championship will be decided sometime in March if picture making doesn't interfere."

"Well, how about W. C. Fields, isn't he playing either?"

"And what's the name of this picture?"

There was no mistaking Crabbe's sincerity as he said:

"You're telling me?"

ORCUTT TAKES WOMEN'S TITLE

Brilliant Golf Breaks Miss Hick's Run of Victories, 3 and 2

Miami, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP)—With golf that harkened back to the metoric period when she captured the metropolitan in four successive years, Maureen Orcutt today defeated Helen Hicks, 3 and 2, in the 36 hole finals of the Miami Biltmore invitational.

The White Beeches, N. J., star broke Miss Hicks' run of victories in 1934's first major tournament. The Hewlett, N. Y., player won from Miss Orcutt in last year's two meetings, the metropolitan and national.

A brilliant exhibition of chipping and one-putting carried the finals for Miss Orcutt, with the turning point that broke down Miss Hick's defensive game coming on the fourteenth green.

The Hewlett ace, then one down, placed her tee shot four feet from the flag, with Miss Orcutt's first wood just off the edge of the green. Miss Hicks missed the short putt, and the former metropolitan star chipped up for a three and a halve.

Miss Hicks drove her next tee shot into the canal, while Miss Orcutt was down in one putt to win with a par five. Miss Orcutt repeated this on the final green, chipping up and holing her first putt.

BREMER SOBS AS HE TELLS OF KIDNAPING

sations among his captors were in whispers. On his promise not to look around his blindfold was removed the next day but guards were stationed behind him all the time.

"Some days eats were hard to get and so I did not eat. I was allowed to sit until I could not sit any longer and then placed in the bed. That routine kept on all the time I was in the room. I was told that unless I behaved I would be chained to the bed. After the first week, my leg that was hurt went out on me and I could not walk the entire week and they sort of pulled me into the bathroom."

Dr. Nippert felt his pulse and advised him "better cut the story short," after feeling his pulse. Bremer placed a hand to his head and observed "My head aches."

Finally the hour to release him arrived. Blindfolded, he was again placed in a car and told he would be taken to Rochester. Enroute a stop was made while some of the gang went out "to find out whether or not the money was marked."

Freed at 8 P. M.

Bremer obeyed orders until his release in Rochester on a dark street with the blindfold still over his eyes. He counted up to 15 slowly, faced about and walked to the bus depot whence he was supposed to take a bus to St. Paul and go to his father's home without being seen so "there will be absolutely nothing in the morning paper."

"After the car started again I removed the bandages and I could just make out a light. I turned the right direction and started to walk. I walked around in circles first and then tried to walk straight so that no one would become suspicious by seeing me stagger."

Bremer, however, missed the bus at Rochester, took a train to Owatonna, and connected with the bus. He managed to reach the home of his father, Adolph Bremer, personal friend of President Roosevelt without being seen, about midnight Wednesday. He had been freed about 8 p. m.

At the interview Bremer did not reveal the number of men he believed were in the gang, that point being omitted, it was understood, at the request of authorities.

Other details officers thought might hamper their efforts to round up the band also were omitted. Bremer, wearing a dressing robe and slippers, was attired in a white shirt, open at the throat. He was pale and wan, quite nervous, upset. He appeared to be ready to collapse.

Jordan Cagers Win From Mission House

Marinette, Feb. 9, (Special)—Jordan college basketball team defeated Mission House college of Plymouth, Wis., here tonight, 43 to 25. The score at half time was 23 to 9.

The Jordanites under their new coach, Leo Brunelle, showed up exceptionally well. They took an early lead and were never headed.

Jimmie Foxx Starts Training—And How

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Jimmie Foxx, the Philadelphia Athletics' slugger, started his spring training here the other day with oranges and he wasn't eating them.

Helene Madison, Olympic swimmer; June Grabiner, daughter of the president of the Chicago White Sox, and Jimmie were playing around on the beach and Helene suggested baseball.

In lieu of a ball, she hurled an orange from the pitcher's mound and it sizzled in the best big league fashion. Jimmie swung and missed. She threw another and he missed it, too.

"Try this one," the swimmer cried, tossing a big grapefruit. The leading home run hitter of the major leagues swung mightily, connected squarely and the grapefruit, true to type, splattered in his eyes.

"SEZ ME"

by Ken Gunderman

The Eskymos used a lot of common sense in their basketball game with Iron Mountain last night. The Mountaineers were unable to show much of an offense against the Nordmen. The main reason for that, of course, is the fact that you can't make baskets when you haven't got the ball and the Mountaineers just didn't have the ball long enough to do much shooting. The Eskymos did a lot of passing but very little shooting and held possession of the sphere about three-fourths of the time.

With the tournaments about a month away, the Nordmen are near their peak. In order to hit their peak during the tournament season, they must develop very slowly from now until then. If they had played the Mountaineers too aggressively, it is likely they would have to fight staleness at tournament time. The Eskymos will have an open date next week unless some team fills in on the date originally held by Menominee. An open date, however, will give the Eskymos an opportunity to taper off slightly and then come back with a rush to get whipped into the right condition, mentally and physically, for the last few pre-tournament games and the tournament itself.

The crowd last night conducted itself in a manner deserving of a lot of praise. On only one occasion was there any semblance of criticism of the referee. It came during the last half when Referee Judish called a foul on an Eskymo guard during a play in which the crowd evidently figured the local player made a legitimate block. A protest was started but right at the crescendo of the boo, it was sharply cut off. It proved the fans realized the unfairness of their act. The manner in which they ended it could reasonably be taken as an apology to Referee Judish.

While the feature game last night was more or less lacking of color, fans were treated to a swell scrap in the prelim when Iron Mountain reserves made a gallant second half stand to overcome a large lead and nose out the Eskymo reserves, 24 to 22. In that rally the fans were treated to some sensational shooting by Duval who dropped in six field goals, all from around the middle of the court. Most of the shots swished through the net without touching the rim. Duval came back on the court to play for a time in the final game but didn't get much of a chance to strut his stuff.

The Eskymos had an open date on March 2, a week before the district tournament. Principal John A. Lemmer announced last night that the date has been filled with Crystal Falls, the game to be played at Escanaba. Crystal Falls is a newcomer on the Eskymo schedule and the game should pack the house in view of the sparkling record of Eddie Chambers' quintet. The game is a peach, coming just before the tournaments, when the teams hope to be at their best. The last time the Eskymos played a Crystal Falls team was in the regional basketball tournament at Ishpeming in 1932, the Eskymos winning.

CRIPPLED ALGER QUINTET ROUTED

Newberry Has Easy Time Ringing Up 43-5 Victory

Newberry, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—Newberry high school defeated a varsity-less Munising high school team here tonight, 43 to 5, after holding a 21 to 3 lead at the half. All of Munising's scores were made on free throws. Five members of the Munising first team and one member of the reserves "struck" Wednesday when Coach Emil Peterson replaced a first-stringer with a reserve player.

The reserves game was a close one, however, with Newberry winning out by 23 to 22. Pangborn made 10 points for Munising and Aho seven for Newberry.

Purdue-Iowa Till Tops Big 10 Tonight

Chicago, Feb. 9 (AP)—Running ahead of the pack with four straight victories, Purdue faces Iowa's in-and-out aggregation in the top game of tomorrow night's Big Ten basketball schedule.

A defeat would not shake Purdue out of the lead, its nearest pursuers having lost two games each, but it would tighten up the race. Iowa operated brilliantly against Northwestern, Illinois and Wisconsin, but slipped against Minnesota and Indiana. At top form the Hawkeyes figure to give the leaders a harsh struggle.

Minnesota, second place team, will seek its sixth victory against Wisconsin, while Indiana and Illinois, tied with Iowa for third place, will meet at Champaign. Chicago and Northwestern will play the first engagement of their civil war at Evanston, with Ohio State and Michigan tackling strong non-conference opponents. The Wolverines play Michigan State at East Lansing, and Ohio States goes to Milwaukee to meet Marquette.

Split Decision Given To Livinsky; Fans Boo

BY EWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

In the opinion of another slender crowd of 3,500, and the experts about the ringside, Massera, a comparative unknown, whipped the Chicago Kingfish decisively in what was the first step in a buildup designed to send Levinsky against Primo Carnera for the world title here in June.

One of the judges, Jim Buckley, voted for Levinsky, however, while the other, Joe Agnello, cast his vote for Massera. Referee Gunboat Smith then broke the deadlock in favor of the Kingfish while the crowd roared and booed as it did last week when the judges got confused and voted a draw in the Tony Canzoneri-Cleto Locatelli match, having to change it ten minutes later in favor of Canzoneri.

Judge Agnello scored six rounds for Massera and the last four for Levinsky while Buckley gave the Kingfish six, Massera three, and called one even. Referee Smith gave Massera four, Levinsky three, registered no choice in the tenth and last round, and still came up with Levinsky as the winner.

The Associated Press score card registered five for Massera, three for Levinsky, and two even.

There were no knockdowns and neither was badly hurt at any time as they fought most of the way at close quarters. Levinsky had a wide weight advantage, scaling 202 1-2 pounds to 183 1-2 for Massera.

Steve Dudas, Edgewater, N. J. heavyweight, won a six round decision over Al White, of Brooklyn, in a six round preliminary. Dudas, weighing 180 pounds, won every round on aggressiveness alone but he failed to floor White, who weighed 179 1-2.

Charlie Bedami, 135 1-4, New York, defeated Johnny Bonito, 131 1-2, New York; Johnny Morro, 131 3-4, New York, beat Leonard Del Genio, 133 1-2, New York; and Pete Gullota, 144 1-2, New York, defeated Murray Brandt, 145, New York, each winning in six rounds by decision.

MINOR CHANGES IN GRID RULES

Committee Turns Over Suggestions At Atlanta

Atlanta, Feb. 9, (AP)—The high tribunal of football, the intercollegiate rules committee, began its annual review of the gridiron college code tonight and was to consider many proposals suggested for the betterment of the game.

A number of the committee, headed by Chairman Walter Okeson of Lehigh, arrived yesterday and the others reached Atlanta today.

Tonight's session was to be devoted largely to selecting the most worthwhile proposals from among the more than two score suggestions offered to the committee. The actual consideration of probable rule changes will be delayed until late Saturday or Sunday.

Members of the rules committee, as well as the advisory representatives from the coaches and officials, were reluctant to express any opinions as to what, if any, changes would be made.

The report of a special coaches' committee in New York last week that the game was very good as it stood apparently has the approval of most of the committeemen. It appears that any alterations that may be made will be of a minor nature.

Although William S. Langford, secretary of the rules committee, said a proposal to increase the side line zone from 10 to 15 yards might be adopted, three others expressed themselves as opposed to it.

They were Dana X. Bible of Nebraska, president of the National Football Coaches' association, Okeson, and A. W. Palmer, a member of the officials' advisory group.

"The ball has to be brought out very often as it is," Bible said, "and if they should change the rule to 15 yards then the officials would be kept busy just moving the ball out. They might just as well pass a ruling that the ball should always be put in play in the center of the field."

Gladstone Reserves Beat Nahma, 31-16

The Gladstone Reserves defeated Nahma, 33 to 16, in a preliminary to the Gladstone-Manistique game last night. Schuler and Miller were high point men for Gladstone and Bradish was the star for Nahma.

BY BILL PARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 9 (AP)—Two youngsters in the game of golf, Byron Nelson, Texarkana country club professional, and Ky Laffoon, Denver's sub-par professional, riddled the Brackenridge Park course today to tie for leadership of the field in the first 18 holes of the $2,500 Texas open.

Nelson, first to finish, got his par three at the 18th to post a 34-32—66. Laffoon, on the final green, dropped his putt for a birdie and a tie with Nelson. He shot 35-31—66. Par over the 6,400 yard layout is 36-35—71.

Wild Bill Mehlhorn of Louisville and Brooklyn, the only man who has twice won the Texas open, gave the boys something at which to shoot when he finished early with 33-34—67. His short game was deadly.

KEILMEN TAKE 20-10 DECISION

Schoolcrafters Fail to Show Much of An Attack

Gladstone conquered Manistique, 20 to 10, in a basketball game here tonight after taking a strong lead during the first half. The last half, however, was slow and listless.

The Keilmen showed their superiority in the first two quarters and then were content to slide along on even terms with the reserves getting into the fray for a considerable portion of the game. Gladstone scored a 6 to 2 lead at the end of the first period and had run that advantage to 15 to 6 at half time. The last two periods were played about on even terms with very little scoring interest.

Manistique proved woefully weak from the foul line, missing 12 out of 16 charity tosses. Morrison particularly had an off night, connecting only twice in nine attempts.

Guard and Center Lost To Michigan

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—The University of Michigan's basketball team suffered a blow today with the announcement that George Rudness and John Jablonski, guard and center respectively, have become ineligible for the next semester because of scholastic difficulties.

The two men were sophomores who made the varsity in their first season of competition. Both started against Ohio State university in the last game Jan. 26.

As a result of these developments considerable shifting was undertaken in the lineup the university plans to send against Michigan State college at East Lansing tomorrow night. The starting lineup probably will include Russ Oliver and Dick Evans, forwards; Dick Joslin, center, and Ted Petoskey and Chelso Tamango, guards.

Fred Allen, John Regezei, Manny Fishman and Estil Tessmer also will accompany the team to East Lansing.

TILDEN-VINES EVEN

St. Louis, Feb. 9, (AP)—Big Bill Tilden defeated Ellsworth Vines in a long five-set match here tonight to even their professional tennis series at eight matches each. The scores were 7-5, 2-6, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1.

Eskymos Win, 21-10; Gladstone Beats Manistique

IRON MOUNTAIN IS OUTCLASSED

Nordmen Play Cautiously to Ring Up Easy Victory

The Eskymos easily took the measure of the Mountaineers last night in a Northern Nine conference basketball game, 21 to 10, at the junior high school gymnasium. In a preliminary game, however, the Iron Mountain reserves nipped the Eskymos reserves, 24 to 22.

Badly feeling the loss of three veterans who became ineligible after the close of the first semester of the school year, the visitors were unable to show much offensive strength and the Eskymos were out in front all of the way.

The Nordmen played a careful game, content to hold control of the ball most of the time, waiting for openings. Using this method of attack, the Eskymos broke out in front at the start of the game and held a sizeable advantage throughout.

The visitors were given few field scoring opportunities in the first half and they missed those. At half time the Eskymos were ahead by a 12 to 2 count. They slowed up in the third frame getting only two pointers while Iron Mountain was counting its first field goal of the evening. Both teams speeded up somewhat in the final frame but the Eskymos maintained the gap. The Nordmen outscored Iron Mountain by a one point margin in the final period due to a clever shot from the side by Christensen.

Beaudin led the scoring for the night with eight points, including four free tosses.

The total mileage for the mail flown last year by these lines was 35,909,811, over a route mileage of 27,062.

The government has paid to airmail companies $82,319,000 in the last five years. This cost to the government, however, was reduced by the $54,453,000 the postoffice department received from the public for airmail stamps.

Barred Five Years

Putting the Army fliers into the mail carrying field was described as a temporary expedient to serve until new companies bid and receive contracts for the work.

The present airmail companies can not under law bid for the contracts for five years.

Hardly had Mr. Roosevelt made the announcement of his order to Farley when the war department, through Secretary Dern and the Army chief of staff, General Douglas MacArthur, told newspapermen the Army was ready for the job.

MacArthur said "orders have already gone out giving the air service throughout the country notification of our new job."

"We will start flying the airmail a week from today and there will be no delay, no difficulties and no interruption of the service," he said.

Reserves Available

MacArthur said the Army had between 1,600 and 1,700 planes that could be used and that at the beginning the 900 observation and cargo carrying planes would be put into service to meet some fast schedules. He said it might be necessary to put some of the Army's 100 speedy bombing planes into service.

MacArthur said there would be no shortage of pilots because the air corps had between 1,200 and 1,300 officers, all of whom would be available, if required, for airmail flights. The air corps' 14,000 enlisted men will be used to service the planes.

He added that most of the pilots for airmail companies held commissions in the air corps reserve and if necessary could be called for active service.

"You're Telling Me?" Movie Holds Up Golf

Hollywood, Feb. 9 (AP)—When there's play-acting to be done the golf must wait in movieland.

So the motion picture championship didn't get under way at the Lakeside Country club course. A production company held sway on location there instead.

"Where are these actor-golfer fellows?" asked a casual observer as he elbowed his way through arc lamps and sun reflectors, sound equipment and cameras.

W. C. Fields, known to be a rabid golfer, was pointed out all decked out in grease paint and makeup.

"Why all the picture making paraphernalia, do they need it to make them feel at home?" was the next logical question. The comedian shook his head sadly, and spoke:

"You're telling me?"

The locker room was empty. The grill was a handy resting place next door. The observer would find out all about it there. The make-believe mob was there in complete control, eating and chatting through paint-smeared faces.

There was a vacant chair by Clarence (Buster) Crabbe, who stepped from Olympic games swimming fame to movie stardom.

"So you've given up swimming for golf?" he was accused.

"What handicap are you playing to now?"

"I'm not that good yet," Crabbe conceded. "You mean the actors' tournament? The boys are not playing today. You see we're on location here. They have until Feb. 18 anyway, for the completion of the first round matches. The championship will be decided sometime in March if picture making doesn't interfere."

"Well, how about W. C. Fields, isn't he playing either?"

There was no mistaking Crabbe's sincerity as he said:

"You're telling me?"

ORCUTT TAKES WOMEN'S TITLE

Brilliant Golf Breaks Miss Hick's Run of Victories, 3 and 2

Miami, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP)—With golf that harkened back to the meteoric period when she captured the metropolitan in four successive years, Maureen Orcutt today defeated Helen Hicks, 3 and 2, in the 36 hole finals of the Miami Biltmore invitational.

The White Beeches, N. J., star broke Miss Hicks' run of victories in 1934's first major tournament. The Hewlett, N. Y., player won from Miss Orcutt in last year's two meetings, the metropolitan and national.

A brilliant exhibition of chipping and one-putting carried the finals for Miss Orcutt, with the turning point that broke down Miss Hick's defensive game coming on the fourteenth green.

The Hewlett ace, then one down, placed her tee shot four feet from the flag, with Miss Orcutt's first wood just off the edge of the green. Miss Hicks missed the short putt, and the former metropolitan star chipped up for a three and a halve.

Miss Hicks drove her next tee shot into the canal, while Miss Orcutt was down in one putt to win with a par five. Miss Orcutt repeated this on the final green, chipping up and holing her first putt.

BREMER SOBS AS HE TELLS OF KIDNAPING

sations among his captors were in whispers. On his promise not to look around his blindfold was removed the next day but guards were stationed behind him all the time.

"Some days eats were hard to get and so I did not eat. I was allowed to sit until I could not sit any longer and then placed in the bed. That routine kept on all the time I was in the room. I was told that unless I behaved I would be chained to the bed. After the first week, my leg that was hurt went out on me and I could not walk the entire week and they sort of pulled me into the bathroom."

Dr. Nippert felt his pulse and advised him "better cut the story short," after feeling his pulse. Bremer placed a hand to his head and observed "My head aches."

Finally the hour to release him arrived. Blindfolded, he was again placed in a car and told he would be taken to Rochester. Enroute a stop was made while some of the gang went out "to find out whether or not the money was marked."

Freed at 8 P. M.

Bremer obeyed orders until his release in Rochester on a dark street with the blindfold still over his eyes. He counted up to 15 slowly, faced about and walked to the bus depot whence he was supposed to take a bus to St. Paul and go to his father's home without being seen so "there will be absolutely nothing in the morning paper."

"After the car started again I removed the bandages and I could just make out a light. I turned the right direction and started to walk. I walked around in circles first and then tried to walk straight so that no one would become suspicious by seeing me stagger."

Bremer, however, missed the bus at Rochester, took a train to Owatonna, and connected with the bus. He managed to reach the home of his father, Adolph Bremer, personal friend of President Roosevelt without being seen, about midnight Wednesday. He had been freed about 8 p. m.

At the interview Bremer did not reveal the number of men he believed were in the gang, that point being omitted, it was understood, at the request of authorities.

Other details officers thought might hamper their efforts to round up the band also were omitted. Bremer, wearing a dressing robe and slippers, was attired in a white shirt, open at the throat. He was pale and wan, quite nervous, upset. He appeared to be ready to collapse.

"SEZ ME" by Ken Gunderman

The Eskymos used a lot of common sense in their basketball game with Iron Mountain last night. The Mountaineers were unable to show much of an offense against the Nordmen. The main reason for that, of course, is the fact that you can't make baskets when you haven't got the ball and the Mountaineers just didn't have the ball long enough to do much shooting. The Eskymos did a lot of passing but very little shooting and held possession of the sphere about three-fourths of the time.

With the tournaments about a month away, the Nordmen are near their peak. In order to hit their peak during the tournament season, they must develop very slowly from now until then. If they had played the Mountaineers too aggressively, it is likely they would have to fight staleness at tournament time. The Eskymos will have an open date next week unless some team fills in on the date originally held by Menominee. An open date, however, will give the Eskymos an opportunity to taper off slightly and then come back with a rush to get whipped into the right condition, mentally and physically, for the last few pre-tournament games and the tournament itself.

The crowd last night conducted itself in a manner deserving of a lot of praise. On only one occasion was there any semblance of criticism of the referee. It came during the last half when Referee Judish called a foul on an Eskymo guard during a play in which the crowd evidently figured the local player made a legitimate block. A protest was started but right at the crescendo of the boo, it was sharply cut off. It proved the fans realized the unfairness of their act. The manner in which they ended it could reasonably be taken as an apology to Referee Judish.

While the feature game last night was more or less lacking of color, fans were treated to a swell scrap in the prelim when Iron Mountain reserves made a gallant second half stand to overcome a large lead and nose out the Eskymo reserves, 24 to 22. In that rally the fans were treated to some sensational shooting by Duval who dropped in six field goals, all from around the middle of the court. Most of the shots swished through the net without touching the rim. Duval came back on the court to play for a time in the final game but didn't get much of a chance to strut his stuff.

The Eskymos had an open date on March 2, a week before the district tournament. Principal John A. Lemmer announced last night that the date has been filled with Crystal Falls, the game to be played at Escanaba. Crystal Falls is a newcomer on the Eskymo schedule and the game should pack the house in view of the sparkling record of Eddie Chambers' quintet. The game is a peach, coming just before the tournaments, when the teams hope to be at their best. The last time the Eskymos played a Crystal Falls team was in the regional basketball tournament at Ishpeming in 1932, the Eskymos winning.

Jimmie Foxx Starts Training—And How

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Jimmie Foxx, the Philadelphia Athletics' slugger, started his spring training here the other day with oranges—and he wasn't eating them.

Helene Madison, Olympic swimmer; June Grabiner, daughter of the president of the Chicago White Sox, and Jimmie were playing around on the beach and Helene suggested baseball.

In lieu of a ball, she hurled an orange from the pitcher's mound and it sizzled in the best big league fashion. Jimmie swung and missed. She threw another and he missed it, too.

"Try this one," the swimmer cried, tossing a big grapefruit. The leading home run hitter of the major leagues swung mightily, connected squarely and the grapefruit, true to type, splattered in his eyes.

CRIPPLED ALGER QUINTET ROUTED

Newberry Has Easy Time Ringing Up 43-5 Victory

Newberry, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—Newberry high school defeated a varsity-less Munising high school team here tonight, 43 to 5, after holding a 21 to 3 lead at the half. All of Munising's scores were made on free throws. Five members of the Munising first team and one member of the reserves "struck" Wednesday when Coach Emil Peterson replaced a first-stringer with a reserve player.

The reserves game was a close one, however, with Newberry winning out by 23 to 22. Pangborn made 10 points for Munising and Aho seven for Newberry.

Purdue-Iowa Tilt Tops Big 10 Tonight

Chicago, Feb. 9 (AP)—Running ahead of the pack with four straight victories, Purdue faces Iowa's in-and-out aggregation in the top game of tomorrow night's Big Ten basketball schedule.

A defeat would not shake Purdue out of the lead, its nearest pursuers having lost two games each, but it would tighten up the race. Iowa operated brilliantly against Northwestern, Illinois and Wisconsin, but slipped against Minnesota and Indiana. At top form the Hawkeyes figure to give the leaders a harsh struggle.

Minnesota, second place team, will seek its sixth victory against Wisconsin, while Indiana and Illinois, tied with Iowa for third place, will meet at Champaign. Chicago and Northwestern will play the first engagement of their civil war at Evanston, with Ohio State and Michigan tackling strong non-conference opponents. The Wolverines play Michigan State at East Lansing, and Ohio States goes to Milwaukee to meet Marquette.

Split Decision Given To Livinsky; Fans Boo

BY EWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Madison Square Garden, New York, Feb. 9. (AP)—King Levinsky, porky Chicago heavyweight, managed to drag out a disputed ten round decision over Charlie Massera, 22 year old coal miner from East Monongahela, tonight but he added nothing to the campaign the Garden is waging on his behalf to build him to heavyweight title challenging status.

In the opinion of another slender crowd of 3,500, and the experts about the ringside, Massera, a comparative unknown, whipped the Chicago Kingfish decisively in what was the first step in a build-up designed to send Levinsky against Primo Carnera for the world title here in June.

One of the judges, Jim Buckley, voted for Levinsky, however, while the other, Joe Agnello, cast his vote for Massera. Referee Gunboat Smith then broke the deadlock in favor of the Kingfish while the crowd roared and booed as it did last week when the judges got confused and voted a draw in the Tony Canzoneri-Cleto Locatelli match, having to change it ten minutes later in favor of Canzoneri.

Judge Agnello scored six rounds for Massera and the last four for Levinsky while Buckley gave the Kingfish six, Massera three, and called one even. Referee Smith gave Massera four, Levinsky three, registered no choice in the tenth and last round, and still came up with Levinsky as the winner.

The Associated Press score card registered five for Massera, three for Levinsky, and two even.

There were no knockdowns and neither was badly hurt at any time as they fought most of the way at close quarters. Levinsky had a wide weight advantage, scaling 202 1-2 pounds to 183 1-2 for Massera.

Mike Belloise, 125, New York, outpointed Benny Britt, 127 1-4, Philadelphia in a six round semi-final that followed the main bout.

Steve Dudas, Edgewater, N. J. heavyweight, won a six round decision over Al White, of Brooklyn, in a six round preliminary. Dudas, weighing 180 pounds, won every round on aggressiveness alone but he failed to floor White, who weighed 179 1-2.

Charlie Bedami, 135 1-4, New York, defeated Johnny Bonito, 134 1-2, New York; Johnny Morro, 131 3-4, New York, beat Leonard Del Genio, 133 1-2, New York; and Pete Gullota, 144 1-2, New York, defeated Murray Brandt, 145, New York, each winning in six rounds by decision.

MINOR CHANGES IN GRID RULES

Committee Turns Over Suggestions At Atlanta

Atlanta, Feb. 9. (AP)—The high tribunal of football, the intercollegiate rules committee, began its annual review of the gridiron college code tonight and was to consider many proposals suggested for the betterment of the game.

A number of the committee, headed by Chairman Walter Okeson of Lehigh, arrived yesterday and the others reached Atlanta today.

Tonight's session was to be devoted largely to selecting the most worthwhile proposals from among the more than two score suggestions offered to the committee. The actual consideration of probable rule changes will be delayed until late Saturday or Sunday.

Members of the rules committee, as well as the advisory representatives from the coaches and officials, were reluctant to express any opinions as to what, if any, changes would be made.

The report of a special coaches' committee in New York last week that the game was very good as it stood apparently has the approval of most of the committeemen. It appears that any alterations that may be made will be of a minor nature.

Although William S. Langford, secretary of the rules committee, said a proposal to increase the side line zone from 10 to 15 yards might be adopted, three others expressed themselves as opposed to it.

They were Dana X. Bible of Nebraska, president of the National Football Coaches' association, Okeson, and A. W. Palmer, a member of the officials' advisory group.

"The ball has to be brought out very often as it is," Bible said, "and if they should change the rule to 15 yards then the officials would be kept busy just moving the ball out. They might just as well pass a ruling that the ball should always be put in play in the center of the field."

Gladstone Reserves Beat Nahma, 31-16

The Gladstone Reserves defeated Nahma, 33 to 16, in a preliminary to the Gladstone-Manistique game last night. Schuler and Miller were high point men for Gladstone and Bradish was the star for Nahma.

BY BILL PARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 9 (AP)—Two youngsters in the game of golf, Byron Nelson, Texarkana country club professional, and Ky Laffoon, Denver's sub-par professional, riddled the Brackenridge Park course today to tie for leadership of the field in the first 18 holes of the $2,500 Texas open.

They split the fairways and conquered the putting carpets with scintillating cards of 66 each, five under par.

Nelson, first to finish, got his par three at the 18th to post a 34-32—66. Laffoon, on the final green, dropped his putt for a birdie and a tie with Nelson. He shot 35-31—66. Par over the 6,400 yard layout is 36-35—71.

Wild Bill Mehlhorn of Louisville and Brooklyn, the only man who has twice won the Texas open, gave the boys something at which to shoot when he finished early with 33-34—67. His short game was deadly.

Gus Moreland, three times Texas amateur champion and a United States Walker cup star, played with Mehlhorn and posted a sub-par 36-33—69.

Moreland shared his third place with Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., and Ruben Albaugh, San Antonio amateur. Runyan, Pasadena open champion, was out in par 36 and back home in 33 for his 69.

KEILMEN TAKE 20-10 DECISION

Schoolcrafters Fail to Show Much of An Attack

Gladstone conquered Manistique, 20 to 10, in a basketball game here tonight after taking a strong lead during the first half. The last half, however, was slow and listless.

The Keilmen showed their superiority in the first two quarters and then were content to slide along on even terms with the reserves getting into the fray for a considerable portion of the game. Gladstone scored a 6 to 2 lead at the end of the first period and had run that advantage to 15 to 6 at half time. The last two periods were played about on even terms with very little scoring interest.

Manistique proved woefully weak from the foul line, missing 12 out of 16 charity tosses. Morrison particularly had an off night, connecting only twice in nine attempts.

Guard and Center Lost To Michigan

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—The University of Michigan's basketball team suffered a blow today with the announcement that George Rudness and John Jablonski, guard and center respectively, have become ineligible for the next semester because of scholastic difficulties.

The two men were sophomores who made the varsity in their first season of competition. Both started against Ohio State university in the last game Jan. 26.

As a result of these developments considerable shifting was undertaken in the lineup the university plans to send against Michigan State college at East Lansing tomorrow night. The starting lineup probably will include Russ Oliver and Dick Evans, forwards; Dick Joslin, center, and Ted Petoskey and Chelso Tamango, guards.

Fred Allen, John Regezci, Manny Fishman and Estil Tessmer also will accompany the team to East Lansing.

TILDEN-VINES EVEN

St. Louis, Feb. 9. (AP)—Big Bill Tilden defeated Ellsworth Vines in a long five-set match here tonight to even their professional tennis series at eight matches each. The scores were 7-5, 2-6, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1.

Luce County Camp Snowbound; Plane May Deliver Food

Newberry, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—Eleven men, a woman and two children are snowbound in a lumber camp in the northeastern part of Luce county, but although the food supply is reported to be running low, no fears are felt for their safety.

They are in a camp owned by Jerry Lynch, Sault Ste. Marie lumberman, and Lynch was reported to be planning to send food to the camp by plane.

Should that plan fail, it was pointed out, food is plentiful in other camps which could be reached by the lumbermen on snowshoes. The snowbound camp is only two miles from the route taken by a man who delivers mail to the coast guard by dog team.

Wausau Factory Destroyed by Fire

The fire which destroyed the Silbernagel Sash and Door factory of Wausau recently, with a loss of $70,000, was of particular interest here in that George Silbernagel, its proprietor, is a brother-in-law of Frank Nienaber of this city. The night watchman employed at the factory was seriously burned in the fire.

There is half again as much ultra-violet light in the country as in the city.

No Settlement In Menominee Brewery Suit After Parley

Menominee, Feb. 9, (Special)—Hearing of the cross suit of stockholders of the United Beverage company who allege they were deprived of their interest in the local brewery against John Lewitz, trustee-manager of the brewery for four years beginning in 1929, was resumed here in circuit court this morning following failure of a two hour conference to reach a settlement of the issues involved.

The hearing opened Monday afternoon before Judge Frank A. Bell, sitting in chancery. Three federal revenue agents who appeared here when testimony regarding alleged illegal manufacture of real beer at the brewery during the prohibition era was introduced were interested spectators at today's hearing.

The cross plaintiffs, whose number includes more than a score of holders of United Beverage company stock who are not holders of stock of the Menominee-Marinette Brewing company, which took over the local brewery in April, 1933, are nearing the end of their introduction of testimony.

When their case is in, counsel for Mr. Lewitz and the M-M Brewing company probably will move for court action in their favor, quieting title to the local brewery in the name of the trusteeship, which would establish the legality of the transfer of title to the brewery property by the trustee to the Menominee - Marinette Brewing company last spring.

Bugle Corps Host At Dance Tonight; Election Tuesday

Getting an early start in their 1934 activities, the Escanaba Legion drum and bugle corps is sponsoring a benefit dance at the Argonne Gardens tonight, with music by the eight Wolverines.

The corps will elect officers at a meeting to be held in the city hall Tuesday night at 7:30, and thereafter will re-issue equipment and instruments and hold regular weekly rehearsals in preparation for a busy summer season of public appearances. A vote will also be taken next Tuesday on holding practice sessions Monday evenings instead of Tuesday. The officers to be elected are a manager, assistant manager, quartermaster, treasurer and historian.

Escanaba Postal Savings Deposits Increased in Year

Postal savings deposits at Escanaba in a year increased from $86,462 to $206,875 and the number of depositors from 99 to 258, according to the annual report on the postal savings just submitted to the Speaker of the House of Representatives by Postmaster General Farley.

In all Michigan the increase in deposits was from $39,563,141 to $75,647,285 and the number of depositors from 60,273 to 139,-146.

The figures are for the years 1932 and 1933. There are 263 offices in Michigan accepting postal savings. Deposits in Detroit are the largest in the state. The second largest are at Grand Rapids.

Over Billion on Deposit

Farley reported that postal savings deposits in the United States at the close of the last fiscal year amounted to $1,187,-186,208, an increase of $402,-365,584 over the amount for the corresponding dates last year.

The growth was comparable with that of the fiscal year 1932, which had an increase of $437,-403,753, he said.

The Postmaster General reported that there were no sectional losses during the year 1933. In fact, he said, all States as well as the territory of Alaska and the island possessions showed increases in the balance to the credit of depositors.

Bring Out Hidden Money

The report also asserted that "the system is functioning as intended by the farmers of the organic act encouraging thrift and drawing money out of hiding while cooperating with, but staying out of, the business of banking. To have the Postal Savings System coupled with anything in the nature of pure banking and the business of exchange in this transitional period, involving, as it would, greatly increased cost of administration and an inharmonious relation to the President's efforts to put the banking business of the country on its feet, would appear unwise."

Doyle Called Away, Meeting Cancelled At Iron Mountain

Iron Mountain, Feb. 9 (Special) Because Senator William Doyle, of Menominee, was called to Evanston, Ill., today on urgent business, the meeting called for tonight at the court house, when Senators Doyle and Ray Derham, Republicans, were to answer charges placed against them by Democratic leaders at Lansing has been indefinitely postponed, Senator Derham said today.

The meeting was arranged presumably as a debate between Senators Doyle and Derham, Republicans, on one side, and Martin Bradley, speaker of the house of representatives; O. K. Fjetland, secretary to Governor Comstock, and William Donnelly, floor leader in the house, Democrats, on the other.

Unable to Attend

Senator Derham had invited these three, by telegram, to participate in tonight's meeting. This morning, however, Derham received a wire from Speaker Bradley to the effect that he, Fjetland and Donnelly are busy at Lansing and would be unable to come here.

Derham and Doyle had planned to reply to charges of obstructionism made by the three Democratic leaders in recent appearances at Menominee, Escanaba and Iron Mountain. After the special session of the legislature which convenes February 19, Derham said another effort will be made to arrange a debate.

Upper Peninsula Pastors To Meet

Pastors of the eastern half of the St. Paul district, Central Northwest Conference of the Swedish Methodist Episcopal churches, will hold a convention in Escanaba April 11 to 15, Rev. Karl J. Hammar announced yesterday.

Rev. Andrew Anderson, superintendent of the St. Paul district, was in Escanaba yesterday making arrangements for the program.

Hermansville Youth Hurt In Accident

Menominee, Feb. 9, (Special) Arthur F. Fletcher, 20, living on his parents' farm near Hermansville, suffered a fracture of the right leg and serious head injury at 7:30 p. m. Thursday when struck while walking along Highway US 2 by a car driven by F. Formalo of Iron Mountain.

Mr. Formalo picked up the injured youth and took him to the Pinecrest Sanatorium, Powers, where he was given first aid treatment and then transferred to St. Francis hospital, Escanaba.

Incomplete reports received by officers indicated that the windshield of the Formalo car was frosted, making vision difficult. The injured youth could not remember what happened.

No Real Suffering In Snowbound Camp

Some discomfort but no real suffering is reported from the 14 piece makers working at the Lynch camp near Little Lake, in the extreme northeast corner of Luce county. This camp has been snowbound since hunting season and reports from the caretakers at Cahalane Lake say that sugar or other sweets and tobacco are about gone and some other items are getting low. There has been talk that Jerry Lynch, lumberman from Sault Ste. Marie, may decide to send in a plane equipped with runners to land on Bodi lake and take in some of the needed supplies. This could not be verified at this time. The Lynch workers are all able-bodied men with the exception of Mrs. Bob Dawson and her two children. The camp is located about a mile and a half from the summer camp of the Lake Superior C. C. C. location where two caretakers are established. Dick Saunderson stated to a Press reporter today that there was no reason that some of the men could not snowshoe the 13 miles to the camp of the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company from where they could take the logging train to Newberry. Needed groceries could be packed in with little trouble either from this camp or from the coast guard station where a large supply of food is always kept. The Lynch group get mail once or twice a week when the dog-team crosses the lake within a short distance of their camp. It is believed that if Mr. Lynch wishes to use a plane it will be entirely a matter of choice and not one of necessity. No illness is reported in the group.

HONOR ROLL

The honor rolls for the third marking period and for the first semester at the Newberry high school show some improvement over similar lists for the year, 55 different students earning a place on this roll call of the best scholarship in the school. The boys continue their bid for equal recognition with the girls, but are still outnumbered, 35 to 20. There are 46 on the marking period list and 49 for the semester. AGED ESCANABA RESIDENT DIES

John Dart, 66, Succumbs To Long Illness on Friday

John Dart, 66, 520 So. 12th street, well known long time resident of Escanaba passed away at a local hospital on Friday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. Mr. Dart had been ill since October of last year and since the first of the year had been a patient in the hospital. Death was due to a number of complications.

Mr. Dart was born February 18, 1868 at Bay Settlement, Wis., and came to Escanaba 46 years ago. During his residence here he was employed by the Escanaba Hardware company for about seventeen years and for 28 years he worked in the boilermaking shop of the C. & N. W. company.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral home to be prepared for burial and will be taken to the home of a daughter, Mrs. A. W. Moberg, 409 So. 18th street on Sunday.

The funeral services will be held from St. Joseph's church of which Mr. Dart was a devout member, on Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock with Rev. Fr. Edward Leary officiating. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery beside his wife who passed away three years ago.

Surviving are four daughters: Mrs. A. W. Moberg, Mrs. W. E. Hart, and Mrs. Thomas Bisson of Escanaba and Miss Lillian Dart of Washington, D. C., and two brothers, Joseph Dart and Gustave Dart of Escanaba.

Luce County Camp Snowbound; Plane May Deliver Food

Newberry, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—Eleven men, a woman and two children are snowbound in a lumber camp in the northeastern part of Luce county, but although the food supply is reported to be running low, no fears are felt for their safety.

They are in a camp owned by Jerry Lynch, Sault Ste. Marie lumberman, and Lynch was reported to be planning to send food to the camp by plane.

Should that plan fail, it was pointed out, food is plentiful in other camps which could be reached by the lumbermen on snowshoes. The snowbound camp is only two miles from the route taken by a man who delivers mail to the coast guard by dog team.

The Lynch camp was reported especially short of sugar.

Wausau Factory Destroyed by Fire

The fire which destroyed the Silbernagel Sash and Door factory of Wausau recently, with a loss of $70,000, was of particular interest here in that George Silbernagel, its proprietor, is a brother-in-law of Frank Nienaber of this city. The night watchman employed at the factory was seriously burned in the fire.

There is half again as much ultra-violet light in the country as in the city.

No Settlement In Menominee Brewery Suit After Parley

Menominee, Feb. 9. (Special)—Hearing of the cross suit of stockholders of the United Beverage company who allege they were deprived of their interest in the local brewery against John Lewitz, trustee-manager of the brewery for four years beginning in 1929, was resumed here in circuit court this morning following failure of a two hour conference to reach a settlement of the issues involved.

The hearing opened Monday afternoon before Judge Frank A. Bell, sitting in chancery. Three federal revenue agents who appeared here when testimony regarding alleged illegal manufacture of real beer at the brewery during the prohibition era was introduced were interested spectators at today's hearing.

The cross plaintiffs, whose number includes more than a score of holders of United Beverage company stock who are not holders of stock of the Menominee-Marinette Brewing company, which took over the local brewery in April, 1933, are nearing the end of their introduction of testimony.

When their case is in, counsel for Mr. Lewitz and the M-M Brewing company probably will move for court action in their favor, quieting title to the local brewery in the name of the trusteeship, which would establish the legality of the transfer of title to the brewery property by the trustee to the Menominee - Marinette Brewing company last spring.

Doyle Called Away, Meeting Cancelled At Iron Mountain

Iron Mountain, Feb. 9 (Special)—Because Senator William Doyle, of Menominee, was called to Evanston, Ill., today on urgent business, the meeting called for tonight at the court house, when Senators Doyle and Ray Derham, Republicans, were to answer charges placed against them by Democratic leaders at Lansing has been indefinitely postponed, Senator Derham said today.

The meeting was arranged presumably as a debate between Senators Doyle and Derham, Republicans, on one side, and Martin Bradley, speaker of the house of representatives; O. K. Fjetland, secretary to Governor Comstock, and Wililam Donnelly, floor leader in the house, Democrats, on the other.

Unable to Attend

Senator Derham had invited these three, by telegram, to participate in tonight's meeting. This morning, however, Derham received a wire from Speaker Bradley to the effect that he, Fjetland and Donnelly are busy at Lansing and would be unable to come here.

Derham and Doyle had planned to reply to charges of obstructionism made by the three Democratic leaders in recent appearances at Menominee, Escanaba and Iron Mountain. After the special session of the legislature which convenes February 19, Derham said, another effort will be made to arrange a debate.

Hermansville Youth Hurt In Accident

Menominee, Feb. 9. (Special)—Arthur F. Fletcher, 20, living on his parents' farm near Hermansville, suffered a fracture of the right leg and serious head injury at 7:30 p. m. Thursday when struck while walking along Highway US-2 by a car driven by F. Formalo of Iron Mountain.

Mr. Formalo picked up the injured youth and took him to the Pinecrest Sanatorium, Powers, where he was given first aid treatment and then transferred to St. Francis hospital, Escanaba.

Incomplete reports received by officers indicated that the windshield of the Formalo car was frosted, making vision difficult. The injured youth could not remember what happened.

Bugle Corps Host At Dance Tonight; Election Tuesday

Getting an early start in their 1934 activities, the Escanaba Legion drum and bugle corps is sponsoring a benefit dance at the Argonne Gardens tonight, with music by the eight Wolverines.

The corps will elect officers at a meeting to be held in the city hall Tuesday night at 7:30, and thereafter will re-issue equipment and instruments and hold regular weekly rehearsals in preparation for a busy summer season of public appearances. A vote will also be taken next Tuesday on holding practice sessions Monday evenings instead of Tuesday. The officers to be elected are a manager, assistant manager, quartermaster, treasurer and historian.

Escanaba Postal Savings Deposits Increased in Year

Postal savings deposits at Escanaba in a year increased from $86,462 to $206,875 and the number of depositors from 99 to 258, according to the annual report on the postal savings just submitted to the Speaker of the House of Representatives by Postmaster General Farley.

In all Michigan the increase in deposits was from $39,563,441 to $75,647,285 and the number of depositors from 60,273 to 139,146.

The figures are for the years 1932 and 1933. There are 263 offices in Michigan accepting postal savings. Deposits in Detroit are the largest in the state. The second largest are at Grand Rapids.

Over Billion on Deposit

Farley reported that postal savings deposits in the United States at the close of the last fiscal year amounted to $1,187,186,208, an increase of $402,365,584 over the amount for the corresponding dates last year.

The growth was comparable with that of the fiscal year 1932, which had an increase of $437,403,753, he said.

The Postmaster-General reported that there were no sectional losses during the year 1933. In fact, hke said, all States—as well as the territory of Alaska and the island possessions—showed increases in the balance to the credit of depositors.

Bring Out Hidden Money

The report also asserted that the "system is functioning as intended by the farmers of the organic act—encouraging thrift and drawing money out of hiding while cooperating with, but staying out of, the business of banking. To have the Postal Savings System coupled with anything in the nature of pure banking and the business of exchange in this transitional period, involving, as it would, greatly increased cost of administration and an inharmonious relation to the President's efforts to put the banking business of the country on its feet, would appear unwise."

Upper Peninsula Pastors To Meet

Pastors of the eastern half of the St. Paul district, Central Northwest Conference of the Swedish Methodist Episcopal churches, will hold a convention in Escanaba April 11 to 15, Rev. Karl J. Hammar announced yesterday.

Rev. Andrew Anderson, superintendent of the St. Paul district, was in Escanaba yesterday making arrangements for the program.

No Real Suffering In Snowbound Camp

Some discomfort but no real suffering is reported from the 14 piece makers working at the Lynch camp near Little Lake, in the extreme northeast corner of Luce county. This camp has been snowbound since hunting season and reports from the caretakers at Cahalane Lake say that sugar or other sweets and tobacco are about gone and some other items are getting low. There has been talk that Jerry Lynch, lumberman from Sault Ste. Marie, may decide to send in a plane equipped with runners to land on Bodi lake and take in some of the needed supplies. This could not be verified at this time. The Lynch workers are all able-bodied men with the exception of Mrs. Bob Dawson and her two children. The camp is located about a mile and a half from the summer camp of the Lake Superior C. C. C. location where two caretakers are established. Dick Saunderson stated to a Press reporter today that there was no reason that some of the men could not snowshoe the 13 miles to the camp of the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company from where they could take the logging train to Newberry. Needed groceries could be packed in with little trouble either from this camp or from the coast guard station where a large supply of food is always kept. The Lynch group get mail once or twice a week when the dog-team crosses the lake within a short distance of their camp. It is believed that if Mr. Lynch wishes to use a plane it will be entirely a matter of choice and not one of necessity. No illness is reported in the group.

HONOR ROLL

The honor rolls for the third marking period and for the first semester at the Newberry high school show some improvement over similar lists for the year, 55 different students earning a place on this roll call of the best scholarship in the school. The boys continue their bid for equal recognition with the girls, but are still outnumbered, 35 to 20. There are 46 on the marking period list and 49 for the semester. The freshmen lead in numbers and the sophomores in percentage of membership.

Third marking period:

AGED ESCANABA RESIDENT DIES

John Dart, 66, Succumbs To Long Illness on Friday

John Dart, 66, 520 So. 12th street, well known long time resident of Escanaba passed away at a local hospital on Friday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. Mr. Dart had been ill since October of last year and since the first of the year had been a patient in the hospital. Death was due to a number of complications.

Mr. Dart was born February 18, 1868 at Bay Settlement, Wis., and came to Escanaba 46 years ago. During his residence here he was employed by the Escanaba Hardware company for about seventeen years and for 28 years he worked in the boilermaking shop of the C. & N. W. company.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral home to be prepared for burial and will be taken to the home of a daughter, Mrs. A. W. Moberg, 409 So. 18th street on Sunday.

The funeral services will be held from St. Joseph's church of which Mr. Dart was a devout member, on Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock with Rev. Fr. Edward Leary officiating. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery beside his wife who passed away three years ago.

Surviving are four daughters: Mrs. A. W. Moberg, Mrs. W. E. Hart, and Mrs. Thomas Bisson of Escanaba and Miss Lillian Dart of Washington, D. C., and two brothers, Joseph Dart and Gustave Dart of Escanaba.

HAVEN'T you noticed that your happiest hours occur on days when you feel your best?

Have more of these happy days. You and all your family. Guard health while you have it. Keep on the sunny side of life.

The greatest enemy of health is common constipation. It may cause loss of appetite and energy. Certainly it kills enthusiasm! Yet it can be banished by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to relieve common constipation. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much pleasanter to eat this delicious ready-to-eat cereal than to take patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

The Fords took a two-game hold on first place in the city basketball league race as a result of Thursday evening's games which saw them administering a 56-26 beating to the Nortons while the Inlands scored an upset by defeating the Browns, 30-27. The Inlands, by virtue of their victory went into a second place tie with the Browns.

In the opening game the Nortons grabbed the lead from the start, but the Fords came back with a rush in the second period to leave the final issue without doubt. By sinking 27 field goals, the Fords established a record for the season. Wassberg, Dugan and Oak, the first two named with 12 points and the latter with 11, lead the attack for the winners. Eldon Norton, however, with seven field goals, was the outstanding scorer of the game.

Starting with an attack that couldn't be denied the Inlands piled up an eight point lead in the first quarter and added another point in the second. The third quarter was played on even terms. A desperate Brown rally in the final stanza was just short of tying the count. Bergman proved to be the star on offense for the Browns while the Inland scoring was fairly well divided.

Remell Collects 265 At Brault's

Vic Remell displaced Malcolm Nelson on the Brault alley honor roll this week when he smashed the maples for a 262 count. Nelson, who held the last position on the roll, had chalked up a 262 game.

Remell started his record breaking game with three spares and then started his ball working into the pocket for eight consecutive strikes. He collected nine pins on his first ball in the final frame.

Miss Maxine LaPonsie, who has been spending several weeks here with relatives, has returned to her home in Iron Mountain. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur LaPonsie and son, James, motored here to accompany her home and remained over the week-end as guests at the home of Mrs. Ida Hollenbeck.

NAHMA NEWS

Nahma—Mrs. Ann Fleming spent the week-end at Marquette where she attended a meeting of school superintendents held in that city.

Charles E. Good returned Monday morning from Chicago where he spent the week-end.

The Nahma Girl Scouts will sell valentines at the clubhouse Friday evening. There will also be a fishing pond and a home-made candy booth. Everyone is invited to attend. The proceeds will be used in the 1934 camp fund.

Miss Nora Fleming spent last week-end as the guest of Mrs. George A. McGereghan at Marquette.

Miss Georgia Zinke was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Jesse Bryson, at Escanaba last week-end.

Mrs. John Sommers is seriously ill at her home here.

H. J. Pettigrew of Oconto, Wis., is spending a few days at Nahma.

Finds Whereabouts Of Brother Thought Dead Since '26 Flood

A silence of eight years was broken this week when John I. Bellaire, local merchant, received word from his brother, Harold Bellaire, who was believed to have met with a fatal accident during the Miami flood of 1926. Harold, an employee of the White Motor Car company, is now residing in Arcadia Park, Dallas, Texas.

Harold's whereabouts became known when he wrote a letter to Levi Miller, president of a bank in Shipsewana, Indiana, where the Bellaires formerly resided, asking for a recommendation in order that he might procure a surety bond necessary for his advancement in the firm's employ.

Mr. Miller, knowing that his family had believed him to be dead, wrote a letter to Harold's sister, Mrs. Mary Fetch, of White Pigeon, Michigan, informing her of the disclosure. John Bellaire was informed of the incident through his sister and immediately wrote to the White company asking for his brother's address. Mr. Bellaire received a short note from his brother this week, but which did not explain his failure for making contact with his family.

Harold Bellaire was believed to have met with misfortune when the body of his companion, identified by a United States army tag, was found at the site of the flood, and no further word was heard from Harold.

The missing man was an instructor in aviation at the Great Lakes training station during the World War and had also been employed as an engineer for an automobile manufacturing firm.

National Scout Week To Be Observed Here

Next Sunday evening the service of the First Baptist church will be held for the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts, Sunday, February 11. Scout week will begin all over the country where Scout troops are organized when a special effort will be made to bring the Scout work before the public.

President Roosevelt, who gives his personal approval to the movement, will speak over a nation-wide hoop-up to the Scouts of the nation tomorrow at 11 a. m. Arrangements have been made for all the Boy Scouts in the city to meet at the Legion cottage tomorrow morning to listen to this address. It is hoped that all the boys of the city will listen to the president's speech.

The Scout movement has gained a new foothold in Manistique and the interest among boys and girls is very keen.

The Scout service will begin at 7:30 p. m. with an interesting program. All Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts are urged to be present and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Coldest Weather in 31 Years Yesterday; 40 Below Recorded

The coldest weather in more than thirty years was recorded here early yesterday morning when the mercury dipped to 40 degrees below zero. The reading was made at 6:30 a. m. at the Cloverland Oil station on River street. Yesterday's sub zero weather equalled the mark recorded here on February 15, 1903.

The usual conservative reading at the county road commission office showed a temperature of 25 degrees below, but even this was lower than any temperature recorded since 1927, the first year records were kept. Through a strange coincidence, the second lowest reading occurred a year ago yesterday when the mercury dropped to 21 below.

Records show that for a ten-day spell, from February 4 to the 14th, 1933, lowest readings never rose above zero.

CITY BRIEFS

Mrs. Barbara Johnson, of Gladstone, arrived here Thursday called by the death of her father, Joseph Weingartner.

William Brain, of Germfask, was a visitor in the city Wednesday.

Lawrence Weingartner is expected to arrive Sunday morning from his home in Saco, Montana, to attend the funeral services of his father, Joseph Weingartner, Sr.

Miss Barbara Hartwig, who has been ill for the past week, has recovered favorably.

Miss Emma Johnson, county nurse, motored to Powers Tuesday to accompany two patients to the Pinecrest Sanitorium.

Among the relatives called here by the death of Joseph Weingartner, Sr., are Mrs. John Schustarich, Mrs. Joseph Weingartner and Mrs. Louis Weingartner of Gladstone; and George Weingartner, of Rock. They visited in the city Thursday, and then returned again yesterday.

Miss Mildred Tidd and Donald Evans, of Munising, were weekend guests at the home of the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Soukup.

The three small children of Mr. and Mrs. Mauritz Nelson are ill at their home, South Third street, with severe colds.

Mrs. Joseph Barr and infant son, Robert Joseph, have returned to their home in Marquette after spending several weeks with Mrs. Barr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hoholik.

Word has been received in the city of the birth of a nine pound daughter, Mary Ellen, to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson, 209 Green street, Flint. Mrs. Johnson was formerly Miss Gertrude Cherneski, of Manistique Heights.

New Ruling Makes All Hog Producers Open to Payments

Regardless of the size of their past hog production average, all hog producers, now may qualify for hog reduction payments by reducing their hog litter average and production of hogs for market by not less than 25 per cent, according to a new ruling by Dr. A. G. Black, chief of the corn-hog section.

In cases where the litter average is less than four, this will mean that the contracting producer will reduce by one litter even though this will constitute more than a 25 per cent reduction from the litter base. In cases where the contracting producer's corn acreage is less than the minimum requirement of 10 acres, he will reduce hog production only and will receive hog reduction payments, but must agree not to increase his corn acreage over his average and he is not eligible to receive corn reduction payments.

A previous ruling specified that if the 1932-33 litter average was less than three, the party signing the contract was not required to reduce hog production in 1934, and in any event was not eligible to receive any hog reduction payment under the contract.

Farmers Interested

The change in ruling was made in consideration of an unexpected interest in the program among farmers producing an average of less than three litters of pigs per year, and to give these farmers an opportunity to share in the proceeds of the processing tax which is to be collected on the slaughtering of all hogs for market, regardless of by whom sold.

At the same time, Dr. Black announced a new regulation exempting farmers from payment of the processing tax on hogs to the extent to which they sell or exchange (per marketing year) 300 pounds of hog products derived from hogs of their own raising which they have butchered, providing that the total volume of hog products so sold or exchanged does not exceed 1,000 pounds per marketing year. When the volume of hog products so sold or exchanged exceeds 1,000 pounds, the producer loses his exemption.

M. H. S. Faculty to Provide Opposition For Varsity Cagers

In an attempt to put a stop to financial losses in recent high school basketball games, male members of the high school faculty, believing themselves to be an attraction worthy of more than ordinary note, will tackle the high school varsity in one of the games of a scheduled twin bill here next Friday evening. The Cooks high school team will provide the opposition for the green and white varsity in the other battle.

Local fans will have an opportunity to see such faculty celebrities as A. F. Hall, R. H. Wilson, Stan Carlyon, Carol Olson, Wayne Martin, John Kelly, and Oscar Wassberg, disport themselves on the floor in the regalia to be displayed by the tutors' squad.

Celebrate Birthdays

Rev. and Mrs. S. T. Bottrell were pleasantly surprised at their home Thursday evening by the official board members of the Methodist church, their husbands and wives, the party being arranged in observance of their birthday anniversaries.

A program of music and readings was presented and Judge W. G. Stephens brought felicitations for the group. An unidentified person called by telephone and sang "Happy Birthday to You."

The remainder of the evening was spent informally and a delightful lunch was served. The table center piece was formed with two birthday cakes.

Rev. and Mrs. Bottrell were the recipients of many useful gifts.

Wedding

Word has been received here of the recent marriage of Miss Martha Cutler, of Dewitt, Mich., to Clarence Day, of East Lansing.

Mrs. Day is the daughter of Kenneth Cutler of this city, and a former resident of Thompson. She attended the local high school until moving to Dewitt two years ago.

Joint Party—The Legionnaires and Auxiliary members are entertaining at a joint party Monday, Feb. 12, in the Legion cottage. Features of the evening will include cards, dancing and refreshments. Each member is invited to ask husband, wife or a guest to the party and each couple is allowed to invite one other couple. Although the party hours begin at 8 o'clock, those who wish to attend the B. and P. W. show may attend the party after the close of the vaudeville.

Scout Notice—All Boy Scouts in the city are urged to meet at the Legion cottage this morning at 11 o'clock to listen to the address of President Roosevelt to the Scouts of the nation.

MOST advertising reaches people. Whether it's always the right kind of people is another story. The Bibulous Bills and Logy Joes who fish through the junk piles may want the goods advertised in some "throw-away"—but their wants don't mean a thing to the cash register.

On the other hand take a newspaper. When a woman reads it she's news-hungry. In the mood to listen, to learn—and if sold then and there—to buy!

Finally, take the Daily Press. Pretty near 8,000 copies a day, full of news, features and advertising, go home—to be read, discussed and decided on at leisure—and acted upon by men and women with money to spend for merchandise that might just as well be yours.

Luce County Camp Snowbound; Plane May Deliver Food

Newberry, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—Eleven men, a woman and two children are snowbound in a lumber camp in the northeastern part of Luce county, but although the food supply is reported to be running low, no fears are felt for their safety.

They are in a camp owned by Jerry Lynch, Sault Ste. Marie lumberman, and Lynch was reported to be planning to send food to the camp by plane.

Should that plan fail, it was pointed out, food is plentiful in other camps which could be reached by the lumbermen on snowshoes. The snowbound camp is only two miles from the route taken by a man who delivers mail to the coast guard by dog team.

The Lynch camp was reported especially short of sugar.

Wausau Factory Destroyed by Fire

The fire which destroyed the Silbernagel Sash and Door factory of Wausau recently, with a loss of $70,000, was of particular interest here in that George Silbernagel, its proprietor, is a brother-in-law of Frank Nienaber of this city. The night watchman employed at the factory was seriously burned in the fire.

There is half again as much ultra-violet light in the country as in the city.

No Settlement In Menominee Brewery Suit After Parley

Menominee, Feb. 9. (Special)—Hearing of the cross suit of stockholders of the United Beverage company who allege they were deprived of their interest in the local brewery against John Lewitz, trustee-manager of the brewery for four years beginning in 1929, was resumed here in circuit court this morning following failure of a two hour conference to reach a settlement of the issues involved.

The hearing opened Monday afternoon before Judge Frank A. Bell, sitting in chancery. Three federal revenue agents who appeared here when testimony regarding alleged illegal manufacture of real beer at the brewery during the prohibition era was introduced were interested spectators at today's hearing.

The cross plaintiffs, whose number includes more than a score of holders of United Beverage company stock who are not holders of stock of the Menominee-Marinette Brewing company, which took over the local brewery in April, 1933, are nearing the end of their introduction of testimony.

When their case is in, counsel for Mr. Lewitz and the M-M Brewing company probably will move for court action in their favor, quieting title to the local brewery in the name of the trusteeship, which would establish the legality of the transfer of title to the brewery property by the trustee to the Menominee - Marinette Brewing company last spring.

Doyle Called Away, Meeting Cancelled At Iron Mountain

Iron Mountain, Feb. 9 (Special)—Because Senator William Doyle, of Menominee, was called to Evanston, Ill., today on urgent business, the meeting called for tonight at the court house, when Senators Doyle and Ray Derham, Republicans, were to answer charges placed against them by Democratic leaders at Lansing has been indefinitely postponed, Senator Derham said today.

The meeting was arranged presumably as a debate between Senators Doyle and Derham, Republicans, on one side, and Martin Bradley, speaker of the house of representatives; O. K. Fjetland, secretary to Governor Comstock, and Wililam Donnelly, floor leader in the house, Democrats, on the other.

Unable to Attend

Senator Derham had invited these three, by telegram, to participate in tonight's meeting. This morning, however, Derham received a wire from Speaker Bradley to the effect that he, Fjetland and Donnelly are busy at Lansing and would be unable to come here.

Derham and Doyle had planned to reply to charges of obstructionism made by the three Democratic leaders in recent appearances at Menominee, Escanaba and Iron Mountain. After the special session of the legislature which convenes February 19, Derham said, another effort will be made to arrange a debate.

Hermansville Youth Hurt In Accident

Menominee, Feb. 9, (Special)—Arthur F. Fletcher, 20, living on his parents' farm near Hermansville, suffered a fracture of the right leg and serious head injury at 7:30 p. m. Thursday when struck while walking along Highway US-2 by a car driven by F. Formalo of Iron Mountain.

Mr. Formalo picked up the injured youth and took him to the Pinecrest Sanatorium, Powers, where he was given first aid treatment and then transferred to St. Francis hospital, Escanaba.

Incomplete reports received by officers indicated that the windshield of the Formalo car was frosted, making vision difficult. The injured youth could not remember what happen-

Bugle Corps Host At Dance Tonight; Election Tuesday

Getting an early start in their 1934 activities, the Escanaba Legion drum and bugle corps is sponsoring a benefit dance at the Argonne Gardens tonight, with music by the eight Wolverines.

The corps will elect officers at a meeting to be held in the city hall Tuesday night at 7:30, and thereafter will re-issue equipment and instruments and hold regular weekly rehearsals in preparation for a busy summer season of public appearances. A vote will also be taken next Tuesday on holding practice sessions Monday evenings instead of Tuesday. The officers to be elected are a manager, assistant manager, quartermaster, treasurer and historian.

Escanaba Postal Savings Deposits Increased in Year

Postal savings deposits at Escanaba in a year increased from $86,462 to $206,875 and the number of depositors from 99 to 258, according to the annual report on the postal savings just submitted to the Speaker of the House of Representatives by Postmaster General Farley.

In all Michigan the increase in deposits was from $39,563,441 to $75,647,285 and the number of depositors from 60,273 to 139,146.

The figures are for the years 1932 and 1933. There are 263 offices in Michigan accepting postal savings. Deposits in Detroit are the largest in the state. The second largest are at Grand Rapids.

Over Billion on Deposit

Farley reported that postal savings deposits in the United States at the close of the last fiscal year amounted to $1,187,186,208, an increase of $402,365,584 over the amount for the corresponding dates last year.

The growth was comparable with that of the fiscal year 1932, which had an increase of $437,403,753, he said.

The Postmaster-General reported that there were no sectional losses during the year 1933. In fact, hke said, all States—as well as the territory of Alaska and the island possessions—showed increases in the balance to the credit of depositors.

Bring Out Hidden Money

The report also asserted that the "system is functioning as intended by the farmers of the organic act—encouraging thrift and drawing money out of hiding while cooperating with, but staying out of, the business of banking. To have the Postal Savings System coupled with anything in the nature of pure banking and the business of exchange in this transitional period, involving, as it would, greatly increased cost of administration and an inharmonious relation to the President's efforts to put the banking business of the country on its feet, would appear unwise."

Upper Peninsula Pastors To Meet

Pastors of the eastern half of the St. Paul district, Central Northwest Conference of the Swedish Methodist Episcopal churches, will hold a convention in Escanaba April 11 to 15, Rev. Karl J. Hammar announced yesterday.

Rev. Andrew Anderson, superintendent of the St. Paul district, was in Escanaba yesterday making arrangements for the program.

No Real Suffering In Snowbound Camp

Some discomfort but no real suffering is reported from the 14 piece makers working at the Lynch camp near Little Lake, in the extreme northeast corner of Luce county. This camp has been snowbound since hunting season and reports from the caretakers at Cahalane Lake say that sugar or other sweets and tobacco are about gone and some other items are getting low. There has been talk that Jerry Lynch, lumberman from Sault Ste. Marie, may decide to send in a plane equipped with runners to land on Bodi lake and take in some of the needed supplies. This could not be verified at this time. The Lynch workers are all able-bodied men with the exception of Mrs. Bob Dawson and her two children. The camp is located about a mile and a half from the summer camp of the Lake Superior C. C. C. location where two caretakers are established. Dick Saunderson stated to a Press reporter today that there was no reason that some of the men could not snowshoe the 13 miles to the camp of the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company from where they could take the logging train to Newberry. Needed groceries could be packed in with little trouble either from this camp or from the coast guard station where a large supply of food is always kept. The Lynch group get mail once or twice a week when the dog-team crosses the lake within a short distance of their camp. It is believed that if Mr. Lynch wishes to use a plane it will be entirely a matter of choice and not one of necessity. No illness is reported in the group.

HONOR ROLL

The honor rolls for the third marking period and for the first semester at the Newberry high school show some improvement over similar lists for the year, 55 different students earning a place on this roll call of the best scholarship in the school. The boys continue their bid for equal recognition with the girls, but are still outnumbered, 35 to 20. There are 46 on the marking period list and 49 for the semester. The freshmen lead in numbers and the sophomores in percentage of membership.

Third marking period:

Credit Production Association Formed

Iron Mountain, Feb. 9 — John Danielson, of Loretto, has been named Dickinson county member of the board of directors for the L'Anse Credit Production association organized at a meeting held in L'Anse. D. L. Weber, of Amasa, in Iron county, was named president; W. L. Anderson, Ironwood, vice president, and A. C. Olson, Baraga, secretary and treasurer.

With Danielson on the board are Weber, Anderson, Verner F. Westron of Skanee; Richard Francis, of Ontonagon; Amos C. Pershari, of Houghton, and A. J. Menhennick, of Marquette.

There are 18 Production Credit associations in Michigan, two of which are in the upper peninsula. The other was recently established at Manistique to handle the seven counties in the eastern section. Isaac Pawley, of Doyle township, Schoolcraft county, was elected head of the Manistique organization. Other officers are: Harold F. Gustafson, Ensign, vice president, and Mary A. Barkovich, Manistique, secretary and treasurer. William E. Smith, Trenary; Albert Kipfer, Stephenson, and John Bergsma, of Rudyard, are members of the board of directors.

AGED ESCANABA RESIDENT DIES

John Dart, 66, Succumbs To Long Illness on Friday

John Dart, 66, 520 So. 12th street, well known long time resident of Escanaba passed away at a local hospital on Friday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. Mr. Dart had been ill since October of last year and since the first of the year had been a patient in the hospital. Death was due to a number of complications.

Mr. Dart was born February 18, 1868 at Bay Settlement, Wis., and came to Escanaba 46 years ago. During his residence here he was employed by the Escanaba Hardware company for about seventeen years and for 28 years he worked in the boilermaking shop of the C. & N. W. company.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral home to be prepared for burial and will be taken to the home of a daughter, Mrs. A. W. Moberg, 409 So. 18th street on Sunday.

The funeral services will be held from St. Joseph's church of which Mr. Dart was a devout member, on Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock with Rev. Fr. Edward Leary officiating. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery beside his wife who passed away three years ago.

Surviving are four daughters: Mrs. A. W. Moberg, Mrs. W. E. Hart, and Mrs. Thomas Bisson of Escanaba and Miss Lillian Dart of Washington, D. C., and two brothers, Joseph Dart and Gustave Dart of Escanaba.
